Snowden Announces Cut in Dole.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Great Britain heard the bad news today. Like the young heir who has dissipated the family fortune in riotous living and has piled up mortgages on the old estate until the money lenders swarmed, she now must come down to earth and listen to the man of business tell her how and how much she must economize.

PHILIP SNOWDEN.
[Ame Photo.]

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, played the part of the man of business and parliament the rôle of the young heir. Members of parliament were forced to listen to a damning indictment of waste and lack of foresight. They were bluntly told expenditures must stop and economies begin.

House Packed to Rafters.

The house of commons was again packed to the rafters. The galleries again were filled with diplomats, peers, and distinguished visitors. Again it was a strangely subdued house.

Prime Minister MacDonald, "the man without a party"; Stanley Baldwin, Conservative, and Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal, triple leaders of the emergency national government, sat on the treasury bench. Opposite them crowded the opposition, the Laborites, headed by Arthur Henderson, former foreign minister, who had hurried back from the trades union congress at Bristol to hear Chancellor Snowden.

Mr. Snowden, paler and frailer than ever, received a friendly cheer, in which even the Laborites joined, when he arose to reveal the supplementary budget. He showed signs of his recent illness and leaned heavily on a table. Mr. MacDonald sat beside him, watching him closely.

Snowden's Last Budget.

It was Mr. Snowden's fourth and last budget. He has announced he will retire as soon as the national government's task is completed. He began his speech by drawing a gloomy picture of British finances. He recalled that when he opened the budget last April he "raided various hen roosts," meaning that he had taken funds from various accounts, something which could not be repeated. He admitted he had been too optimistic over the revival of trade and declared that, although he is hopeful now, he intended to proceed as if no improvement is likely.

He referred to the Hoover moratorium as one of the factors which upset his calculations, insisting that Britain lost much more than she gained by this operation.

He also declared that "the time for borrowing for the unemployment fund has ended," and that unemployment costs must be borne by general taxes.

Budget Deficit 850 Millions.

The anticipated budget deficit for 1931-1932 was $600,000,000. But the difference between the $600,000,000 and the actual deficit of $850,000,000 resulted from facing the facts in the social insurance situation the Hoover moratorium "losses," and other items.

Increases from direct and indirect taxation for the current year, which ends March 31, will provide $202,500,000 in new revenue and $407,500,000 for the full year 1931-'32.

Drastic economies will accompany the new burdens of taxation. Effective Oct. 1, these economies will total $70,000,000 for this year and $350,000,000 during the full year, 1931-'32.

Finds Taxation a Solution.

By means of a 10 per cent cut in unemployment insurance rates, there will be a saving next year of $129,000,000, and by an increase in premiums there will be an addition of $50,000,000 in the insurance fund, thereby effecting a total annual economy in this one feature of British social service of $179,000,000.

The chancellor announced that after all possible economies have been effected there would still be a deficit of $370,000,000 this year and $400,000,000 next year.

"We have to find most of this by additional taxation," he cried.

Investors, he said, sixpence a

Act to Cut Realty Tax $90,000,000

INCOME, LUXURY LEVIES OFFERED AS SUBSTITUTE

Governor's Board Agrees on Plan.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission decided last night—after four executive discussions of the subject—that there must be a big cut in real estate taxes. On that policy there was unanimous agreement and final decision.

The size of the reduction at which the commission is aiming is $90,000,000. On the 1929 tax bill that is the equivalent of 44.4 per cent of the real estate taxes levied in Cook county.

Some members of the commission advocated a still larger decrease, while others argued that it is impracticable to obtain more for real estate and perhaps a smaller reduction will be necessary, especially in periods of business depression, such as the present.

New Taxes to Supply Revenue.

The saving to real estate, according to the present plan, is to be balanced by collections of taxes on incomes and sales taxes on luxuries and nonessentials. As to what articles shall be classed as luxuries and nonessentials for this tax program there still remained some differences of opinion among the members of the commission when their session adjourned at the Union League club last night.

The overwhelming majority of the commission, however, is opposed to an income tax which would be "just another tax." They will recommend it as an offset for real estate taxes. They would also deduct from real estate's burden the revenue received from taxes on luxuries and nonessentials. It is by this process they have planned to reduce real estate taxes $90,000,000.

Believe Plan Is Legal.

The commission has thrashed over the question of the legislature's power to impose an income tax as a substitute or offset for real estate taxes, and believes that the plan it proposes will be constitutional. But if the state Supreme court takes an adverse view, it is proposed to have a clause in the law which will make the entire statute on the subject invalid.

The plan is the most sweeping tax reform, according to one of the commission members, which has been attempted in Illinois in the last 30 years. The commission will attempt to justify its program on several grounds.

Seek Fair Deal for Realty.

The first of these is the matter of equity and fairness. The commission is certain that real estate is now called upon to bear an unreasonably heavy share of the tax burden.

Another reason advanced before the commission for the adoption of the plan is that the local governments must have cash with which to perform essential functions.

A third reason given is that the public has got out of the habit of paying taxes and that the old custom must be reëstablished.

As a fourth reason it was asserted that the plan will aid in ending the depression by making real estate more marketable and encouraging building.

Discuss Politicians' Attitude.

Some time in the long session last night was taken up with a discussion of the probable attitude of the politicians toward the plan. It was suggested that in several particulars the plan will not be pleasing to certain groups of politicians, but the commission decided to go ahead with it in the hope that public support will be sufficient to overcome whatever sniping the politicians may do.

It was remarked that the men who control politics have "not suggested anything better nor as good for the public generally."

From Friend of Governor.

Without saying it, he is reported to have conveyed the impression that the governor is anxious that the commission determine the best course and recommend it soon. The plan has been discussed at previous sessions and it is assumed that the governor has been informed of the general trend of the commission conversations.

In his statement Mr. Custer argued that the commission should recommend a substantial cut in the cost

FIRE AND BLAST WRECK FACTORY IN CALUMET CITY

Fire followed by eight or ten explosions early this morning destroyed the paint factory of the D. G. Chemical company in Calumet City, with a loss estimated at upward of $100,000. The plant, originally built in war time for the making of chemicals for the government, has recently been operated as a refinery, where old paint is treated and resold to the trade.

The blasts were terrific and were heard over a large area. Three paint stills, one valued at $50,000, and the other two smaller, were blown up. The flames, starting in the engine room, spread to the warehouse and the storeroom, which were destroyed. The office building was not damaged. Frank Miley and his brother, Edward, were in the engine room when the fire started, but it got beyond their control and they summoned the Calumet City fire department. Then the explosions began, and Hammond was called upon for help. It sent four companies of firemen. The principal owner of the plant is Dr. H. C. Groman of Hammond. No one was injured.

FLAT OF GARAGE LABOR EXCHANGE OWNER BOMBED

Occupants of twenty-six apartments at 6703 Greenview avenue were jarred early this morning by a black powder bomb which was exploded at a second floor rear landing.

The blast wrecked the landing and blew in the door of the apartment of Harry Marcus, doing $500 damage. Marcus, his wife, Rhea; their child, Bertram, 3 years old, and the maid, Margaret Twadell, were shaken but not hurt. Marcus is the owner of the Chicago Garage Owners exchange, 309 South La Salle street, which supplies nonunion labor to garages.

JERREMS HOME LOOTED OF $2,000, POLICE ARE TOLD

Hudson avenue police were notified yesterday of the ransacking of the home of Mrs. Rosalind Jerrems, 1541 Astor street, widow of Donald E. Jerrems, merchant tailor. The burglary was committed some time between January and July while the family was away. A landscape painting by Aldrich, valued at $700; a clock worth $200, silverware amounting to $600, and miscellaneous articles valued at $1,000 were taken.

Miss Muriel McCormick Is Wed in Maine

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Miss Muriel McCormick of Chicago was married at 12:30 p. m. today to Maj. Elisha Dyer Hubbard of Middletown, Conn., at Deep Cove, the summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock of Chicago, by the Rev. William E. Patterson, rector of St. Saviour's Episcopal church of Bar Harbor. The ceremony was extremely simple. The only witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. McKinlock.

There were no attendants at the wedding, which took place under a spreading ash tree on the lawn overlooking Western bay. Between two baskets of lilies was a kneeling cushion covered by a red and blue Spanish shawl with green fringe.

No Guests at Luncheon.

After luncheon at Deep Cove, at which there were no guests, Maj. and Mrs. Hubbard departed for Maj. Hubbard's cottage, a mile distant on the shore, where they expect to pass several days.

Reporters were barred from the garden, but about ten minutes before the ceremony Mrs. McKinlock received several press representatives, to whom she gave the following statement:

"Mr. Harold F. McCormick announces the marriage of his daughter, Muriel, to Mr. Elisha Dyer Hubbard of Middletown, Conn., at the residence of her godparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Deep Cove, Mount Desert, Me., Sept. 10, 1931."

Secrecy Precedes Wedding.

Extreme secrecy was maintained in obtaining the wedding license, which was not filed until after 11 o'clock this morning.

Miss McCormick has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. McKinlock for several years. On the marriage license the bride gave her age as 29 and the bridegroom gave his age as 55 and his occupation as farmer.

Announcement of the engagement of the couple was made only yesterday in Chicago by Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, mother of the bride.

To Live on Hubbard's Estate.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Maj. Hubbard today sent word to his relatives here that he expects to bring his bride to reside on his estate, Lone Tree farm, in the west end of the city. His immediate honeymoon plans were not announced. He announced his marriage today in messages sent to several friends in this city.

He is a brother of E. Kent Hubbard, president of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, and of Louis De Koven Hubbard. His sister, Mrs. Clarence S. Wadsworth, also resides here.

Maj. Hubbard was a member of the staff of former Gov. John H. Trumbull and during the world war served eighteen months overseas with the Yale mobile hospital unit, which went to France at the beginning of the war.

Troops Called in Arkansas Church Fight

Jonesboro, Ark., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Seventy-five members of the Arkansas National Guard patrolled the streets of Jonesboro tonight, to assist civil authorities, if necessary, in maintaining order in a factional fight among members of the First Baptist church.

GOV. HARVEY PARNELL.

Martial law for the city was asked by city and county officials, but was not authorized by Gov. Harvey Parnell, following a clash between followers of the Rev. Joe Jeffers, an evangelist, and city officials at the city hall today. The troops were ordered to do only patrol duty and to assist civil authorities if they were needed.

Arrest 3 After Church Fight.

Mr. Jeffers and his followers went to the city hall to protest to Mayor H. J. Bosler the arrest on assault and battery charges of three of their number, after a fight at the First Baptist church last night.

The mayor, as well as Chief of Police Craig, were manhandled by Jeffers' followers, who gathered on the city hall lawn today for a prayer meeting which Jeffers sought to hold while waiting for the trial of his followers to begin. The trial was postponed until Saturday.

Mayor Bosler refused permission for the service, but granted Jeffers' request for a "moment of prayer." Police said the evangelist then launched into a lengthy supplication, in which he prayed that a bolt of lightning strike the mayor dead for interfering with the services.

Throws Mayor to Ground.

Bosler then interrupted him and ordered that he lead his followers from the city hall lawn. A Jeffers follower sprang at the mayor and threw him to the ground. When Chief of Police Craig pulled him away he sprang at the officer also and was subdued only when a policeman threatened to strike him with the butt of a revolver.

The disorder at the city hall was the outgrowth of an attack on the character of Dr. D. H. Heard, pastor of the church, by Jeffers, and resultant feeling among the church members, some of whom attended revival services being conducted by Jeffers in a tent here. Jeffers is leading a fight for the ouster of Dr. Heard as pastor.

Twenty-one members of the Jeffers faction were dismissed members of the First Baptist church, who aligned themselves with the evangelist after he had assailed in his revival tent the character of Dr. Heard. A charge of misconduct made against Dr. Heard by Mr. Jeffers during his revival meeting was declared without foundation by two members who investigated the pastor's past life in a Texas City.

Guardsmen at Revival Tent.

The National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets were stationed around the huge tent tabernacle three blocks from Main street tonight as Jeffers launched into a sermon in which he said, "Everything done here tonight will be to the glory of God."

More than 5,000 persons jammed the tent to overflowing and many hundreds were unable to get near the entrance. Jeffers received an ovation as he entered and mounted the platform.

As he silenced the applause with a gesture Jeffers said:

"We are gathered here tonight to worship God, and whatever we do will be to the glory of God. I want this meeting to be peaceable."

PIRATES MURDER RICH HUSBAND, WIFE ASSERTS

Tells Weird Story of Long Island Sound.

BULLETIN.

New York, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Collings, bordering on a nervous breakdown, was taken early tonight to a private residence in Syosset and placed in the care of a physician and a nurse. At the same time Police Inspector Harold R. King left for a cruise in search of the canoe used by the raiders and to question a man living in Northport. The searchers returned later tonight and would not discuss their cruise.

Beneath the floor board of the Penguin was found a diary kept by Mrs. Collings and which, according to Inspector King, contained the names of several men. Inspector King said he was satisfied with his progress in the investigation and hoped to "break the case" within twenty-four hours.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A story of piracy, abduction, criminal assault, and possible murder on the prosaic waters of Long Island sound within shouting distance of the fashionable homes that dots its shores, stirred police of two states into swift action today.

A wealthy young yachtsman, his unusually beautiful wife, a 5 year old daughter, and the 28 foot cabin cruiser Penguin provided the characters and setting for the sea melodrama.

A midnight attack by two gunmen bearing another wounded gangster, the subsequent trussing and dumping overboard of the master of the yacht, the abduction of the wife, the abandonment of the baby on the Penguin, and a perilous crossing of fifteen miles from Stamford, Conn., to Oyster Bay, L. I., in a canoe, during which passage an elderly gangster raped the yachtsman's kidnaped wife, provided the action.

Hunt for Vanished Yachtsman.

Such was the whirligig of evidence the authorities had to work with tonight while dozens of boats were combing the sound in an unsuccessful search for the body of the vanished yachtsman.

The police have found many discrepancies and are not satisfied with the stories told, although some points of the almost incredible narrative have been substantiated.

Baby Adds Her Story.

Barbara, the little daughter, confirmed one of her mother's statements. Mrs. Collings, the former Lillian Chelius of Boston and Smith college, has maintained all along that her husband was thrown overboard and drowned. The child was asleep most of the time, but recalls that "there was a fight and I think they put daddy in the water."

While boatmen were dredging Cove Neck bay for Collings' body tonight the police continued questioning Mrs. Collings, in an effort to make the bits of the bizarre jigsaw fit. The Penguin, its cabin blood stained and showing marks of a struggle, its cockpit filled with broken bottles [milk bottles, the police say], was towed across the sound to Syosset from Stamford, where it had been brought before dawn.

Fishermen Find Penguin.

The first clew that piracy and violence had disturbed the calm of Long Island sound came at 2:30 a. m., when a fishing party made up of members of the New Rochelle Yacht club came upon the Penguin wallowing in the trough of the sea, with no one at the helm and not a light showing. The fishermen were N. L. Noteman, E. N. Knapp, and Harold T. Birnie, accompanied by the Noteman butler, George Dewalt. They were aboard the yacht Valentina.

Noteman hailed the drifting yacht and a moment later heard a splashing in the water such as a swimmer might make. Then he heard a faint cry for help, he told detectives. Others in the party thought they saw a dim shape like that of a man plunging into the water.

"We felt there was something wrong as soon as we saw the Penguin," said Mr. Noteman. "I am sure we saw and heard a man in the water and I can't understand why he did not head for the Valentine unless he was exhausted."

Mr. Noteman and the servant went out in a small boat and searched for the man, but sounds had ceased, then they drew alongside the Penguin in the darkness and shouted for the captain. Finally Barbara, who had been asleep in her bunk, came to the deck in her night clothes.

"I'm not the captain. I'm Barbara," she piped in a matter of fact tone.

Noteman went aboard and after a brief inspection of the yacht, during which Barbara admonished him for striking a match and told him, "Daddy says never to do that," took the child back to the Valentine and towed the Penguin to Stamford, where Barbara and the boat were turned over to the police.

Find the Wife.

Two hours later, across the sound, Capt. Harold Howard left his home in Oyster Bay and set out for his boat. Day was just breaking. He was on the water when he heard a woman screaming for help. Looking about he spied Mrs. Collings standing in an open motor boat anchored 100 yards off shore. The boat was the Bo-Peep, owned by an Oyster Bay resident of high character.

Mrs. Collings was not bound, Capt. Howard said. Two blankets were crumpled beside her. One bore the name of "St. Charles Hotel, N. Y." The other was unmarked. The woman told him a pair of pirates had boarded the Penguin, held her and her child prisoners, while they bound, beat and drowned her husband.

Capt. Howard called the Glen Cove police and then notified Nassau county detectives. Mrs. Collings was taken to police headquarters in Syosset and that became the center of the investigation with detectives from Stamford, and Nassau and Suffolk counties taking part, as it was not known exactly where the series of misadventures took place.

Hysterical at First.

From late forenoon on through the day and into the night detectives questioned Mrs. Collings. At first she was hysterical; then upon learning her daughter was safe became calmer.

She was permitted to talk by telephone with her home. Dr. H. P. Collings of Hot Springs, Ark., her father-in-law, who was spending the summer with his son, answered the call. The conversation appeared to give her further courage and she began to answer questions.

It developed, according to the police, that the Collings spent most of their summers on the Penguin. The young yachtsman had made enough money in Wall street to retire early. He was a student of scientific subjects, an inventor who never sought to patent his inventions. Collings had been an honor student in Sheffield institute at Yale and had a post graduate degree in engineering from Dartmouth. He was planning a trip to Florida to study vegetation and life beneath the surface of the water this fall.

The Wife's Story.

The story of the incidents aboard the yacht was incoherent in spots, according to the police, and there were many discrepancies. Some of the flaws, the police said, might be the result of hysteria following a night of harrowing experiences.

This was the wife's account, as pieced together by the detectives:

Barbara had been put to bed in her bunk in the cabin and the Collings sat on deck to escape the heat. The couple talked for an hour or so and some time before midnight Mrs. Collings went below. Her husband remained for a final smoke. Mrs. Collings had been in the cabin about ten minutes when she heard the voices of two other men. She peeped through a hatchway and saw a man of about 30 and a youth of 18.

"We have a wounded man in our launch," she heard the older man say. "We have to get him to West Norwalk, Conn. You must take us there."

Mrs. Collings said her husband refused, explaining that the Penguin was not equipped with running lights and that he never cruised after dark. "Get some one else," she said Collings told them.

Intruders Grow Angry.

Then the voices of the intruders grew angry. There was a fierce argument, in which Collings also lost his temper. One of the invaders cried out that he would shoot Collings if he did not obey him. The other sought to hire the yacht, offering Collings $100 for the midnight trip across the sound. The Penguin at the time was anchored in Price's bend, off Northport, Long Island.

In her earlier version Mrs. Collings at this point said she returned to the cabin. Later she said she had tried to leave the cabin to go to her husband's aid, but that the door had been locked from the outside. She said she heard the wounded man speak, but did not see him at any time.

Finally the woman ceased banging on the cabin door and flung herself across the bunk, first hiding her two diamond rings in one of the baby's slippers. Mrs. Collings did not reveal the secreting of her jewelry until detectives found the rings after a search of the yacht.

Hears Engine Start.

About thirty minutes after the men boarded the yacht, she said, she heard the engine start. It ran for an hour and then she heard one of the men cry:

"This is not Norwalk, it's Stamford."

Then, according to the wife, there was a terrific fight on the deck. She heard blows, curses, and the tramp of feet as the men scuffled. There was the crash of breaking glass and a body fell heavily to the deck.

"Don't tie him too tight," warned a voice.

Mrs. Collings thought it was the younger of the two gangsters speaking. There was an interval of terrifying silence and then a loud splash. Mrs. Collings screamed.

"I knew they had thrown Ben overboard," she told the detectives later.

Some time afterwards, Mrs. Collings does not remember how long, her door was unlocked and the older gunman, a paunchy unshaven individual, told the wife to come out and that she would not be harmed.

Flings Mattress Overboard.

Mrs. Collings said she ran out and picked up a pneumantic rubber mattress and tried to throw it overboard. In one account she was quoted as saying she intended leaping overboard and using the mattress as a life raft. In another version she was credited with tossing the mattress toward the water in hope of saving her husband's life.

This afternoon a rubber mattress was found in the tender tied to the Penguin.

It was pitch dark when Mrs. Collings came out of the cabin and she could barely see the men. The surface of the water was not visible. She says they told her to get into their canoe and that she stepped from the deck of the Penguin into the canoe. Detectives pointed out to her that the distance from the deck of the yacht to the seat of a canoe was more than a yard—a dangerous step at sea in the dark. Nevertheless, Mrs. Collings insisted she got into the canoe just that way.

Exit Wounded Man.

The woman wrapped herself in a blanket and the men rowed her 9 miles across the sound to Oyster bay. What had happened to the wounded man was not explained. Whether there were three or four, or only two, in the canoe was not brought out in the questioning, so far as police revealed.

On the way across the elder of the gangsters attacked her, Mrs. Collings told the detectives.

The motor boat in which she was placed was an anchored one. The police refused to divulge the owner's name because of his high reputation. They said the boat was chosen at random from a score of others. Whether Mrs. Collings fainted or slept, she does not recall. She only knows that it was daylight before she remembered anything and that then she screamed for help.

The little daughter and the yachtsmen who found her were questioned in Stamford. The yachtsmen's story has been told. The little girl had slept through most of the night's events, but appeared to realize something dreadful had happened to her father and that there had been a fight.

The detectives said Mrs. Collings declared she and her husband were happy and had not quarreled. Neither of them ever drank, she said, and there was no liquor on the boat. She said late tonight she had not seen the wounded man in the canoe during the trip across the sound.

The detectives said one important variation in Mrs. Collings stories was whether or not she had remained in the cabin throughout the entire period of the argument on the deck or whether she tried to help her husband and was driven back into the cabin.

They are of the opinion she was mistaken in believing the men rowed her across Long Island sound in a canoe. It was remarked that a canoe is a dangerous craft in which to cross nine miles of even comparatively calm water in the dark and that any kind of struggle in such a craft would make the adventure trebly hazardous.

Made No Resistance.

They also remarked that Mrs. Collings apparently had made no resistance when taken from the yacht to the canoe, leaving her baby daughter behind. There might be the excuse of emotional stress and fear for her life, however, it was explained.

The Collings made their home in Hillcrest Park, a fashionable suburb of Stamford. A brother, Herbert S. Collings, lives next door and another brother, Robert S. Collings, lives in New Haven.

Dr. Collings, the father, said the young couple were happy together and devoted to one another and the child. He said they spent a great deal of time cruising in the yacht.

Collings served in the ordnance department during the world war and was discharged as a lieutenant. For a time he was connected with the Griscom-Russell company of New York, but left active work to live on the income of investments he had made in Wall street.

Grandfather Bank President.

His grandfather, for whom he was named, was the late Benjamin P. Snyder, at the time of his death president of the National Savings and Trust company of Washington, D. C.

Collings met his present wife through his sister, Miss Helen Collings, when the two were classmates at Smith college. She was the former Lillian Pauline Chelius, daughter of Herman P. Chelius, one time owner of the Boston Consevatory of Music and a resident of Dorchester. They were married seven years ago, few days after Miss Chelius was graduated from Smith college.

MAYOR LAUNCHES FIGHT TO CLOSE UP TAXI DANCES

Opens Fire on Writs Preventing Raids.

Progress in a fight against vice in Chicago and plans for a continuance of the campaign were described yesterday by Mayor Cermak and Capt. Martin E. Mullen, police veteran, who has been assigned to suppress gambling.

Action followed the mayor's orders last night when three taxi dance halls, the Floridian at 674 West Madison street, the Paris at 2418 West Madison street, and another at Clark and Erie streets, were visited by Lieut. Timothy McGrath, who stationed men at each place to see that they were not permitted to remain open.

Wants Injunctions Dissolved.

The mayor said during the afternoon that he had received numerous complaints that the taxi dance halls often permitted women in too scanty costumes to dance.

"Some of the proprietors," he added, "have injunctions preventing police interference. Others have neither licenses nor injunctions and are unmolested by the district commanders. I want the city law department to take the necessary action to dissolve the injunctions and the captains of police districts must explain what they are doing to stamp out objectionable places."

The injunction matter was brought clearly to public attention on Wednesday when police from the state's attorney's office raided Frank Pope's gambling house at 514 Diversey parkway and carried out their work in spite of the prohibition placed on such action by Judge Burke of the Criminal court. Pope and sixty-one patrons, arraigned before Judge Samuel Trude in Town Hall court yesterday, were granted continuances to Sept. 15 and freed on bonds.

Mullen Tells of Progress.

Capt. Mullen took over the anti-gambling work only a week ago.

"I make my headquarters out here in the Pekin inn district," he explained, "because this is where the policy games used to operate most freely. They're not here now—or at least they are not running in the open. It is the same with the handbook joints. We've forced what gambling there is under cover, and I am going to see that it stays under cover.

"My plan is to raid every place that can be found operating. We won't get many of the patrons actually gambling. But each time we make a raid we'll chop up the gambling paraphernalia with axes and make the proprietors sick of the expense of doing business."

Takes Up Police Matters.

Mayor Cermak also took personal cognizance of police affairs in two other instances yesterday. He demanded of Acting Commissioner Alcock an explanation of the delay Wednesday night in starting a search for the robber who held up T. J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district, and he took steps to find out the original and maintenance costs of new flivvers for the touring squads.

Commissioner Alcock passed the Bowler robbery into the lap of Capt. Ira McDowell of the Irving Park station. To the captain he sent a message stating that it was reported to him that it required the police twenty-five minutes to get to the Bowler home at 6101 Warwick avenue, after being notified, and that it was a full hour before the occurrence was broadcast on the radio.

Capt. McDowell was instructed to have his report on the matter in the commissioner's hands early this morning.

Although the police flivvers, 100 of them, were purchased only two years ago, the mayor announced a belief that it would be uneconomical to operate them longer.

"They cost originally $51,000," he said. "Operation and maintenance of them for two years cost $185,330. No business man would keep them in a commercial fleet as they are now."

He found that each car averaged for two years $911 for gas and oil, $755 for repairs and service, and $186 for tires and inner tubes. The average was eleven miles to a gallon of gasoline.

The civil service commission yesterday ordered the discharge of two policemen charged with intoxication.

OPERATION ON BRAIN MAY END CRIMINAL BENT OF EX-ATHLETE

Massillon, O., Sept. 10. — (AP) — Howard Buck, 30, Akron, who several days ago submitted to a brain operation in the hope it would correct his alleged criminal tendencies evidenced during lapses of memory, was recovering tonight.

Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, superintendent of the Massillon State hospital, and surgeons who performed the operation at Buck's request, may have corrected the irregularities in Buck's life.

Officials said his criminal tendencies, evidenced by two forgery arrests, were not observed until after he suffered a skull fracture while said to be playing football for the University of Chicago in 1922.

Second Operation on Buck.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10.—(AP)—An operation performed on Howard Buck of Massillon, O., designed to correct alleged criminal tendencies, was the second operation he had undergone.

In 1929, when Buck was under a two to fourteen year sentence for forgery, he was operated on at a local hospital. Following the operation he was paroled, on recommendation of Gov. Harry G. Leslie, and was employed by the state highway commission as a draftsman.

Bert C. Fuller, Indianapolis, salesman for an insurance company whose physicians once rejected Buck's application, said Buck told him he had been injured in a football game between Chicago and Purdue. Fuller said, "Buck told me he had played professional football in Iowa, and he used the name of Buckley at the University of Chicago so he could play there."

DENTIST FOILS HOLDUP, SHOOTS YOUNG BANDIT

Dr. John J. Wells, 61 years old, a dentist with offices at 401 South boulevard, Oak Park, foiled a patient who tried to rob him last night, although the bandit was 38 years his junior, and shot him in the left forearm. The robber, John Becker, 23 years old, 4252 Lindell avenue, St. Louis, was captured a few minutes later by Oak Park police.

Becker is believed to be the same man who stole $25 a few hours earlier from Dr. Albert Friedman, also a dentist, of 401 East 61st street. The bandit had his teeth examined as a ruse before committing the holdup.

Almost similar procedure was employed in the attempted robbery of Dr. Wells. Becker had his teeth examined, and then, as he was about to leave, drew a revolver. Dr. Wells was too fast. He seized Becker's gun and fired, hitting the bandit. The bandit fled, but was nabbed a few minutes later by Policemen David Stanton, Joseph Plum, and Harry Williams.

U. S. GRAND JURY QUITS; IS UNABLE TO INDICT CAPONE

Search in Vain for Jones Law Evidence.

The federal grand jury was dismissed yesterday without having returned any indictments charging Al Capone with violation of the Jones "5 and 10" prohibition law. Federal Judge Wilkerson had instructed the grand jurors to investigate the possibility of such indictments a month ago, after he had refused the conditional pleas of guilty offered by Capone to charges of liquor conspiracy and income tax evasion.

JUDGE WILKERSON.

The grand jurors had prepared a statement explaining why they had been unable to connect Capone directly with prohibition crime in the period covered by the strict penalties of the Jones law, but they got no chance to present it. The law provides for no report by a federal grand jury except indictments or evidence to be acted upon by a succeeding jury.

Seeks Way to Issue Report.

E. J. Nelson, the foreman, went from point to point in the Federal building yesterday with the statement in his pocket, but at the end of his travels it was still unread. Judge Wilkerson refused to receive the jury. Federal Judge Barnes dismissed its members, but since he had refused to receive the report last week, it was not offered to him yesterday.

Then Nelson went to see District Attorney Johnson. He emerged from the latter's office in fifteen minutes, his face deeply flushed, although the prosecutor said later that the foreman had merely called to say goodby.

Leaving the district attorney's office, Nelson said that he was going to confer with a committee of grand jurors and would return in half an hour with a statement on their behalf. He did not return, and it was believed that some attorney had warned him that by making a public report which had been refused by the court, he might incur judicial displeasure and possible punishment.

Wilkerson Explains Law.

Judge Wilkerson later explained the law in the case, saying:

"Federal and state grand juries differ in their final actions. Federal juries either give indictments or presentments for indictments by a following grand jury. The report as given by a state grand jury has never been used in the federal court system and, accordingly, I did not listen to the report today."

District Attorney Johnson informed Judge Wilkerson yesterday morning that the grand jury had no further indictments to return, and the judge suggested that in that case the jurors be taken before Judge Barnes and dismissed.

Six Capone Aids Indicted.

Although its members did not find further evidence against Capone, the grand jury discharged yesterday did return indictments charging six of his followers with prohibition violations.

Those indictments were returned last Friday before Judge Barnes.

Several of the six are also named in the big conspiracy indictment against Capone and his gang, charging them with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, and citing 5,000 specific violations.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH GUN.

Joseph Doty, 73 years old, 3708 Ellis avenue, shot and killed himself yesterday in his room. The police were informed that Doty had been despondent over ill health.

$2,000,000 WILL OF HENRY LEMAN HELD INVALID

Judge Grant Crumpacker of the Circuit court at Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday set aside the will of Henry W. Leman, former Chicago attorney who died in Miami, Fla., at the age of 78 a little more than two years ago.

The will, which specified that half of the Leman estate of $2,000,000 be used for the benefit of needy men and women of Chicago, had previously been set aside in Florida on the ground that it was so vague in wording that it could be construed only by making conjectures. Judge Crumpacker followed the same reasoning. The estate will be administered as if Mr. Leman had died intestate and his son, Sheldon Dole Leman, and daughter, Mrs. Warren E. Carpenter of Evanston, will divide the whole.

The elder Leman came to Chicago in 1870. From 1882 to 1890 he was vice president in charge of trust affairs of the Chicago Title and Trust company. He retired in 1923 and went to Florida to live. Included in the Leman properties were two miles of lake front in Indiana, now under lease to the town of Dunes Acres.

Billings Announces He Has Broken with Mooney

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 10.—(AP)—In an open letter "To whom it may concern," Warren K. Billings, Folsom prison inmate, said he had definitely broken with Thomas Mooney, with whom he was convicted for the 1916 San Francisco preparedness day parade bombing when ten persons were killed.

"I have been ignored by those actively handling the defense until I have become a mere nonentity in the case," Billings wrote in explanation of why he seeks to fight alone for liberation.

GUARD CLOSED BANK AND HOME OF MISSING CHIEF

Report Bomb Threats by Depositors.

A police guard was placed last night over the closed First Italian State bank, 1201 West Taylor street, and the vacant home of its president, Savario Ariani, and his wife, Mariana Ariani, who was the bank's cashier, at 146 South Marion street, Oak Park. The guard was posted at the request of State Auditor Oscar Nelson. He acted on reports that irate depositors had threatened to bomb the bank and the home.

Ariani and his wife have been missing from their home since Tuesday evening. The bank closed Wednesday morning. Ariani was reported to have told several persons he feared for his life if the bank was closed. He and his wife are being sought by the police. Their descriptions have been sent to immigration authorities to prevent their flight out of the country.

No Warrants for Couple.

No warrants have been issued for the couple as no evidence of criminal action has been uncovered, investigators said. The vaults of the bank are to be entered today. The authorities expect to find a substantial portion of the bank's deposits of $350,000. They believe that fear rather than theft prompted the flight of the Arianis. Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers, in charge of the banking investigation, is coöperating with the auditor.

The state auditor ordered the bank's vaults blasted yesterday, but delayed this action on the possibility that Ariani might mail the combinations. If they are not received this morning the vaults will be entered by cutting through their sides. The last financial report of the bank declared a capital of $200,000, surplus of $50,000, and deposits of $350,000.

Depositors Aid in Liquidation.

Coöperation of depositors in the liquidation of the Bain chain of twelve closed banks was announced yesterday by State Auditor Nelson. The depositors of each bank are to appoint a committee of three to work with various subreceivers, Receiver Irwin T. Gilruth, and his attorney, Adrian T. Hoover. Each committee will be notified in advance of the sale of any assets of the bank it represents and will be afforded opportunity to get the best possible price for the assets.

The committees will coöperate in collecting from persons and corporations owing money to the banks. Where the debtor is slow the committee is to help in forcing collections in an effort to get results without the expense of litgation.

The committees are to have access to the complete list of all assets of each bank and will meet with the receiver and subreceiver to aid in liquidation. The plan was approved at a meeting of the executive committee of the Allied Bain Bank Depositors' committee with State Auditor Nelson, Mr. Gilruth, and Attorney Hoover.

Morton Grove Bank Closed.

The Morton Grove Trust and Savings bank of Morton Grove was closed yesterday morning at the request of its board of directors after a meeting with the state auditor on Wednesday night. The bank has listed capital of $50,000, surplus of $22,000 and deposits of $270,000. The bank is the sixty-seventh to close in Cook county since Nov. 5, 1929.

State Auditor Nelson prepared to file charges of misfeasance in office and culpable omission of duty said to have been made in a true bill reported voted against him on Tuesday by the Lake county grand jury investigating the defunct Waukegan State bank, closed on June 17. The true bill was said to have been voted against him for failure to close the bank last November and to order an assessment on stockholders. Mr. Nelson refused to comment on the reported action other than to say the bank was sound at the time in question.

Jury to Meet on Monday.

The Lake county grand jury will meet on Monday. State's Attorney A. V. Smith issued subpœnas for Rufus Peter, former director of the National Bank of the Republic; Gustave Fisher, president of the National Republic corporation; William Miller, former vice president of the National Bank of the Republic, and Samuel Hastings, former director of the Waukegan State bank. He also asked that records of the corporation and of the National Bank of the Republic, now merged with the Central Trust company as the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, relating to its connection with the Waukegan bank be produced on Monday.

The prosecutor telegraphed to Auditor Nelson to notify the four auditors who examined the Waukegan bank last November to appear before the grand jury on Wednesday.

Mr. Smith refused to comment on the reported true bill against Mr. Nelson and rumors of other true bills other than to say that no indictments would be returned until late next week. He said he expected the grand jury to complete its work before the end of the month.

Prosecutor Smith said he would seek an early trial of Norman O. Geyer, former president of the Waukegan bank, who has been indicted on charges of receiving deposits after he knew the bank to be insolvent. The prosecutor said he would demand that a date be set for trial on the opening of the fall term of the Circuit court of Judge Ralph J. Dady.

MERCURY RISES TO 94, NEARING AUTUMN RECORD

Heat to Continue, Forecaster Says.

With the mercury reaching 94 at 4 p. m., one degree lower than the record for this late in the year, the freak heat wave from the plains of the southwest continued to scorch Chicago and nearby regions yesterday. Thermometers on the street level in the loop registered 98. At 5 p. m. the official temperature had slipped back to 92 degrees.

The mercury yesterday equaled the peak for the same date set in 1887, and was a degree lower than the mark of 95 degrees recorded on Sept. 13 and 14 in 1927.

The intense heat sent large numbers of people to the beaches and parks in Chicago and its suburbs.

Hot Wave to Continue.

W. P. Day, the government forecaster, gave no promise of immediate relief from the heat. Generally fair and continued warm weather was predicted for today and tomorrow. Most of the middle west will continue to swelter today, but hope of later relief was given in the forecasts for the Dakotas and other plains states, which predicted showers and cooler weather. These showers are due to strike Minnesota and northwestern Wisconsin tomorrow.

Three Die in Milwaukee.

Three deaths due to the heat were reported in Milwaukee yesterday. The temperature rose to 101 degrees in Eau Claire, Wis., setting a record for September. At Oshkosh and Racine the mercury reached 99. At St. Cloud, Minn., a temperature of 106 degrees was reported, while the maximum in Minneapolis was 104.

New York's maximum of 93 was only two degrees under the Sept. 10 maximum set in 1894. Four heat prostrations were reported there during the day.

BIGAMIST HELD AS HIS 2 WIVES GO ARM IN ARM

James Coulty, 23 years old, 734 South Claremont avenue, was held to the grand jury on a charge of bigamy in bonds of $5,000 yesterday by Judge Freeman L. Fairbank in the Felony court. He watched his two wives walk out of the courtroom arm in arm.

"Do your time nicely, honey," said Elinor Scripps Coulty, 5344 Winthrop avenue, his first wife, as she patted his arm. "I'll be waiting for you." Rose Amato Coulty, 15 years old, the prisoner's second wife, refused to speak to him. Coulty was captured after an investigation by Rose's brother, Charles Amato, who rummaged through his trunk and found evidence of his first marriage.

Coulty defended himself with the assertion that he had to marry Rose to placate her mother.

RESTAURANT OWNER KILLED IN BATTLE OVER QUALITY OF PIE

Richard Cope, 63 years old, was killed late yesterday afternoon in a pistol battle with two men in his restaurant at 1116 West 28th street.

The killers, who were young men and fairly well dressed, entered the place, took seats at a table, and ordered pie and coffee. After they were served they began to quarrel with the proprietor. He defended the quality of the food and when the pair continued to upbraid him retired behind a counter and seized a pistol.

Close behind him were the two men. They drew their pistols almost as soon as Cope did. The restaurant man's aim was unsteady and the two shots he fired were wild. The aim of his assailants was better. Two bullets struck Cope and he was dead within a few minutes. His assailants escaped.

SEIZE PAIR FOR STENCH BOMBS IN 2 THEATERS

Two alleged stench bomb throwers were seized last night immediately after bombs had been tossed in the Jackson Park theater, 6711 Stony Island avenue, and the Casino theater, 72 West Madison street. Police believe that both attacks were connected with the warfare between the independent movie houses and the Motion Picture Operators' union.

The men seized were Arthur Donovan, 28 years old, of 1210 West 79th street, and Valentine Probalsky, 48, of 7301 Madison street, Forest Park. Donovan first identified himself as Arthur King, but a movie operator's card found in his pocket bore his real name. Probalsky, arrested in the Casino theater, was searched, and a stench bomb was found in his pocket. Both men were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Lounsbury and will be taken before the grand jury today.

King was arrested in the Jackson Park theater by Policeman F. K. Johnston. Johnston said he was sitting behind King when the latter arose and took his hand from his pocket. Immediately the air was filled with the fumes of a stench bomb. King was taken to the Woodlawn station. Twenty minutes later Thomas Maloy, indicted business agent for the operators' union, appeared, but he was not allowed to see King.

Unitarians Lend Church to Jews for Worship

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—An offer from trustees of the First Unitarian church to lend their edifice for celebration of Jewish new year holy days was accepted by Rabbi Herman Lissauer, head of Jewish institute. Rabbi Lissauer's congregation will take over the Protestant church for Rosh Hashonah services tomorrow evening, will use the church Saturday and conduct Jewish atonement day services Sunday night, vacating the church Tuesday.

OUST HOUSTON AS PRESIDENT OF MEDINAH A. C.

Thomas J. Houston, imperial potentate of the Shriners of North America, has been removed as president of the Medinah Athletic club, and the affairs of the club are now being conducted by a committee of five members acting in conjunction with the receiver, who was appointed by Federal Judge Wilkerson last July. This was revealed yesterday.

In retaliation, it was learned, Potentate Houston suspended two prominent members of the Shrine who had led in the movement to oust him. They are Otto E. Schmidt and J. Oliver Johnson.

The members who voted to oust Houston charged him with inefficiency after the club had gone into receivership. The Seneca Security corporation in the federal court charged default on four promissory notes totaling $1,000,000. A financial statement made last January showed ready assets of only $368,886, against accounts, notes, accruals, and mortgages due totaling $1,043,903.

The executive committee now in charge of the club consists of Schmidt, chairman; E. W. Sauerman, J. M. Triner, L. S. Allen, and Guy L. V. Emerson. They will remain in charge until the annual election of officers next January. Many meetings of members and committees have been held recently, and all factions in the club have expressed confidence that the organization will eventually attain financial independence.

WOLF GIVES BANK MORE CLEWS TO $3,666,929 THEFT

Walter E. Wolf, embezzler of $3,666,929, continued to help officials of the Continental-Illinois Bank and Trust company yesterday in their investigation of his defalcations over a period of twelve years. He remained in the custody of the bank's detectives. He will be turned over to State's Attorney Swanson within a few days.

"Every day we get some additional matter from 'Wolf,'" said Abner J. Stillwell, vice president of the bank. "He was at first dazed from worry, but he is now constantly recalling new details of his operations over the long period. Incidentally, he continued his embezzlements undetected through four mergers."

Wolf's defalcation was confined entirely to his own department, Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the board of directors, pointed out. He did not have access to the bank's bond department, nor to its trust department, which is administering trust funds and estates with a total value in excess of $2,000,000,000.

MARION DAVIES PAYS $800,000 TAX DEFICIT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Marion Davies, the motion picture star, recently was involved in a $1,000,000 federal income tax case with the bureau of internal revenue, it was learned today. The case was settled, it was said, upon the payment by Miss Davies of about $800,000.

Some time ago the bureau notified Miss Davies that there was a serious deficit in her income tax reports. The deficit was reported to be closer to $1,200,000 than $1,000,000. Miss Davies protested the claim through her attorney but the government insisted upon payment.

When the bureau suggested turning the case over to the board of tax appeals for adjustment involving public hearings and full publication of Miss Davies' income, the screen actress is said to have declined and agreed to have the matter adjusted quietly by the bureau of internal revenue. A compromise was reached by which Miss Davies paid a somewhat smaller amount than was at first demanded by the government.

Returns from Abroad.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Miss Davies, returning today aboard the North German Lloyd liner Europa, frankly admitted that she had paid approximately $325,000 on tax shortage to the bureau of internal revenue at Washington. The case, she said, was due to a misunderstanding between herself and a real estate agent who has handled her property here.

"I paid about $325,000 on back taxes, including extra charges," she said, "but that was many months ago.

"There was a compromise settlement with the government because the figures were much higher than the actual money due—more than $1,000,000 was the first demand from the government. But it was all a mixup.

Due to Agent's Error.

"I was living in Los Angeles and had various properties in New York, some buildings. It really was the business of my real estate agent to pay on my property here. I thought he had done so and was surprised to find that he had not. He told me that he thought I had paid the income tax due.

"So when it was called to my attention I went to Washington—only once—and it was settled. Really, I don't see any news in that incident, as it's closed. But the papers are welcome to print it if they think it's news."

Asked whether the sum paid covered only one year's income, Miss Davies said that "it was not for my income during any one year, but covered a period of many years."

PARLEY OR NO PARLEY, GANDHI TO STAY MUTE ON DAY OF SILENCE

S. S. RAJPUTANA, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Unless the British government changes the date for the meeting of the federal structures committee, which is set for next Monday at London, Mahatma Gandhi will sit through the session, listening attentively but not speaking.

The reason is that Monday is Gandhi's day of silence, and, government or no government, he intends to observe it. On Tuesday the Mahatma will step forward and present his views. During the sittings of the round table conference on Indian affairs he will speak extemporaneously.

"I have no prepared plan," he said today. "No speeches, no arguments, and no programs for my stay."

EXPECT TAX SALE TO NET COUNTY ONLY $1,000,000

Base Estimate on Results in Two Towns.

Figures made available yesterday at the office of County Treasurer McDonough indicated that Cook county will realize only about $1,000,000 this year from the sale of delinquent 1929 taxes. Last year receipts from the sale of delinquent 1928 taxes were approximately $4,500,000, it was said at the treasurer's office.

The estimate for this year's returns was based on figures on the tax sales in Barrington and Berwyn townships, finished Thursday. In those two towns the treasurer offered to sell 1,727 parcels of property, on which 1929 taxes totaling $127,617 were delinquent. Professional tax buyers bought the taxes on only 84 parcels, for a total of $8,761, or slightly less than 7 per cent of the total offered. The remaining $118,856 in delinquent taxes was forfeited to the state.

Delinquent Taxes Total 60 Million.

Delinquent taxes for 1929 amount roughly to $60,000,000 in Cook county, but because of various taxpayers' suits in the federal, circuit, and county courts, which have tied up collections on the properties involved, it was possible to offer only $15,170,082 in delinquent taxes for sale this year.

Seven per cent of the latter sum, the ratio of sales to offers so far, would be a little more than $1,000,000, but the properties already offered are slightly more desirable than the average in the county, it was said.

Tax sales were held yesterday for Bloom township. It will require some months to finish the sale for the entire county, in which a total of 264,816 delinquent parcels will be offered for sale.

Henry M. Ashton, special tax attorney for the county, made his first collection in a court action for the collection of some of the $16,000,000 in delinquent taxes which the county board has commissioned him to recover on a commission basis.

Makes Down Payment.

To avoid the appointment of a receiver for his property, asked by Attorney Ashton before Judge Ross C. Hall in the Superior court, Charles Reese, owner of a rooming house at 815 West 60th street, paid $500 down and agreed to sign a 90 day promissory note for $5,000 to apply on his taxes. Taxes on the property have been delinquent since 1910, and the total due, including interest and penalties, is $17,196.

The $5,500 payment will be only partial, and the rest of the sum will remain due, since the county board, and not a court, is the body empowered to compromise taxes, Attorney Ashton asserted.

JUDGE REFUSES HEARING ON PLEA AGAINST SCRIP

Circuit Judge Denis J. Normoyle refused to hear the plea of Attorneys James A. O'Callaghan and I. T. Greenacre yesterday when they sought an injunction to restrain the school board from issuing scrip instead of cash in payment of salaries to school teachers.

"I don't believe this matter is an emergency," Judge Normoyle said as more than fifty interested teachers crowded close behind the attorneys. "The first scrip was issued on June 19 and you did not file any action until Sept. 8. I can't believe that it will make any difference if it is not heard for another two weeks."

"But your honor," O'Callaghan broke in, "this is an emergency. The salaries of 14,000 teachers are involved."

"No," the judge replied. "It will be a physical impossibility to hear all the matters before me now. I'll put the case on call for the court of Judge Philip J. Finnegan, to whom it was originally assigned, for Sept. 21."

The petition for the injunction was filed last Tuesday.

Mystery Plane Sighted in Northern Wilds; Believe Pacific Flyers May Be Aboard

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A slight ray of hope that Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American trans-Pacific flyers, might still be alive was seen today when dispatches from White Horse, Yukon territory, reported that a huge plane, flying south, had passed over Carmacks, 200 miles north of White Horse, this morning.

Moyle and Allen have been missing since shortly after they took off from Samushiro beach, Japan, at 3:30 p. m. Monday [Chicago daylight saving time].

Hear Plane in Fog.

The White Horse report of the sighting of a plane followed an earlier report today from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, about 1,500 miles from the flyers' starting point in Japan, that four passengers on the steamer Arthur J. Baldwin had heard a plane in the fog yesterday morning, about 48 hours after the aviators' takeoff. The plane had fuel sufficient for about 48 hours of flying. This report said the plane was headed northeast.

Aviation circles here were pessimistic over both reports, pointing out that a flood of rumors and reports has always in the past followed disappearances of transoceanic airplanes.

Combing Bering Sea.

Meanwhile the sea forces of three nations combined to comb the wastes of the North Pacific ocean and Bering sea in the slim hope that the flyers, if they had made a forced landing, might still be afloat in the collapsible rubber life preservers they carried. Japan, Canada, and the United States were the nations which took up the hunt.

Four American coast guard vessels were heading for the Aleutian islands to inspect secluded islands for some trace of the missing airmen. These ships were the Northland, the Chelan, the McLane, and the Itasca. A fifth coast guard vessel, the Alert, was at Ketchikan preparing to cruise among the islands of southeastern Alaska.

Japanese Officials Optimistic.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—One minute of silence was observed as a tribute to Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, American flyers, in a dinner at the American club tonight. But Japanese officials are reluctant to abandon hope.

Col. Kodama, chief of the technical section of the aviation bureau, said today it was still too early to conclude that Moyle and Allen were dead. He recalled that two years ago a Russian flyer made a forced landing in the Aleutians and his fate was unknown for a month, that the English airman, Maj. Stuart MacLaren, was lost on a lagoon in the Kuriles for a week, and that the American army round the world flyers were out of sight for several days in Alaska in 1924.

ASK 100 MILLION FOR WORK UPON U. S. WATERWAYS

Illinois Project Gets Priority.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The administration river and harbor program calls for the appropriation by the new congress of approximately 100 million dollars for construction work during the balance of the current fiscal year and the next 12 months' period.

W. E. HULL.

Although the Hoover program has not been announced officially it was learned authoritatively today that the war department budget for 1933 includes $75,000,000 for carrying on the work of the Mississippi valley waterway system and other water transportation projects. In addition the estimates for the first deficiency bill, which will go to congress shortly after it convenes in December, carry approximately $30,000,000.

This Year's Budget 82 Millions.

The total appropriations, including funds carried in the regular army supply bill and deficiency measures, made available for the current fiscal year amounted to $82,500,000. Should the war department construction program go through as scheduled, the corps of engineers will expend close to $20,000,000 more during the next fiscal year than will be spent during this one. It is possible, however, that the deficiency bill funds would be appropriated in time, so much of this money could be expended before July 1, thus increasing the expenditures for this year.

According to information given Representative William E. Hull [Rep., Ill.] today by war department engineers, the Illinois river project now stands first on the list of priorities of projects which are to be completed as rapidly as possible. At the rate funds are now being expended this waterway should be finished some time in 1933. There now seems little likelihood that the administration will speed this improvement to the extent of completing it in 1932.

Representative Hull conferred with both President Hoover and Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, during the course of the day. Later he said that the President was anxious to put men to work as fast as possible on approved river and harbor projects. He added that additional funds will be made available in the deficiency bill for work on the Illinois waterway.

War department officials said their program calls for further expedition of the Illinois project. Just how much money is included in the 1933 estimates for the Illinois waterway was not announced. Up to July 1 only $916,897 of the $7,500,000 made available by congress for building the Lockport-Utica state link of the waterway had been expended. The war department, however, has allocated $3,143,300 of appropriations now voted to work on this project. The 1933 fiscal year estimates would be expended principally during the latter half of the 1932 calendar year.

Complete to Utica This Year.

Representative Hull stated today that war department engineers had advised him that the Illinois river improvement running from Grafton on the Mississippi to Utica would be finished this winter. Of the $3,500,000 appropriated for this project, $2,257,111 has been expended. New gates for the Kampsville and La Grange dams have been ordered and are to be installed this winter.

Just which projects are to benefit by the increased war department river and harbor appropriations has not been announced. It is known, however, that large appropriations are included for the Mississippi system. It is highly probable added appropriations will be asked for carrying on the upper Mississippi and the upper Missouri improvements.

Just how many new jobs would be created through an increase in river and harbor appropriations was not disclosed today.

EX-JUSTICE SAMUEL HEADS COMMISSION ON FUEL TAX EVASION

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Former Supreme Court Justice Paul Samuell of Jacksonville heads the commission of three appointed today by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson to investigate complaints of motor fuel tax evasions.

PAUL SAMUELL. [Wallinger Photo.]

Omer N. Custer, Galesburg chairman of the tax commission, will represent the state department of finance and Frank V. Martinek, Chicago, will represent the dealers' association for gas tax evasion prevention.

At the suggestion of Director Garreet Kinney of the department of finance, Gov. Emmerson directed the commission to investigate facts relating to gas tax evasions, "to the end that enforcement be made as perfect as possible."

Hammond Attorney Jailed by Judge for Contempt

Fred Barnett, a well known attorney of Hammond, Ind., was locked up in the Lake county jail at Crown Point last night on a contempt order issued by Judge E. Miles Norton of the Circuit court there. The order was based on the lawyer's failure to pay $1,200 to Joe Krasczyk, a farmer of Lake county. Barnett, it is charged, obtained a judgment for that amount for Krasczyk, but failed to turn it over to him. A year ago last June Judge Norton ordered the attorney to repay his client. The contempt order will be effective until the $1,200 is paid.

County Employes Paid; $660,000 Checks Go Out

Cook county employes yesterday got their pay checks for the first half of August. The checks had been held up two weeks because of the county's shortage of funds. Payments of blind and mothers' pensions were also made, bringing the total disbursements to $666,000. The county has recently received $1,050,000 from fee collections and other sources, and officials expect to get enough from the same sources to meet pay rolls for the last half of August, now due, within a week.

of government. This same suggestion was made three times by the governor in his speech when the commission was appointed. Victor Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, a member of the commission who was reported some time ago to be opposed to reduction in governmental costs, said last night that the commission should take action on this recommendation of the governor.

Try to Fry Out the Fat.

In its early sessions the commission tried to get the public officials to fry some of the fat out of the local governments. This was attempted with public hearings in which waste and extravagance were laid out for public view. The officeholders did not appear cooperative, according to members of the commission, and that line of procedure was sidetracked.

Up to this week some of the members of the commission assumed that the cut in governmental costs would be a major feature in the report of the commission's committee on temporary relief. William H. Sexton, city corporation counsel, is chairman of that committee. He asked that his report be delayed until after the plan for permanent relief has been decided on.

J. Louis Jacobs, efficiency expert for the city and county governments, told the commission that 15 per cent of the city expenditures could be saved without curtailing the service. He asserted that with a cut of 15 per cent the service could be improved.

The 15 Per Cent Cut.

A 15 per cent cut for all of the local governments would be a substantial amount. It is thought that some agencies could curtail their expenditures more than that, even if others were unable to achieve such a reduction.

Most of the budgets of the local governments were made on the assumption that 90 per cent of the taxes levied would be collected. This would be a total collection in Cook county of about $234,000,000. A 15 per cent saving of that amount would be $35,000,000.

That sum does not satisfy some members of the commission, but they might have accepted it as one of the temporary relief measures if it had been proposed earlier in their deliberations. These members now feel that a much larger saving is advisable to place the local government on a sound financial basis, but on this subject the commission is said not to have made even a tentative decision.

Opposed to Tax Increase.

The commission is firm and decisive in its view that there should be no increase in taxes as a result of any of its recommendations and that real estate should be relieved of its tax burden to the full extent of the proposed income and sales taxes. The detailed plan by which real estate will get this full relief was not obtainable last night, but it is said that its operation is proposed on the basis that tax valuations are now figured.

The amount paid in income taxes and in sales taxes, under this plan, would be deducted the following year from the taxes of real estate. It is assumed by the commission that the revenue from income and sales taxes would fluctuate from year to year, and the relief to real estate would vary accordingly. But over a series of years the commission believes real estate would get the benefit of every dollar of taxes paid on sales and on income.

SCHOOL BOARD'S 'RELIEF SESSION' LACKS A QUORUM

The school board failed to have a quorum at last night's special meeting, which was scheduled to consider plans for the relief of 20,000 employes who have received no cash payments on their wages. Recommendations were to have been prepared for submission to the governor's revenue commission, before which the board has asked a hearing. After the failure of last night's meeting, the trustees present said there was no hope for an agreement on such a plan.

The importance of the special meeting was urged by President Lewis E. Myers at the regular meeting on Wednesday, but President Myers and five of the other ten trustees failed to appear.

Lacking a quorum, those present agreed that nothing could be accomplished, but the ensuing discussion indicated a general agreement that the most workable way out of the board's financial troubles would be to ask the legislature to authorize the board to increase its working cash fund from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 by the sale of bonds.

Reed for Sales Tax; Raise Surtax, Bacharach Says

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A serious split in the Republican party over the question of raising tax rates to take the treasury out of the red was disclosed today when two influential members of congress came out flatly in favor of tax revision upward, one through the medium of a general sales tax and the other by increasing the surtaxes on large incomes.

SENATOR DAVID A. REED.

Taking a position exactly opposite to that expressed recently by Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], chairman of the senate finance committee, and many other Republican leaders, Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] today advocated enactment of a general sales tax of one-half of 1 per cent on all commodities. This change in the American tax system, coupled with other changes, would boost treasury revenues by two billions annually and avert future billion dollar deficits, Mr. Reed said.

Bacharach Demands Action.

At the same time Representative Isaac Bacharach [Rep., N. J.], a dominant figure in the house ways and means committee, where tax legislation originates, urged congressional approval at once of legislation elevating the surtax rates on incomes of over $100,000. He also advocated placing a sales tax on luxuries and other nonessentials, enactment of a gift tax, and a moderate increase in federal estate taxes.

Both congressmen urged the necessity of a tax increase as a means of balancing the budget and increasing the revenues so that large deficits such as that of last year and the one which the treasury now faces would be avoided. At present the treasury anticipates a deficit of close to a billion and a half at the end of the fiscal year. Senator Reed, following a White House interview with President Hoover, asserted that a tax increase would be absolutely necessary if legislation is passed permitting veterans to borrow up to 100 per cent of the value of their bonus certificates.

In some quarters there was a tendency today to interpret the Reed-Bacharach pronouncements as definite indication that the Hoover administration will propose tax revision of some sort when the new congress opens. Unless President Hoover has undergone a radical change of mind within the last few days there seems to be no substantial basis for the view that the administration position on tax legislation has been formed.

President Is Waiting.

Up to the latter part of last week President Hoover had not made up his mind as to the advisability of a tax increase. It was made known authoritatively that the President probably would not make up his mind on tax legislation or governmental economies until close to the time congress convenes. This whole question, it was said then, probably would be decided by the degree of business recovery registered by that time in this country and abroad.

It is known that the President's official family is divided on the tax increase question. One of the President's most trusted advisers is known to favor running the government on credit for at least another year. This official takes the position business recovery would be retarded by a tax increase.

Secretary Mellon's opinion has not been made known. He has favored tax revision to make the tax system more stable, but has not outlined his position on a tax increase. As Senator Reed, a member of the senate finance committee, is a close friend of Mr. Mellon, that has served to spread the report that the treasury head favors a sales tax.

Watson Fights Tax Increase.

While in Washington a short time ago Senator Smoot came out flatly against any tax increase at the next session of congress. Chairman Will R. Wood [Rep., Ind.] recently opposed a tax boost. Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], senate majority leader, said last Saturday that he was against tax revision upwards except as a last resort. Opinion among other Republicans has been divided. It is understood Senator Smoot would favor a sales tax in any revision upwards if it became necessary.

Immediately following his talk with the President, Mr. Reed took occasion to score those world war veterans who now are advocating full payment immediately of the adjusted compensation bonus certificates which ordinarily would not be paid until in the '40s. Passage of such legislation, in the expressed opinion of Mr. Reed, would make a tax increase absolutely necessary, wreck the chances of building up the navy to London treaty size, and pave the way for soldiers' pensions.

The Pennsylvania senator, in amplifying his views on bonus legislation and taxation, asserted that the time has come when congress must develop sufficient courage to say "No" to the demands of veterans. He said passage of legislation allowing veterans to borrow up to 100 per cent of the face value of their certificates would take more than two billions out of the treasury annually and boost the government's interest bill from $16 millions annually to 700 millions.

The Reed tax would apply to all commodities and would be made a permanent part of the American tax system.

ALDERMEN ASK GAS COMPANY FOR COST DATA

Seek Information on New Rate Plea.

Members of the city council committee on gas, oil, and electricity voted yesterday to acquire all available information relative to the cost of suppying Chicago with a mixture of natural and artificial gas before presenting any testimony in the gas rate case pending before the Illinois commerce commission.

Acting on the motion of Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th], the committee voted to ask the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company for all information in its possession relating to the cost of producing and furnishing the natural gas. Data will be sought also from downstate cities which are being supplied with natural gas by the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company.

Order Statement Drawn.

In addition the committee at the suggestion of Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th] directed Charles C. Hotchkiss, the city's gas expert, and Corporation Counsel Sexton to prepare a statement for the aldermen explaining the gas controversy. The statement is to be ready for the aldermen when the committee meets next Thursday.

A division of opinion as to whether the city should engage in a rate fight with the company was shown in the committee discussion. Several aldermen said that to fight the case properly it would be necessary to valuate the company's properties, which action, they said, would be expensive.

"What we need to know," said Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], "is the cost of the gas lines, how much it costs to produce the natural gas, the number of years the gas lines will be in operation, and whether this cost is to be added to the bills of the present consumer. We don't need an appraisal of the company's properties."

Brings Up Therm Rate Basis.

Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] sought to have the committee ask the commerce commission to deny the gas company permission to charge customers on the therm basis instead of the old cubic foot basis. His motion, however, had not been acted upon when the committee adjourned.

It is optional now with the customer whether his gas bill is computed on the therm or cubic foot basis.

"If the company has to charge on the cubic foot basis," Ald. Terrell said, "it will be compelled to apply for a rate increase. With that situation the burden of submitting expert testimony will be upon the company.

FIVE KIDNAPING SUSPECTS TO BE SENT DOWNSTATE

Chicago Victims Fail to Identify Them.

Because one of the victims they are suspected of kidnaping was not available yesterday and two others did not identify them, five men arrested in Decatur the first part of the week will be returned there today where warrants await them charging another abduction—that of a Springfield man.

Lieut. William Cusack and Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office had hoped to show the prisoners to Fred J. Blumer, wealthy Monroe, Wis., brewer, kidnaped several months ago, but Blumer left word with his housekeeper that he was going to his summer home. It was not possible to locate the place.

Lynch Views Captives.

In midafternoon a man and woman appeared at Roche's office and the five men were paraded before them. Roche then announced that John J. [Jack] Lynch, part owner of a Chicago racing news service, kidnaped Aug. 20 and released after $50,000 ransom had been paid, had viewed the suspects but he would not disclose the names of the man and the woman. It was presumed that they were Lynch and a woman who had rented a cabin near Lynch's Lake Geneva home to three suspected members of the gang that kidnaped him.

Lynch did not identify any of the five, Roche said.

This left only the kidnaping of James Hackett, gambler of Blue Island, before the local officials. Hackett went with Cusack to Decatur and viewed all five. He said then, according to Cusack, that Monte Moore, ex-convict, might be one of the men who held him until $75,000 ransom was paid last May.

Hackett Can't Identify Them.

Clarence Wantland, Decatur jailkeeper, was quoted yesterday as saying that Hackett was much more positive and declared that Moore was one of the men. But back in Chicago, Hackett said he could not recognize any of the five.

Roche concluded that it would be virtually impossible to prosecute the men successfully in Chicago and directed Cusack to take them back this morning. Moore, John Emslinger, and Morris Luttrell of Springfield were taken to the Grand Crossing police station where they will stay until Joe Yates, Decatur hoodlum, and William Wallace reputed "fence," are taken from the county jail this morning and the caravan starts for Decatur.

In Decatur the first three will be held for the kidnaping of Ralph Wehrenberg of Springfield, an employé of State Auditor Nelson, who was taken from a Springfield drug store on July 30, at the point of a gun, and brought to a roadside close to Decatur, where he was released after the contents of his pockets—$29—was taken from him.

DELAYS DECISION ON 1 MAN STREET CAR PROPOSAL

Commission to Hear Objectors.

Opposition from several quarters to the proposal of the Chicago Surface lines to institute one man street car service in many sections of the city now having two man service yesterday caused Robert H. Farrell, assistant Illinois commerce commissioner, to delay a decision in the case until Sept. 15.

The company, through Attorney Francis X. Busch, opposed the delay, insisting that the order must be approved or one of two worse alternates must be adopted, one of which would be an increase in fares, and the other a curtailment in the frequency of service.

Objectors to Be Heard.

But Commissioner Farrell decided the objectors should be heard, and granted them until next Tuesday. Among the objectors were representatives of various northwest side improvement clubs, William Quinlan, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electrical Railway Employés of America, and Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton.

Mr. Sexton asked that the city council be given an opportunity to consider the proposed changes in service, and to make a recommendation to the commission.

Attorney Busch said that receipts of the company have suffered a serious falling off in the last year, amounting to $5,000,000 in revenue. He said that no trainmen would be laid off under the proposed plans for additional one man cars. At present there is a shortage of trainmen, he said, and those employed have worked in excess of six full days a week. If the commission approves the plan, the trainmen will be worked at about a six day week, Mr. Busch declared.

Engineer Explains Plan.

E. J. McIlraith, Surface lines engineer, said the one man cars would be placed in operation only on night and Sunday shifts on lines where the service did not exceed the seating capacity of the cars, and in the day time on lines where the passenger traffic is light.

BISHOP CANNON SAILS TOMORROW; "READY FOR NYE"

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr., who returned from the continent yesterday, said today that he expected to sail for New York on the Mauretania on Saturday, "arriving at Washington at the time I told Senator Nye I would arrive."

The bishop has been in Switzerland attending the International Congress Against Alcoholism. He stopped at Geneva to confer with certain officials of the league of nations concerning a resolution adopted by the league assembly in 1928 directing "that the health organization of the league of nations collect statistical information regarding alcoholism considered as a consequence of the abuse of alcohol."

He said the French delegation had opposed the action of the assembly and that nothing had been done by the committee in three years, but that he was assured action would be taken.

GET COMPLAINTS ON 240 PER CENT LOAN RACKETEER

Money Lender May Face State Charges.

Carl M. White, who has been in and out of the courts for seventeen years with his marital and money lending affairs, faces another meeting with the law, Assistant State's Attorney Edwin C. Duffey of the racket bureau said yesterday.

Half a dozen complaints have been registered against White's 240 per cent loan business, which he calls a salary purchasing or salary collecting agency. Mr. Duffey will interview the complainants tomorrow with a view of filing an information against White, charging him with violation of the small loans law, which permits only 7 per cent interest for unlicensed money lenders.

$42 Interest on $15 Loan.

Records of the Municipal court show that White has sued 239 persons who borrowed money from him on wage assignments since Jan. 1, 1930. A typical case is that of William Blahn, who is being sued for $75 as the result of a $15 loan on which he paid $42 in interest.

White received notoriety in 1919 when he dislocated the jaw of an ex-soldier who had borrowed $8 from him before the war. He was fined on a charge of assault and later forced to pay damages of $2,700. Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis once told the money lender that he was "'jimmying' himself into the house of correction, but to date the prophesy has not been fulfilled. The maximum penalty for violating the small loans law is six months and a $500 fine.

A criminal charge is pending against John H. Knobloch, who, according to Mr. Duffey, occupied offices adjoining White's at 35 South Dearborn street. A borrower who found himself in the clutches of one would be sent to the other for money to pay himself out, according to the prosecutor.

Call Selves "Salary Purchasers."

The 240 per cent loan sharks, who call themselves "collectors" or "salary purchasers" in an effort to circumvent the small loans law, advance small sums at the rate of 10 per cent a pay day, or 20 per cent a month, secured by wage assignments. Payment of the principal is discouraged and the borrower pays interest until the principal has been paid several times.

When the borrower refuses to make further payments, his wages are tied up with the assignment and under hopes of getting them released or fear of losing his job, he then signs a judgment note for accrued interest, principal, attorneys' and various other fees.

Complaints are received daily by the racket bureau, the Better Business bureau and the Legal Aid bureau of the United Charities from victims of loan sharks. The sharks have taken advantage of the depression to prey on the poor, according to these agencies.

Their advice to the complainants is to stop paying the money lenders who operate without a license and charge more than the legal rate of interest of 7 per cent a year. When the borrower has paid back the amount of the loan he should refuse to pay any more, for the loan shark has no standing in law and cannot collect unlawful interest, Mr. Duffey said.

Wage Assignments Void.

The greatest difficulty of the authorities in coping with the loan sharks is convincing employers that wage assignments filed by the unlicensed operators should be ignored. Most employers resent having pay checks held up, since it complicates their books, but instead of ignoring the wage assignment they usually fire the employé, according to the Better Business bureau.

As a result of efforts by the legal aid bureau, the railways, including the surface and L lines, have agreed to stop honoring loan sharks' wage assignments, but many large companies still accept them and often dismiss their employés.

Unlicensed money lenders change the name of their concern and place of business frequently and authorities have difficulty keeping an up to date list of them. Some of those listed a few months ago by investigators follow:

Account Brokerage company, 111 West Jackson boulevard.

BISHOP STEWART RETURNS FROM A TRIP TO EUROPE

The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, returned from a two months' tour abroad yesterday, and declared his belief that Europe is on its way to recovery both spiritually and materially. He said that England's greatest problem was the dole, and warned against the adoption of this plan in the United States.

"I believe the worst is over and that increasing prosperity will be noted from now on for the most, if not all, of Europe," said Bishop Stewart. "I hope and believe that the same is true of this country."

Germany and England have been through the darkest hours since the world war, according to Bishop Stewart. He asserted that only splendid statesmanship could have brought them past the crisis.

Father Learns Missing Youth Is Dead.

The body of a youth which had lain unclaimed in the county morgue for ten days was identified yesterday as that of John Laurinaitis Jr., 16 years old, 4625 South Marshfield avenue. His father, John Sr., said that he had reported the lad missing at the New City police station on Aug. 28, the day of his disappearance. Young Laurinaitis was killed on that date when he fell under the wheels of an ice cream truck at 47th street and Greenwood avenue.

She died in the Swedish Covenant hospital. The Summerdale police held Miss Peterson.

Edward Steele, 35 years old, of Mokena, in Will county, yesterday started a race with his friend, Walter Homerding of the same town, to determine whether Steele's motorcycle was faster than Homerding's automobile. Steele was killed when his motorcycle skidded into the car in Keane avenue at 159th street, near Orland.

Other Cook County Deaths.

These deaths and three others increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 837. The victims:

Paul Torocco, 27 years old, 1116 North 23d avenue, Melrose Park. Died in Westlake hospital from injuries suffered on Wednesday when his small sedan was struck by a Chicago and North Western passenger train at 15th avenue, Melrose Park.

Theodore Govgdarich, 50 years old, 2419 Clybourn avenue. Killed by truck as he stepped to the street to repair his car at Milwaukee and Higgins avenues. The driver, John Smith, Gas City, Ind., was held.

John Ross, 30 years old, 2953 Farrell street. Fatally injured when a truck on which he was riding was struck at Keeley and Lyman streets by an automobile driven by Stanley Barczak, 3351 Wall street. Ross, a laborer, was at the rear end of the truck.

Robert W. Winston, 21 years old, 1231 Asbury avenue, Evanston, son of James H. Winston of the firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw, pleaded guilty of speeding in the court of Justice of the Peace Harry H. Porter in Evanston yesterday and was fined $10. Winston, a junior at Princeton university, was driving 65 miles an hour on Dempster road when arrested, policemen testified.

ADOPT NEW AUTO SPEED RULES TO CURB ACCIDENTS

Regulations Aimed at Reckless Drivers.

Tentative regulations which for the time will guide city and park police in dealing with fast drivers were adopted yesterday at a conference in the office of Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

Judge Sonsteby, the park police captains, and Attorney William Luthardt of the Chicago police department met with Judge Frank M. Padden of the Speeders' court for two hours, and when they adjourned the following permissible speeds were announced:

Park systems—40 miles an hour on wide drives, 35 miles on narrow drives.

Act to Curb Reckless Drivers.

"For example," he said, "it might happen that a driver was going only 35 miles an hour on an outer drive, but was weaving in and out of the traffic in a reckless manner. This will bring his prompt arrest, for those we seek most to curb are the drivers who go about without regard for life and property."

The police officials at the conference were Capt. William Schramm of the west parks, Capt. James U. Sammis of Lincoln park, Capt. Timothy J. Howard of the south parks, Capt. Edward Tuohy of the North Shore park police, and Sergt. Casper Freeman of the Ridge Avenue park police. Mr. Luthardt represented Acting Police Commissioner Alcock.

Police Promise to Help.

These men promised their aid in an effort to reduce automobile casualties and said they would instruct the members of their forces to use their judgment in arresting motorists in the early morning hours or when traffic is not heavy. Mr. Luthardt said the city motorcycle policemen will be concentrated near the schools and at other points in the city where the majority of accidents take place.

TWO PLANES OFF FOR PARIS-TOKIO NO STOP FLIGHT

LE BOURGET, France, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Two French airplanes, one of them the trans-Atlantic ship of Dieudonne Coste, took off within a space of nine minutes at dawn today for Tokio in an effort to wrest the world's nonstop distance ribbon from Russell Boardman and John Polando, New York to Istanbul flyers.

The Hyphen 11, with Joseph Lebrix, former flying partner of Coste, and Rene Mesnin at the controls, was the first to go, leaving the ground at 6:06 [12:06 Chicago daylight time] and soaring out of sight within a few minutes.

Jacques Codos and Sergt. Rhoboida took to the air in Coste's Question Mark nine minutes later, rising after a short run and flying fast and low. It was the same plane in which Coste and Maurice Bellonte flew to New York from Paris last year.

While the double start was not officially announced as a race, it was held likely that it would develop into such a contest before the goal was reached.

Loose DANDRUFF?

Get rid of it overnight

Dermatologists tell us that many serious cases of dandruff and falling hair could have been prevented by simple, early treatments.

If you have any evidence of dandruff, go after it with Listerine, the safe antiseptic. It has checked this humiliating condition for tens of thousands. You simply douse it on full strength and massage the scalp vigorously. Often you get results over night. Stubborn cases require more systematic treatment to see a real improvement.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

VATICAN AGREES TO KEEP SPANISH PRIMATE IN EXILE

Admits Cardinal Is Peril to Republican Regime.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Sept. 10.—The Vatican, it was learned tonight, has notified the Spanish government that it agrees to the continuance in exile of Pedro Cardinal Segura, primate of Spain, who was expelled after a clandestine return to the country following his flight when convents were in flames in May.

After many weeks of negotiations, quickened when the republic presented its ultimatum two weeks ago, demanding the disavowal by the Vatican of Cardinal Segura and other prelates considered inimical to the new régime, Rome accepts the Spanish contention that the primate has proved to be a difficult enemy of the republic and that his return is dangerous both to the church and to the republican régime in Spain.

Documents which were supposed to have been found by Spanish authorities on an ecclesiastical courier, in which Cardinal Segura counseled the immediate sale of church property to prevent its seizure by the republic, are thought to have clinched the matter with Rome.

Will Not Be Replaced.

The ministers of the republic are jubilant at the success of the negotiations, which a week ago they feared might end in a break between Madrid and Rome.

Nevertheless, the agreement is something of a compromise. The primate, who in the eyes of the state no longer exists, will not be replaced. A priest, with the title of apostolic administrator, will be named with the republic's approval to administer the primacy for the time being.

According to the agreement, Bishop Mugica of Vittoria, who also is held by the government to be an enemy of the régime, also will remain abroad.

France to Cooperate.

The French government has been approached and has promised to apply the rules governing Spanish political refugees and to deny both these men residence anywhere near the Spanish frontier. Cardinal Segura is now at Vichy undergoing treatment for his health. According to representations made to the French ambassador at San Sebastian by Don Miguel Maura, minister of the interior, Cardinal Segura is still actively directing an extremist campaign against the republic.

Under the compromise with the Vatican, Cardinal Segura's pastoral privileges will be suspended. No more documents with his signature will be considered valid among the Spanish clergy for the time being.

As far as the government of the Spanish republic is concerned, priests may marry.

The council of ministers today agreed that Don Fernando de los Rios, minister of justice, should take steps to annul the article in the Spanish civil code whereby matrimony is forbidden to those in holy orders.

LAPEL "MIKE"

BUTTONHOLE MICROPHONE.

Engineers for the Western Electric company announced yesterday the invention of a microphone which will allow the orator, lecturer, and actor to move about the stage, and gesture with perfect freedom. The voice is projected over loud speakers of the public address system, but the speaker is no longer compelled to stay behind the stationary microphone.

The new microphone is small in size and is placed on the coat lapel or concealed beneath it. The instrument is connected to its amplifier by a pair of flexible conductors, which the speaker trails with him as he moves.

In developing the system, engineers were confronted with the rumble of the speaker's chest sounds. This they eliminated by providing a circuit containing an electric filter arranged so as to give a pleasing balance of sounds.

SLAIN MERCHANT PUZZLES POLICE AT WASHINGTON

Army Officer Also Found Shot to Death.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Another mysterious murder in the capital city and a suicide nearby served today to turn the attention of the local police from the current investigation of their third degree methods.

Jeff Bowers, a hardware merchant, was shot and killed in his downtown store this afternoon and his body found lying beneath an undisturbed cash register. He was discovered by John Hoffman, a carpenter, who was repairing a lock on a rear door of the establishment, said to have been broken several days ago by burglars.

Police who responded to Hoffman's call declared that Bowers had been shot at close range with a bullet of heavy caliber. They were of the opinion that the gun was equipped with a silencer.

A few hours before the body of Maj. Coleman W. Jenkins, coast artillery, 42 year old army war college instructor, was found under a tree in a patch of woods just off the Washington-Alexandria highway with a pistol which had sent a .38 caliber bullet through his brain, still clutched in his hand.

Maj. Omar H. Quade, executive officer at Walter Reed hospital, said Maj. Jenkins was suffering from an "anxiety neurosis" induced by overwork.

SUSPECT IN ALIEN SMUGGLING RING KILLED BY GANG

New York Links Capone in Its Operations.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—A murder today in the New York Central office building sent a dozen detectives hurrying out of town on secret missions tonight, and is said to have furnished the district attorney's office with disclosures regarding the operations of a nation-wide ring of alien smugglers.

The existence of such a ring has been known to federal authorities. It is estimated that more than 3,000 aliens have been smuggled into the United States by this means in recent years. Only a few weeks ago the government began an investigation, centering its activities in the Chicago territory of Al Capone. And the fact that today's murder has been linked with Chicago gunmen is regarded as significant. Some one who looked like Capone's picture is said to have visited the offices of this gang within a week.

Although police took great care to hide the destinations to which detectives have been sent, it was reported that, among other points, they went to Chicago, Buffalo, and Sea Isle, N. J. The last named place is said to have served as a base in the smuggling operations.

7 Men Wait in Anteroom.

When the murder occurred seven men were waiting in the anteroom of the suite of offices maintained by the "Eagle Building corporation" on the ninth floor of the building spanning Park avenue, just a block from Grand Central terminal. Four men carrying pistols entered the office. One of them ordered the seven men and Miss Frances Samuels, a secretary, to line up facing the wall. The others stalked into the private office of Salvatore Maranzano. There was a sound of voices raised in angry dispute, and finally pistol shots; and the four men dashed out.

The seven clients who had been waiting to see Maranzano vanished. But Miss Samuels hurried into her employer's office. She found him slumped in a chair, his body riddled with bullets and punctured with knife wounds.

The sound of shots attracted occupants of other offices. Some dashed out in time to see men fleeing from the Eagle company suite.

The four gunmen got away, but a special policeman seized one of the clients. He was James Santuccio, an ex-pugilist, known in the ring as "Bobby Doyle."

Hats with Chicago Store Labels.

At first detectives attributed the shooting to a bootleggers' feud, but when they examined the contents of the suite the case soon took on a different aspect. On the floor of Maranzano's private office they found two hats which had been knocked from the gunmen's heads in the struggle. Both hats were of fine make and bore the labels of Chicago hat stores on their sweat bands.

The correspondence heaped on Maranzano's desk, the detectives found, had to do almost entirely with immigration; while the office files were filled with booklets describing methods for beating U. S. immigration laws.

Later, police were sent to Maranzano's home and brought in his son Dominick. Questioned regarding his father's business, Dominick said it was fishing and the base of operations for his father's fishing fleet was at Sea Isle, N. J. A number of documents from the office were turned over to the department's agents.

Powers' Wife Seen as Decoy in Bluebeard's Victim Hunt

Sheriff Wilford B. Grimm of Clarksburg, W. Va., who has custody of the Bluebeard murderer, Harry F. Powers, yesterday forwarded to Chicago a letter received by him from a woman who stated she believed Powers' wife, Mrs. Luella Strothers Powers, had visited her here with a matrimonial proposition.

MRS. LUELLA POWERS.

The letter was unsigned, but the writer offered to come forward if notice was given her in the newspapers. The letter states:

"I have felt from the very beginning of the unearthing of the atrocious crimes of Powers that Mrs. Powers was perhaps as guilty as he, and since seeing the picture of her in the papers I am convinced that she was used as a decoy.

Owner of Dress Shop.

"She is, I am sure, the woman who came in my dress shop and asked to see the manager. When my manager came out to talk to her she asked how long she had owned the shop and if she owned other shops. The manager explained that she only managed and did not own the shop. Mrs. Powers then asked where she could locate the owner and was informed I was expected in two hours. And she waited the full two hours.

"When I came in and met her she gave me a cock and bull story about wishing to purchase an interest in a growing business and that I had been recommended very highly to her. But when I asked by whom she could not mention the name of any business people I knew.

Wanted to Meet "Brother."

"She then told me of a brother she had who was a well to do farmer and she did so wish for me to meet him and she was sure I would like him and that I reminded her of his dead wife. Of course I told her she was in a business house and that I would appreciate it if she would absent herself at once.

"Now, being a business woman, I do not wish my name to be used, but I thought if you used my story on her she might confess. And if you wish me to appear as a witness all you need to do is to print this letter in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. I will be glad to come forward. I admire your efforts."

KEEPS SILENT ON PAST.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Refusing to either deny or affirm a report that his correct name is Harm Drenth, who came to Belmond, Ia., from Holland when he was a lad, Harry F. Powers, slayer of five, today maintained his silence as officers attempted to penetrate his early history.

Simeon C. Bond, deputy sheriff, and Carl B. Southern, city detective, were running down clews in Uniontown, Pa., tonight, after they found that Charles Rogers, former Pittsburgh, Pa., school official, was not an accomplice of Powers. Since Powers' arrest he has blamed the slaying of Mrs. Esta Buick Eicher and her three children, of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke of Northboro, Mass., on Rogers. Authorities here learned that a Charles Rogers resided in Pittsburgh and formerly worked in Oklahoma oil fields where Powers lived for several years. But the Charles Rogers in Pittsburgh is not acquainted with the mail order lover, the officers learned.

Sheriff Grimm will leave tomorrow for Uniontown to examine bank records in his first step to recover $15,000 in cash, bonds, and clothing which Powers seized several days before he killed Mrs. Lemke. Two checks signed by Mrs. Lemke and drawn on her account in a Northboro, Mass., bank, were cashed by Powers. The checks were for $2,754 and $1,533. Uniontown bank officials today identified photographs of Powers as the man who cashed the checks. Sheriff Grimm has qualified as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Lemke. Suit has already been started in Circuit court to recover her property.

Transfer Damage Cases in New York.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Civil actions for damages totaling $15,000 against three Buffalo dry agents, brought by Alton Baird, 27 year old son of an Irving, N. Y., hotel man, whom they are alleged to have beaten, will not be tried in the courts of Chautauqua county, where the alleged beating occurred and where there is said to have been considerable feeling against the agents.

These actions, which seek $5,000 from each of the agents, Edward Baker, Fred Wilson, and James Mahoney, were ordered transferred into federal court today by U. S. District Judge John K. Night.

This leaves the only action against the agents remaining in Chautauqua county's courts the criminal one, in which they are charged with assault, second degree. The agents are out under bail of $500 each pending action next week in Mayville, Chautauqua county seat.

Reason Is Given.

The court's order today, received by Robert P. Galloway, Silver Creek, attorney for Baird, stated the reason for the transfer was that the men's predicament resulted from their performance of official duties.

It had previously been announced by Richard H. Templeton, U. S. district attorney, that legal defense for the three men in both the criminal and civil actions would be provided by his department.

The men are alleged to have made the attack while raiding the Baird hotel, Irving, when the alleged victim's father, John Baird, was cited for alleged violation of the liquor laws.

Two gas drillers, who assert they were present at the time, declared the agents were intoxicated, and furnished affidavits to that effect.

These men, now in Bradford, Pa., will be on hand Monday in Mayville to testify before the grand jury, Mr. Galloway said he had been informed.

Woodcock Has New Weapon.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The federal prohibition bureau has laid new plans for punishing—by heavy taxation—some of the dry law violators who escape criminal fines or imprisonment.

It was learned on high authority today that Director Woodcock has issued revised orders for bringing civil action against certain speakeasy operators and bootleggers.

Under these orders no effort will be made to collect civil fines or penalties from violators against whom criminal proceedings are contemplated. Nor will such actions be brought against those acquitted in the courts.

Taxes and Penalties High.

Possible taxes and penalties might range into six figures. Under the revenue act of 1926, for example, a tax of $1.10 a gallon is imposed on spirits for nonbeverage purposes. If converted to beverage use, however, the tax jumps to $5.30. Thus the illegal diversion of less than 20,000 gallons of alcohol would bring the tax to more than $100,000.

BROADWAY WATCHES FUNERAL PARADE OF OLD MAN DEPRESSION

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Thirsty Broadway was sorely tried today. While the thermometer turned backflips beneath a broiling sun, half a dozen autos, preceded by a band and laden with placards, wound through the Times Square section proclaiming the distinct advantages of good wine and honest beer. There wasn't a dry eye from Eighth to Third avenue.

First came a somewhat embarrassed cop, marching at the head of the procession to prove it was all legal. At his heels walked a professional funeral band, filling the air with dirges. Then a motor hearse, and trailing this a half dozen open cars sporting a placard or two apiece with legends such as:

"Obituary: O. M. Mal'affaire [Old Man Depression] was born against our wish and lived too long. He was a son of Delirium and Avarice, who died Nov. 6, 1929. He was a miserable creature and caused a great deal of unhappiness and distress. We bury him with a determination to obliterate his influence."

The only hitch in the obsequies was that the hearse that ambled along in second gear was quite obviously untenanted.

Gov. Emmerson Refuses to Tell Plans.

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Still apparently victorious in their moves to circumvent efforts by two Circuit judges to close the dog races at the Madison Kennel club, promoters of the track advertised business as usual tonight.

The two judges of the Circuit court who have tried for more than ten days to close the track, Judges Louis Bernreuter and Henry Miller, made their latest move today in the form of a personal plea to Gov. Emmerson at Springfield to establish martial law in Madison county and send state militia to close the track. The governor, however, after the conference with the judges at his office, declined to say whether he would take any action, and there the matter stood.

Injunction Blocks Police.

The judges went to the governor after more than a score of state highway police under Chief Walter Moody, sent by the governor to aid the judges in their attempts to serve orders and injunctions, were blocked in an attempted raid by another injunction from Circuit Judge Jesse Brown restraining the sheriff and state's attorney from interfering with operation of the track. Judge Brown, the third judge in the circuit who blocked orders from the other two judges about ten days ago with a restraining order, said the police could act only in highway cases.

Light Injunction Falls.

Another injunction which the two judges issued yesterday, seeking to restrain the electric light companies from furnishing light and power to the track but which was not served in time to halt last night's races, attended by about 10,000 persons, still was pending. While no statements were forthcoming it was indicated that injunction also would be ignored.

Meantime, Judge Brown had requested State's Attorney Alvin C. Bohm by letter to seek from Atty. Gen. Carlstrom "Instructions and directions" as to how to proceed. Judge Brown assured Bohm of his determination to "see these matters legally settled in court," and informed him also that in entering any order or orders that I have entered I have been prompted by a willingness that the whole matter should be settled judicially for all time."

pound will be added to the income tax, making a standard rate of five shillings a pound [about $1.25 for every $5], or 25 per cent. This, however, will chiefly affect private incomes. He also announced an increase of 10 per cent in allowances to industrial companies for wear and tear on plants, thus offsetting most of the increased taxation.

Rentiers will be hit and hit hard, as well as the recipients of small earned incomes. Mr. Snowden announced he would revise the income tax exemptions so as to bring within the real taxpaying class many persons earning small salaries and who now pay nothing, or very little. He announced reductions in present exemptions on incomes of $675 annually for single persons and $1,125 for married persons to $500 and $750, respectively. Allowances for children, now $300 for the first born and $250 for each subsequent child, are reduced to $250 and $200.

These figures drew groans of astonishment from the Labor benches. This means that for the first time in history a majority of the British trade unionists are liable to pay an income tax, which they have always looked upon as an impost on the rich and one which could be increased at will.

Surtax Rate Boosted.

Mr. Snowden then turned to the surtax payers, who are liable under the five shilling basic rate to a tax of twelve shillings six pence in the pound [about $3 in $5], but that is not enough. He is adding another 10 per cent on top of this, which will make the rich man fork over about fourteen shillings of every pound [$3.50 of every $5] he receives.

These increases in the income tax are expected to yield $145,000,000 this year and $285,000,000 next year.

The Briton's little luxuries will cost him more. Mr. Snowden announced an increase in the excise tax on beer of a penny [about 2 cents] a pint, and an 8 pence per pound [about 16 cents] increase on tobacco. This brings the tobacco tax to $2.25 a pound, or considerably more than half of the retail sale price of pipe tobacco and cigarets.

Gas Tax Also Raised.

The motorist is also penalized with an extra tax of two pence per gallon on gasoline, making a total tax of eight pence per gallon [about 16 cents]. Movie goers also must pay their share of the costs. There is already an entertainment tax on the higher priced seats, but Mr. Snowden has extended it to all and made it a flat 16 2-3 per cent tax. This revenue alone is expected to total $12,500,000 annually.

Contrary to expectation, tea, coffee, and sugar escaped taxation, thus preserving the ideal free breakfast table for which Mr. Snowden has always stood.

Economies Are Listed.

The emergency national government's proposed economies are made up of the following items:

Reductions in salaries of cabinet ministers, members of parliament, judges, civil servants, and members of defense forces	$ 22,670,000
Reduction in the cost of defense services, other than pay and pensions reductions	25,000,000
Education retrenchment	51,500,000
Reductions in university grants	750,000
Health services retrenchments	6,250,000
Police pay reductions	2,500,000
Agricultural savings	3,275,000
Forestry savings	3,390,000
Empire marketing board savings	1,250,000
Colonial development fund savings	1,250,000
Reduction in grants for jobs to create work	2,500,000
Unemployment insurance, including $50,000,000 increase in contributions	179,000,000
Road fund reduction	39,325,000
Miscellaneous reductions	12,500,000
Total	$350,160,000

How Salaries Will Be Cut.

Salaries of cabinet members are to be reduced 20 per cent on incomes of $25,000 per year or over, 15 per cent on salaries from $10,000 to $25,000, and on salaries below $10,000 10 per cent. Salaries of members of parliament will also be reduced 10 per cent. Salaries of judges and officers of the crown are to be reduced 20 per cent on those of $25,000 or over and 10 per cent on those of $10,000 to $25,000.

In the case of the police there will be graduated pay reductions for the year, commencing with $1.25 per week for constables earning from $17.50 to $23.75 per week.

Cuts in unemployment insurance show a 10 per cent reduction in the weekly benefit rates except for a dependent child. For instance, a man now receiving $4.25 per week will, under the new rate, receive only $3.81. A woman's rate is reduced from $3.75 per week to $3.37; a young man, from $3.50 to $3.12; a young woman, from $3 to $2.68; boys 17 years old, from $2.25 to $2, and girls, from $1.87 to $1.50.

The estimated saving from this 10 per cent reduction is $64,000,000. Weekly contributions from employers, employés, and the exchequer are to be increased to 20 cents each, or boosting the employers' contribution 4 cents, the employés' 6 cents, and the exchequer's 5 cents.

Jobless sinsurance benefits are to be limited as distinct from transitional payments, are to be limited to 26 weeks in a benefit year. This will save, it is estimated, $50,000,000. No loans can be made beyond the statutory limit already authorized. Any sums necessary to balance the fund are to be provided by an exchequer grant out of current revenue.

Reductions under the head of education show a decrease of 15 per cent in teachers' salaries and abolition of the 50 per cent minimum limit of the grant for elementary education.

"Finishes Disagreeable Task."

"I have finished my very disagreeable task," said Mr. Snowden in conclusion. "These proposals are admitedly drastic and disagreeable. They are justified only by the regrettable necessity urged upon us by the present financial position of the nation, but I have received during the last few weeks most amasing evidence of the willingness of men and women of all classes to make their contribution to this effort.

"This morning my post was like the post of every day for weeks past. Old age pensioners have returned their pension books. War pensioners have offered to forego pensions for a year. National war savings certificates have been returned canceled.

"Postal orders, large and small, pour in. Children have sent from their savings boxes shillings and half-crowns to help the nation in its need. Factory girls have come to me with collections taken in workshops, and today, following many other similar gifts, I received a five per cent war loan bond for $5,000 to be canceled.

All May Contribute.

"These proposals that I have submitted give everybody an opportunity of contributing. I have tried as best I could to spread the burden of sacrifice as fairly evenly as human ingenuity can devise, to balance the budget with a deficit of $850,000,000, to spend as we are doing this year at the expense of the exchequer something like $500,000,000 for the relief of unemployment is an achievement which no country in the world has ever attempted.

"The house of commons will, I believe, accept these proposals and the country will accept them, and in so doing they will show to the world an example of indomitable British spirit in the face of difficulty."

"England Yet Shall Stand."

Mr. Snowden paused to take a breath and, shaking his gaunt hands at the Labor opposition, he shouted out these last words, a quotation:

"All our past proclaims our future;
Shakespeare's voice and Nelson's hand,
Milton's faith and Wordsworth's trust,
In this, our chosen and chainless land,
Bear us witness, come the world against her,
England yet shall stand."

The strain of delivering the address, which lasted an hour and a half, told upon the frail chancellor. There was a moment of silence as he flung his crippled body into a chair. Then bedlam broke loose and parliament and lām broke loose and parliament gave him a great ovation.

The commons adjourned after agreeing, without a vote, to place the new taxes in operation at once.

HERE'S HOW BRITAIN EXPECTS TO END ITS FINANCIAL DISTRESS

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Here are the main budget proposals submitted to the house of commons today:

TAXES.

Income—Standard rate raised six pence, bringing it to five shillings in the pound [about $1.25 in $5], or 25 per cent.

Beer—Increased one penny [two American cents] a pint.

Gasoline—Increased two pence [4 cents] a gallon.

Entertainment—Movies and legitimate theaters, increased 16 2-3 per cent.

SAVINGS.

Dole—Cut 10 per cent.

School teachers' wages—Cut 15 per cent.

Civil servants of all kinds, from cabinet ministers down—Pay cuts ranging as high as 20 per cent.

Heavy reductions in outlay for defense services, education and road fund.

RECAPITULATION.

This year—Economies, 110 million dollars; savings on debt redemption, $68,500,000; new taxation and inland revenue, $145,000,000; customs and excise, $57,500,000 combined. They turn an estimated deficit of $373,395,000 into a surplus of $7,500,000.

Next year—Economies, $350,000,000; debt savings, $100,000,000; new taxation and inland revenue, $287,500,000; customs and excise, $120,000,000. Combined they turn an estimated deficit of $850,000,000 into a surplus of $7,500,000.

LABOR PROTESTS FAIL; SANITARY PAY CUT STANDS

Despite protests from at least ten labor organizations, the sanitary district board stood firm yesterday on its previous action taking two weeks' pay from all sanitary district employés. The cut affects about 1,400 men and women, and is expected to mean a saving of about $194,000. The money is to be taken out of the pay checks over a period extending to the first of the year.

"Retrenchment is absolutely necessary," said President Thomas J. Bowler, following the meeting. "True, we are within our budget, but with taxes coming in so slowly we are faced with the likelihood of being at the same time outside our income. Moreover, the cut represents a saving to the district, and will not go to the governor's relief committee, as has been intimated."

A contract was let to the Herlihy Mid-Continent Construction company for the construction of the Calumet sewage treatment plan, at 125th street and Cottage Grove avenue. The bid was $2,182,796 and the contract calls for construction of two batteries of aeration tanks, two batteries of final settling tanks, and two operating galleries. The work will employ about 500 men.

YANKS HAVE CAUSE TO CHEER AFTER PEEK AT BRITISH INCOME TAX

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—American income taxpayers may well be happy with their lot as compared with their British brothers, in view of the proposed increases outlined by Chancellor Snowden today in the house of commons.

An American single man or woman with a salary of $2,000 pays only $5.62 income tax after deducting the allowed exemption and making no other allowable deductions. Under the new British rates a single man with the same income will pay approximately $375.

The married man with a $2,000 income in the United States pays no income tax; in Britain he will pay $312.50 tax, while one with an income of $4,000 would pay $812.50. An American married man with a $4,000 income would pay $5.62. A married man with one child and a $4,000 income in England will pay $725 under the new rates, while one with similar income and a child in the United States pays only $1.12.

ENDS HIS LIFE AT 66.

BAILEY STANDS FOR PRINCIPLE, EVEN IN JAIL

Edward C. Bailey, 35 years old, 1706 Dodge avenue, Evanston, who took a dog away from Evanston's official dog catcher, Ernest Erickson, on Aug. 27, was fined $10 and costs of $10.50 more yesterday by a jury in the court of Magistrate Max Borchardt.

But Mr. Bailey did not pay his fine. He announced in a loud voice that he would not pay a dime. So the magistrate said he could work out the $20.50 at the rate of 50 cents a day in the Bridewell.

"It is the principle of the thing," said Mr. Bailey. "I do not like to see dogs taken to the pound and killed. If I had it to do over, I would save that dog again."

Young Bandit Killed by His Intended Victim

Andrew Paholek, 19 years old, 4820 South Ada street, was shot to death yesterday when he and a companion tried to hold up Andrew Hlodin, 1397 West 49th street, in an areaway at 4854 Throop street. Hlodin told the police that he grabbed a revolver from Paholek and shot the youth with it, but the slain robber's companion, Benjamin Revers, 18 years old, 4824 South Ada street, said Hlodin had fired his own gun. Revers confessed to several other robberies and was held, as was Hlodin.

STORE BANDITS MAKE BOY WAIT ON A CUSTOMER

Three bandits yesterday entered the grocery of Mrs. Eva Wexler at 2661 West Jackson boulevard, and forced her, her sons, Abraham, 16 years old, and Hyman, 14; Jack Miller, 16, of 2310 West 19th street, and John Williams, Negro porter, into a rear room and then they took $25 from Mrs. Wexler. At that moment a patron walked into the store.

"Please go and wait on the customer," urged one of the robbers, prodding Abraham with his gun. Which Abraham did. After the customer departed Abraham was called back and made to lie on the floor.

The brief business transaction added a few cents to the store till. It also added to the robbery loot, making the bandits' total $93.

Less handicapped nowadays

"New ideas on personal hygiene responsible," says doctor

THE DOCTOR in a leading women's college was comparing this generation of girls with those of 25 years ago.

"We don't have nearly so many illness excuses from girls nowadays," he said. "Not even at those times when there is perfectly good reason for their feeling below par. For one thing, girls have learned how important it is to keep their systems functioning normally at all times. And at times when they are most likely to be upset and thrown off balance, they take special measures."

What doctors advise girls to use on such occasions is Nujol—a spoonful every night for several days beforehand helps to keep everything normal even under abnormal conditions. For it contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the famous Nujol Laboratories, 2 Park Avenue, New York City. Try this treatment for the next three months, and see if it doesn't make things much easier for you. You'll wonder how you ever did without it.

Be sure you get the genuine.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a sure movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

MAYOR SUGGESTS CHARITY DAY TO AID CITY'S NEEDY

Asks Movies, Sunday Races to Swell Funds.

A charity day at all theaters, movies, and golf courses, together with Sunday horse racing at the Hawthorne track, was among the suggestions made yesterday by Mayor Cermak for obtaining money for the distressed families of Cook county.

MR. PEABODY. [Kaufman & Fabry Photo.]

By these means the mayor believes that several hundred thousand dollars could be obtained. His estimate is based largely upon the success of the Cub-Sox baseball game on Wednesday, when 34,865 persons paid $44,489 to see the game and to aid charity to that amount.

Sunday horse racing and betting are now prohibited by statute but the mayor believes that needs of a large part of the population would justify extraordinary measures.

Will Seek Golf Course Aids.

"I'm going to request Chick Evans to urge all of the golf courses to turn over their receipts for a selected day" said the mayor, "and I am going to ask the movie houses and other theaters to have an unemployment day."

The mayor is working in harmony with the emergency relief organization which is already realizing some of the problems of raising $8,800,000. The organization for this campaign is going on daily.

Yesterday Samuel Insull Jr. announced the appointment of Stuyvesant Peabody as head of the division on city-wide activities. This is the third general group for which a chairman has been selected.

Hutchins Heads Special Gifts.

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, heads the special gifts division whose task is to obtain several thousand dollars each from several thousand well to do citizens of Chicago. The drive for funds from the trades, industries, and professions is to be directed by Charles S. Dewey. In addition to these, contributions are to be solicited from each of eight areas of Chicago through neighborhood organizations. Each district will have about 75 community organizations and a solicitor will be put in charge of each. This is the job assigned to Mr. Peabody.

The campaign on the city-wide basis and among the trades industries and professions will start about the middle of October, although the drive for the large gifts from individuals probably will begin earlier.

Burke May Be Boomed for State's Attorney

Judge Joseph Burke of the Circuit court may be hailed as a candidate for state's attorney, it is said, at the annual picnic of the 50th ward regular Democratic organization tomorrow. The picnic is to be held at Engstler's grove, Lincoln and Devon avenues. Judge Burke is chairman of the reception committee.

119 YEARS OLD

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Thomas E. Kemp celebrated what he said was his 119th birthday here today.

The centenerian-plus came to town from his farm home, 5 miles northwest of this city, and established headquarters at a local newspaper office.

"They say I'm not 119 years old, but back in Huntingdon, Tenn., where I was born, they have checked up and found that I am right."

Hundreds of persons visited the patriarch during the day and gave him their best wishes. So far as is known he is the oldest man in Missouri.

"I wish Ben could be here," Kemp said, referring to Benjamin Hodge, another Butler county man, who claims he will be 119 years old on Dec. 22. Hodge and Kemp met for the first time recently.

4 BLUE ISLAND FIREMEN TO FACE ARSON CASE QUIZ

Three Blue Island firemen and a volunteer will be taken before the fire committee of the Blue Island city council tonight, in its investigation into the disappearance of records and evidence in an alleged arson case. They are charged with dereliction of duty and insubordination. The men are Charles Boehly, Charles Desgen, and Allan Kollman, regular firemen, and Frank Ulrich, a lieutenant in the volunteer force.

After the men had extinguished a blaze in a frame house at 7 West Vermont street, on the outskirts of Blue Island, on Tuesday night, they found a can of gasoline and oil soaked rags in the embers. They took the evidence back to the station and Ulrich wrote out a report. According to the charges, however, Ulrich failed to report the matter to Capt. John Sauerbier when he went off duty in the morning. The records and evidence have since disappeared.

The state fire marshal's office has been investigating the fire. Mrs. Mary Jenjenny, owner of the house, has been questioned, but denies any knowledge of the origin of the blaze. The place had been raided several times in the last few weeks as a disorderly house and its occupants arrested.

BRITISH SUPPORT ITALY'S PLAN FOR ARMS HOLIDAY

BULLETIN.

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, denouncing "the crime of war," promised the league assembly today France's strongest support for the success of the disarmament conference, but said that the problem of security remains "a question mark" which the nations must face

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—Complete confirmation that the Italians are ready to introduce a concrete proposal for an armament holiday by all the nations of the world, at least until after the international disarmament conference in February, was obtained today through an Italian official spokesman. The idea is believed to have been put in Italy's ear by American Secretary of State Stimson.

VISCOUNT CECIL.

It was the unexpected enthusiastic support of Foreign Minister Grandi's suggestion by Lord Cecil of Great Britain in a speech before the league of nations assembly this morning that brought the Italians out into the open. Their spokesman today declared that Italy was only waiting for the signatures of a few other countries to introduce the resolution, calling for "legal" machinery to put the holiday into immediate effect.

Germany Backs Proposal.

It was indicated that the Germans had already agreed to sign the resolution. The Scandinavian bloc, it was given to understand, would join the movement. Japan has not yet been approached, but the Italians think it is not at all unlikely that they will agree if the proponents muster sufficiently impressive forces.

Lord Cecil did not specifically promise that the British delegates would sponsor the introduction of this resolution but he said that they completely approved Sig. Grandi's suggestion and had urged him to put it into concrete form. Under the circumstances, the Italians believe that the British would be ready to add their signature to a conservatively worded motion.

This motion, it is understood, would recommend a study of the practicability of Sig. Grandi's idea, and would suggest the constitution of a special body to consider ways and means with power to secure rapid action. The presumable course would be to draft a convention which would be submitted to the assembly for approval and then sent for signature by the league's secretariat to all nations participating in the conference, including the United States and Russia.

The plans include the suspension of new naval construction, budgetary appropriations, erection of naval bases, land fortifications, and the stabilization of air forces to present levels.

Proposes Long Holiday.

To these provisions the Italian spokesman added the significant suggestion that all countries maintaining compusory military service should not augment the period of service, and that countries maintaining professional armies should agree similarly not to increase their effectives.

According to Italian ideas the holiday would not be for a fixed period, but would start as soon as all governments had signed the agreement and would last until the close of the conference—possibly a year or two.

Naturally they are prepared to meet bitter opposition from the French, who see in Sig. Grandi's proposal a maneuver to postpone the conference, which they now insist must take place according to schedule without any fancy additions.

Nations "Plot" Against France.

As a result of all this France is now said to be "on the spot."

The latest maneuver was the postponement of a speech by Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany, scheduled to be delivered this afternoon, until Saturday. This will give the disarmament bloc the last word as Foreign Minister Briand of France will defend the French thesis tomorrow. The speech of Lord Cecil likewise calculated to put the French in a bad position.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS RECEIVES FIGURES ON ARMS FROM ITALY

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Italy's memorandum on Italian armaments, prepared as part of the data for the disarmament conference next year, reached the secretariat of the league of nations today.

Tables accompanying the statement show that Italy might lay claim in time of peace to an army of about 500,000 men, whereas she actually has about 250,000.

The total number of airplanes in service was given as 1,581 and the total war budget was placed at more than $300,000,000.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE INTERRUPTION OF FOREIGN TRADE.

The people of the United States, and especially the business community, would do well to draw a conclusion from their present situation which they are likely to overlook. We have been told frequently since the depression began and now probably realize that the cutting down of our exports, by reason of the inability of other depressed countries to buy our commodities, is one of the chief causes of our difficulties. We are suffering, in other words, from an acute stoppage of our foreign trade. Our people will profitably consider that this stoppage which is affecting their prosperity, producing unemployment of widest extent, the impairment of investment, foreclosure, loss of savings, etc., can be brought about otherwise than by world-wide depression.

It can be brought about in the future, as it has been in the past, by war. Not merely war in which we are ourselves engaged, but also wars in which we have no military part, wars of other nations in which we are innocent bystanders. Wars, like panics and depressions, interrupt trade. No resolution on the part of the American people to eschew war will save it from consequences created by wars between other nations. We may profit by some of these. We may find that others result in some such consequences as we are now suffering from, the interruption or reduction of our foreign trade in this time of peace.

It is the failure of the American people of this generation to realize their substantial interest in the maintenance of their foreign trade, and therefore of their ability to send and receive goods over the thoroughfares of the seas, that has permitted a complaisant acceptance of repeated reductions of our naval power. We have assumed that if we retain enough power to prevent or discourage invasion we have done all that we need do to protect our interests. But a little reflection, especially at this time, should waken us to our vital interest in adequate means of defending our communications with the world and preventing unnecessary stoppage of our foreign trade. To the western farmer this is a vital concern, as he ought to realize at this time. To the millions of workers in factories and merchant establishments, to every inhabitant of our country, who is now suffering as all, rich and poor, are suffering at this time.

The diplomatic controversies of recent years, and notably the discussion of the limitation upon cruisers, have had little attention, we suspect, from our people. Assuming we are safe from invasion, their interest was small in what seemed a mere complicated wrangling of little practical moment. What interest they felt arose from national pride and a natural partisanship for any American contention. But although American opinion is not as well informed upon our maritime responsibilities as it ought to be, there is some encouraging evidence that our recent conferences have begun to turn American thought to the broader aspects of our naval policy and even the practical bearing upon our prosperity of such technical questions as our quota and type of cruisers. In other words, we are beginning to realize that security from invasion is not the only important mission of our navy any more than it is the only important concern of the British navy, but that it is of first rate importance to the nation and to all its people that our navy should be at all times adequate to protect the foreign commerce and communication upon which the prosperity of the nation, as we now have reason to realize, so largely depends.

WIRE TAPPING.

The department of justice has directed the nolprossing—that is, dismissing—of cases supported by evidence procured by wire tapping. This is probably the result of refusal by juries to give weight to evidence so obtained, but we should prefer to believe it a recognition on the part of the department of a bad public policy involved. It is true that by a five to four decision the Supreme court has approved this method of obtaining evidence, though in a case in which the law of a state was violated by federal agents in so doing. But the chief justice intimated that congress was free to prohibit the introduction of such evidence, and, though congress has not yet taken the hint, it is certainly not improper or inadvisable for the department of justice to recognize not merely the inexpediency but the impolicy of practicing or rewarding this invasion of private right.

The opinions delivered by Justices Holmes and Brandeis, two of the four dissenting justices, were cogent and powerful, and expressed undoubtedly the sense of the American public on this practice. Mr. Justice Holmes referred to it as "dirty business," and Mr. Justice Brandeis declared that "the government ought not to use evidence obtained and only obtainable by a criminal act." "It is desirable," he said, "that criminals should be detected, and to that end that all available evidence should be used. It also is desirable that the government should not itself foster and pay for other crimes when they are the means by which the evidence is obtained."

In some states wire tapping is not a crime, but in every state and in the nation it should be restrained by law. Certainly where evidence has been obtained by unlawful and improper invasions of privacy, agencies of government should not be permitted to profit by it. Congress at the next session should forbid it. Our zeal for the detection and punishment of crime should not obscure the importance of preserving the liberties of the citizen, and this is especially important at a time when we are defining as crimes or misdemeanors many acts which hitherto have been lawful and even respectable, and which do not offend the conscience of millions of good citizens.

GOOD WORK, SEALER GREIN.

One of the sharpest contrasts between the present administration and its predecessor appears in the city sealer's office. Mr. Serritella has been replaced by Mr. Joseph Grein. What a difference! Mr. Grein is, in fact, making a record in practical public service that few if any of his predecessors equaled or approached. In his hands the job has become a dynamic public service, especially for the protection of people of limited means. At such a time as this his protection is especially needed and he is giving it to the limit of his powers. There is nothing more despicable than cheating the small buyers, and a system protected by rotten politics had grown up to fleece them regularly. Mr. Grein has gone after this system with an ax, with Mayor Cermak's firm support. It deserves and will have the support of all good citizens as well as the gratitude of the people who in these trying days especially need the protection of the law.

Another similar evil should be attacked by the proper authorities, and that is the exaction of lawless money lenders, who are making harvest of hard pressed people in need of financial help. The laws governing usury should at all times be vigorously enforced and especially now. There is provision for unsecured loans at comparatively moderate rates which borrowers who perhaps most need it do not know about. A campaign of publicity would be useful, but it should be backed by a vigorous punishment of usurers.

BEATING THE STARTING GUN.

Mr. Gar Wood now says that he did not beat the gun at the start of the latest Harmsworth trophy race in order to lure his opponent, Mr. Kaye Don, into following his example and thus disqualifying himself. Mr. Wood's statement raises the question of veracity as between him and the reporters who quoted him. The later statement serves, at any rate, to show that if Mr. Wood did trick his opponent he now regrets it, as well he might.

The international motor boat race at Detroit as it was first reported sheds no glory on either of the principal participants. The question to be decided was whether Mr. Wood's boat was faster than Mr. Don's. Mr. Don refused to grant a delay in the start until Mr. Wood could repair a broken gasoline tank. Thereupon, according to Mr. Wood's first statement, he resolved to employ a ruse to prevent Mr. Don from winning. Mr. Wood had a third entry in the race which then would be declared winner. Under the letter of the racing rules, perhaps, the conduct of both men can be justified, but under the unwritten code of sportsmanlike conduct they both fell far short of the ideal.

The essence of sportsmanship is a nice balance between the desire to win and the desire to give the opponent every opportunity to do his best. It is not unsportsmanlike when a pitcher throws the ball to the spot which he knows is the batter's weakness, but it is unsportsmanlike to attempt to beam the batter, regardless of what the rules may say. It is a matter for regret that the race at Detroit, which attracted such wide attention, should have provided so sorry a lesson in sportsmanship. If such contests are not to be an example in friendly rivalry it is difficult to see what purpose they serve.

Editorial of the Day

[The Cedar Rapids Evening Gazette.]

Iowans who have viewed with suspicion the state income tax which still looms as a possible additional burden in this state, despite its defeat in the last general assembly, doubtless find their convictions appreciably strengthened by the glib manner in which Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York last week proposed a 50 per cent increase in the income tax rates of that state to provide money for unemployment relief. The daring proposal and the passively approving attitude of the state legislature in receiving it illustrates aptly the many warnings voiced in Iowa last winter to the effect that an income tax, once established, is easily increased at the slightest political provocation. Even Republican party leaders in the New York legislature were tractable, announcing themselves "in full accord" with the "fundamentals" of the governor's plan, and predicting that "if any differences arise they will be over details" which should be "susceptible to adjustment without much delay."

Try to imagine such feeble resistance to a proposal to increase by 50 per cent the tax burden on real and personal property! Even for so worthy a cause as relief of the unemployed, state legislators would be extremely wary and inquisitive about the "fundamentals" of any such proposal.

It is interesting to note that the sugar coating of the proposed New York income tax boost bears a strong resemblance to that of the proposed entering wedge in Iowa. So widely diffused would be the burden that the taxpayers scarcely would notice it!

"You will observe," noted Gov. Roosevelt, "that the burden placed upon the man with small income is slight indeed; the single man with an income of $3,000, for example, will pay an additional tax of only $2.50; the married man with a family, earning $10,000 a year, will pay an additional tax of only $26. . . . There were approximately 300,000 personal income taxpayers this year. [Population of New York, 12,588,066]. By spreading this burden among those people, few of them will feel it to an appreciable extent and the whole body of our income-making citizenry will be sustaining their fair share of the burden."

If such arguments can be accepted unprotestingly by legislators as justification for a 50 per cent increase in a state income tax, it would seem hardly necessary to advance any justifying arguments for lesser increases to take care of the continual demands of special interests. By such easy stages do income taxes grow.

MAKING THE "CHILLER" SAFE.

THERE is a fairly new treatment of malaria that is superior to the old methods in two important particulars. In after treatment with the old methods one was always in danger of having a relapse after the cure. Getting wet or chilled was likely to cause the chills to start in again, and sometimes they came back without any known cause. The new method does away with that danger—or the greater part of it.

Another shortcoming of the old method was that the disease was contagious, in a certain sense, during the treatment and even for some time thereafter. In the old days a man with the chills was a dangerous household article. He infected the mosquitoes on the premises and they infected the other members of the family. Every doctor who has practiced medicine in a malarial district has known of families in which everybody was down with the chills.

The history of such a family is usually that one member becomes infected, has a chill or a batch of them, infects the mosquitoes on the premises, and within a month the entire family is indulging in the same luxury. The advantage of the new method is that the sick person does not endanger the other members of the family.

Dr. R. L. Miller gives his way of treating malaria by the new method. He begins by giving twenty grains of quinine and one grain of plasmochin daily until he breaks the chills. Generally three days is all the time required for this. On the first day he generally gives a purge of some kind [and a dose of oil is as good as any]. He follows the quinine by giving two tablets of plasmochin compound three times daily for five days. Then follow four days without any treatment. After this there are five more days of plasmochin treatment, followed by nother four day interval. Then follow plasmochine compound periods and rest periods in rotation, until plasmochin compound has been taken on twenty days.

The United Fruit company method differs from Dr. Miller's in that he uses very much less plasmochin compound. They give a small dose of quinine on the days when he is giving small doses of plasmochin compound. They also see that the patients under treatment for malaria are well fed and that they get an iron tonic.

The plasmochin mixture destroys those forms of the malarial parasite that infect mosquitoes and thus spread the disease. These are also the forms that are most liable to cause relapses. Quinine has no equal as a remedy for destroying the parasite in the chill producing form.

PROBABLY DUE TO INFECTION.

Mrs. J. M. B. writes: What causes my eyes to matter?

REPLY.

You probably have conjunctivitis due to some infection. Ordinary pink-eye is a mild form of conjunctivitis due to an infection and it gets well promptly without treatment. Conjunctivitis due to certain infections is a very grave condition.

BLOOD PRESSURE FOOD.

V. A. S. writes: Will you suggest a list of foods that a person with high blood pressure should eat?

REPLY.

The control of blood pressure covers much besides diet. In fact, dieting is in the second rank as a means of controlling high blood pressure.

Do not eat heavy meals. Do not gorge with food. Eat meats and eggs in moderation. Live principally on bread, cereals, vegetables, fruits, and milk.

Do not tolerate constipation. If there are heart and kidney complications and dropsy is present, limit sharply the amount of salt eaten.

I have a booklet on abnormal blood pressure which you can get by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

SHOES AND CORNS.

R. H. writes: Is there something which will cure corns? Having them cut seems to make them grow more.

REPLY.

The corn remedies sold in drug stores, if properly used, will cure corns in the sense that they remove the mass. However, corns always return after removal, if the cause continues to operate. The only cure, in the proper sense, is to change shoes. Shoes that do not rub do not cause corns.

OVERDUE NOTE.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I hold a note from a party over 21 who lives with his parents. The note is now a little over two weeks past due. He states he is at present unemployed. 1. Please advise method of collection. 2. Could I accept in part payment smaller amounts and in accordance endorse the note? 3. Should he become employed how can I take steps for early payment? H. H. H.

2. Yes.
3. Employ an attorney to ask judgment on the note, after which you would be in a position to collect by garnishment.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ORDINANCE PASSED.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—Is paving contemplated of Peterson avenue west of the river in the neighborhood of Milwaukee avenue? Is there to be a bridge built? W. J. B.

We have looked up our records and find that an ordinance for paving Peterson avenue between Menard and Nagle avenues was passed May 15, 1929. As to the question of a bridge to be built, the writer should communicate with the county highway department, County building, Chicago, as this is beyond the city limits and would come under their jurisdiction.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN,
Secretary, Board of Local Improvements.

NO PLACE FOR TRUCKS.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Friend of the People.]—What can one do to prevent peddlers' large trucks being lined up on Sundays, nights, and mornings on Clifton Park avenue between 16th and 18th streets, disgracing the neighborhood and taking away parking places for our automobiles? G. W.

Members on post duty and Ford auto duty have been assigned to the investigation of this complaint and they have ordered several truck owners to remove their trucks from the street, which they promptly agreed to do. A close surveillance will be kept over this location to see that this command is obeyed. JOHN H. ALCOCK,
Acting Commissioner of Police.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SCIENTISTS FAIL to alarm us by talking of the end of the world, because they put the date so far in the future. Sir Francis Younghusband says the sun will be radiated away in heat and that the earth will get so cold that nothing will be able to live on it. That statement might get us excited enough to go out and buy a lot of red flannel undies and a fur coat, but Sir Francis says this won't happen until "a certain number of millions of years." That's too indefinite; it sounds like the time the drys give when prohibition will become effective. Or the date for the completion of the new Chicago postoffice or the Chicago subway. If the scientists would only be a little more explicit and tell us how many thousands of millions of years, one, two, or a dozen, whatever it is, we would commence to take a little interest in the end of the world. But right now we are more excited over whether or not Cal Coolidge is going to be the Republican nominee for the presidency next year.

THE LOCUST.

Brown are the fields of the summer,
Thwarted and dwarfed the corn ears,
Rusted the wheat in the ripening—
The locust of Joel the prophet,
The locust hath eaten the years.

Waste is the vine—and the apple;
Bleating, the herds voice their fears;
Slimed are the rivers of waters—
The locust of Joel the prophet,
The locust hath eaten the years.

Drought eating clouds pass above us,
Mocking and railing at tears,
Virgins lament for the springtime—
The locust of Joel the prophet,
The locust hath eaten the years.

Fair lies the road of our going,
Luring, its smoothness appears,
What spells the journey, my children?
The locust of Joel the prophet,

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

THE ENGLISH are so mad about Gar Wood slipping one over on Kaye Don that Ramsay MacDonald could not only reduce the dole ten per cent now without a murmur but he could cut it down to a bus ticket and a canceled postage stamp once a month and they wouldn't care. All they ask now is to bombard New York and carry home Gar Wood and chop off his head in the Tower of London.

THE SPIRITUALISTS, now holding a world's congress at The Hague, make us wonder after all if we have not been too sweeping in some of the irreverent remarks we have made about messages from the other side of the river Styx. Anyhow, they publish a message from Conan Doyle that makes us stop and consider. We have always claimed that the only message the spiritualists ever received from the land of shadows was: "Do not weep for me. I am very happy here." To us there was a lack of originality or of great erudition or culture in that message. We insisted that a person of even ordinary mental ability who journeyed to the spirit world would send back a message a little more informative and interesting than "Do not weep for me. I am very happy here." But now the spiritualists in a message from one of the great minds of our age, Sir Conan Doyle, give us a message from the dead that for the first time is different. Sir Conan is said by the spiritualists to have radioed them: "All's well; kind regards to all." Some day the people over in the shadowland are going to progress to the point where they'll send a startling message something like this: "Having a fine time. Wish you were here."

GREAT BRITAIN'S tax deficit for next year, as announced in the house of commons yesterday, will be $850,000,000, but they're looking the facts right in the eye, making the taxes higher, cutting down the dole, salaries, expenses of all sorts, and trimming ship properly to meet the storm. And we must admit, to speak in their own vernacular, they're a rare plucky lot, what ho, what ho!

ONE BY ONE the beautiful illusions of childhood are torn ruthlessly away from us. We were closing in on a fretful porcupine on the shore of Heald's pond down near Jackman, Maine. "Stand back everybody," shouted we hoarsely; "don't get closer to him than twenty feet; he can shoot his quills fifteen feet." "Nature faker," whooped old Art Henning; "a porky doesn't shoot his quills fifteen inches or five inches. He doesn't shoot em at all." And on interviewing all the guides available we found that this was even so. And the discovery of this simply wrecked our vacation. All our life we had waited for the moment when we should see a porcupine, driven to bay, fill the air with a shower of quills fired with deadly aim at his enemies. And to find out after years and years of this quaint but beautiful belief that the porky doesn't shoot his quills at all was too much. Maybe some day we're going to find out that there hain't no Santa Claus.

BEYOND ELECTRONS.

They who once probed and doubted now believe,
The men of science, for they humbly learn
There is a Will that guides the atom's course,
A Power that directs what they discern
In light and air, in star and wave and sod;
Beyond electrons they discover—God!

From research they derive a rich faith that Sustains old beautiful beliefs and creeds;
They grope through matter toward an utmost Light

ADELAIDE P. LOVE.

IT ALL DEPENDS on where you sit. Over in England there's a mighty uproar because the new tax increase lays a penny (two cents in real money) a pint on beer. And over here how pleased and proud we'd be to pay the government two cents more a pint for beer. R. H. L.

THE SHAM BATTLE STILL RAGES

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 11, 1915.

VERA CRUZ.—Carranza's reply to the appeal of the United States and the Latin American countries for a conference between the leaders of the various Mexican factions having in view an adjustment of Mexico's internal struggle is a polite but unequivocal "no." He has told the diplomats he can permit no interference by foreign governments.

CHICAGO.—Ten steel coaches of the Chicago and Alton Hummer, a fast Kansas City train, went into the ditch at Elwood, a village south of Joliet, without a single fatality.

PARIS.—The British steamer Alexander, owned by the Cunard Steamship company, was torpedoed 70 miles from Cape Palos, near Marcia, Spain, according to the Madrid correspondent of the Avis agency.

LONDON.—The two Russian successes on the Sereph river, Galicia, have not interfered with the Austro-German advance. Farther north the Austro-Germans are advancing on Rovno, the third and last of the triangle of fortresses in southwestern Russia.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1901.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—From a surgical standpoint President McKinley's wound from the bullet fired on Sept. 9 by Leon Czolgosz is now a closed incident. His recovery is as much assured as anything can be where a man is carrying a leaden bullet in his body. All of his physicians unite in saying that not only will he recover but that his convalescence will be extremely rapid. The physicians found it necessary to open in part the outside wound to remove a piece of cloth carried in by the bullet, which had not all been cleared away at the first operation. Beef extract was given to the President, the first food he has taken since he was shot. Vice President Roosevelt, Senator Hanna, Controller Dawes, Secretary Gage, Attorney General Knox, and other members of the President's official family were assured that they could leave town with entire safety.

CHICAGO.—Emma Goldman, the apostle of aggressive anarchy whose words Czolgosz says were his inspiration to shoot President McKinley, is in the hands of Chicago police waiting to face the charge of conspiring to kill the chief magistrate of the nation. She was arrested in a third floor flat at 303 Sheffield avenue, where she had been since Sept. 9 practically in hiding. During the day she was subjected to a rapid fire of questions by Chief of Police O'Neill and admitted that she met Czolgosz in Chicago on July 12. She struck at President McKinley with stinging words. "I consider him too insignificant a man for the purpose of assassination," she said.

SEPTEMBER 11, 1881.

LONG BRANCH.—Surgeons attending President Garfield reported a perceptible increase in strength, and unless conditions change a search will be made for the bullet day after tomorrow with the view to removing it. The President took a greater amount of liquid food and some solid food with more relish than for several days.

CHICAGO.—The newly elected directors of the Pullman Palace Car company elected the following officers: President and managing director, George M. Pullman; vice president, Horace Porter; second vice president, A. B. Pullman; secretary, A. S. Weinsheimer, and vice president pro tem., Amos T. Hall.

CHICAGO.—The committee trying the Rev. Dr. Hiram W. Thomas on a charge of heresy found him guilty. He was informed of the finding by the Rev. W. C. Willing, who told him that by paragraphs 209 and 219 of the book of discipline he is suspended from all ministerial services and church privileges until the next session of the conference. H. W. Bennett, one of the counsel for Dr. Thomas, sent this reply to Dr. Willing: "Dr. Thomas is surprised and pained at the verdict and will resist and defend against all charges, complaints, and accusations until acquitted or the last resort is exhausted."

FROM THE OWNER OF A STEEL HOUSE.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The discussion in your columns of the relative merits of steel and wood for home building, started by McCutcheon's cartoon several days ago and brought up to date by Scrutator in this morning's edition, interests me keenly.

I have recently completed and am now living in a "battledeck" house. It is, so far as I have been able to ascertain, the only one ever built, and the first one using welded steel floor and roof construction, welded window, door frame and porch details. The short cuts in construction were many.

The advantages—A house virtually fire, sound and vermin proof; a roof porch that was a boon during the hot weather; long horizontal windows that afford an abundance of sunlight and air and beautiful views of the surrounding landscape; very thin floor construction that reduced the number of steps and made possible long horizontal lines so essential to beauty in domestic architecture—that element for which architects chop off corners of second floor ceiling to lower roof lines.

It is silly of the representatives of the lumber associations to get "het up" over proposed substitution of fabricated steel for lumber. If the steel man is so destitute of ideas that he can but make his material simulate lumber, if he cannot see in his product the many advantages it has in home design and fabrication it is best that he stay out of the home building field and let us go on as our father and grandfather before us did, only shifting things a little to make room for the built-in radiator, the electric refrigerator, or the concealed bar.

HENRY DUBIN.

FREE BEDS.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—I am a small hotel owner on the near west side. There are many more hotels such as I have. At the present time we are doing very little business. Our prices are down to rock bottom.

Now in place of the city going to the expense of opening free lodging houses, why not have some party or parties visit these hotels? I think that it can be arranged to give the unemployed a place to sleep, and also help the hotel owners. If free houses are opened a number of small hotels will have to close their doors. JOHN J. MILLER.

AT COMISKEY PARK.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—On Friday, Aug. 21, appeared an article in which the undersigned writer stated in substance that he attended the ball game at Comiskey park, Sunday, Aug. 23, and that he purchased two $1.50 seats for that game and upon entering the park he found he only had 75 cent seats instead of $1.50 seats, and that he then left the park, went back to the ticket seller's window, complained, and was told by the ticket seller that on account of the attraction no one should blame the Sox management for charging more than the regular price for that particular game.

In reply to that article nothing more is needed to demonstrate that the incident must be either imaginative or vicious in its origin:

First, because there has not been a 75 cent seat in Comiskey park in over ten years.

Second, that once a patron is in the stands at Comiskey park he cannot go back to the ticket offices, which are located outside the ball park, without seeing an official of Comiskey park, and if such an incident does occur the patron would then be asked the nature of his business and the complaint would have been rectified and adjusted immediately.

Third, we have checked up with all our ticket sellers and all have confirmed the entire untruthfulness of the story in question.

We are, however, glad to embrace this opportunity to state we take great pride in the organization at Comiskey park, including the ticket sellers, ticket takers, ushers, and other attaches. They have been with Comiskey park for a great many years and we are positive of their integrity. It is granted that errors occur at times in the handling of tickets, as it would be unnatural if this were not done when the great number of transactions involved are taken into consideration, but wish to state without qualifications that when mistakes do occur they have always been instantly rectified to the fullest satisfaction of the patron. This has been the policy of Comiskey park and always will be.

HARRY M. GRABINER,
Secretary.

A REAL TREAT.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Your article on the south park system in Sunday's TRIBUNE was a real treat, a genuine inspiration, and a lover of the useful and the beautiful should not miss it. My congratulations to you and your able correspondent, Mr. Bennett. J. A. SINGLER.

W. SIDE HIGHWAY PLAN BACKED BY WHEATON GROUPS

Urge Governor to Help Put Over Project.

BY HAL FOUST.

The construction of a west side elevated highway was indorsed by business men and civic leaders of Wheaton, gathered yesterday for a luncheon at the invitation of the Chicago Motor club. They pointed out that the development of Du Page county depends upon improved traffic facilities within Chicago and that the Austin-Kinzie project, a proposed elevated pavement abutting the Chicago and North Western railroad embankment, will answer the demands of the motoring public.

"Du Page county," said M. G. Pittsford, merchant and former mayor of Wheaton, "should do everything possible to bring about an appropriation from the state's gasoline tax revenue for this elevated highway construction. And the construction should be started immediately, so that at least part of the structure will serve traffic during the 1933 World's Fair."

Mayor Favors Project.

Mayor W. H. Caldwell of Wheaton declared that while the elevated highway is a large project, it is no bigger than the job of widening the country highways and is just as sound a proposition.

"Now is the time to start the work," said Eugene Gates, Du Page county highway superintendent, "so as to furnish employment this winter to 15,000 or 20,000 men.

"The motorists of the metropolitan area, who are paying millions of dollars in gasoline tax to the state every year, are entitled to this improvement. At present the congested and hazardous streets of the city discourage Du Page county car owners from driving into Chicago and discourage Chicago workers from moving their homes to Du Page county."

James E. Bulger, a director of the Motor club, said that the elevated highway would save ten minutes for 100,000 automobiles every day.

Saving of Many Lives.

"You can estimate as well as I can how much is the value of this time," he continued. "With 200,000 passengers in the cars, their time saved, figured at a union labor basis, would amount to about $40,000 a day. Furthermore, the highway, without cross traffic or pedestrians, would save many lives now lost on the dangerous surface streets.

"When THE TRIBUNE and the Chicago Motor club, a few years ago, began campaigning for forty foot roads there were no funds available. However, a public demand was created and today you have these wider roads. There are funds available for this elevated highway construction; all that is needed is enough public sentiment to prompt Gov. Emmerson to support the project."

WARN OWNERS OF SPEED BOATS TO CUT NOISE

Police last night served notice on owners of speed boats and the smaller outboard motor craft that the main channel of the Chicago river could not be used as a testing ground for new motors. Numerous complaints from occupants of office buildings as a result of excessive noise caused by a small sea sled yesterday afternoon resulted in a harbor patrol being sent to patrol the river.

The boat causing the disturbance, a small Swanson Special with an outboard motor, repeatedly raced up and down the channel with the cut out open. When the patrol arrived on the scene the boat had disappeared. Other river men stated that the boat was the property of Ben Erlich, 5027 North Monticello avenue. Erlich, they stated, was testing a new motor.

ROBOT HEN TELLS INSIDE STORY OF A GOOD EGG

Shows How Yolk, Shell, Albumen Are Formed.

By GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Did you ever see a hen that carried around the makings for her own blood?

Neither did I. Not until this morning when I walked into the department of agriculture office of exhibits in time to hear Mr. H. T. Baldwin say, just as calmly as you please—

I must have looked sort of astonished, for he immediately explained that the department's pet hen, the one that talks so much, was off for a fair, and that it was so much trouble to send along glass jars of imitation blood for her fine two valved pump heart that he used Japanese water color paper as a substitute. Two sheets: one of red, one of blue. Dissolve in two glasses of Michigan water; fill up the two jars inside her; and she had enough blood for a week's work.

On Barnstorming Tour.

One thing led to another, and presently I was in a big room looking at this wondrous hen who made her debut last summer at the fourth world's poultry congress in London, when she told Britishers just what made "a good egg."

She was so popular over there that she returned quite the prima donna of the road show which the government puts on at fairs and conventions; and she's been barnstorming her way all over this country.

She is seven feet high, made largely of wall board and quite jaunty with her hand carved feet and her top rim of realistic feathers. They certainly ought to be realistic; weren't they furnished by four honest-to-goodness chickens?

Her beauty, however, is only of the proverbial skin depth. Basically she's a scientific lady with no foolish inhibitions; and so she permits them to cut her in twain, thus revealing an intimate cross-section of her egg-making set-up. From somewhere inside of her, a voice explains each process, as tiny men of German silver dance about, seeming to furnish the power that is actually supplied by a hidden motor.

Starts Talk with a Pun.

She starts her speech with a pun.

"You will notice that my factory is quite systematic in its layout."

Then she gets serious.

"The food is first stored in a warehouse called the crop, then passed down gradually into the stomach and mixed with special liquids called gastric juices. Next the food goes on to the grinding department or gizzard. After being properly ground the feed is passed to the intestines, where the real nutrients are extracted. The blood distributes these food particles to the different parts of my factory."

All this interesting enough, but what we are anxious to know about is the development and travel of that egg we see in the picture. Sensing our curiosity, the hen says:

"Of course, you are most interested in the egg producing department. Here a yellow ball called the yolk is first turned out."

Small End Comes First.

"Around this is built a gelatinous substance called the alubumen or white. Two very thin membranes surround the white and then a limestone shell is plastered over all."

Now, if you will look at the square to the extreme left you will see the egg emerging, small end first. Oh, what a discussion that caused. Some said the small end came first; others insisted it was the large end. So the department of agriculture sent out a couple of experts to do some watchful waiting in a hen house. They came back with their results: Their wallboard hen was right: the small end comes first.

And the pleasant feature of it all is that when you want to speed up the laying of the eggs, all you do is regulate the lathe that turns them out.

TELLS A METHOD OF MAKING GOOD CATSUP IN HOME

By taking a leaf from the book of the professional canner, the housewife can very largely avoid failure or unsatisfactory results with homemade catsup, says Dr. C. S. Pederson, bacteriologist at the New York state agricultural experiment station, who has been making a special study of spoilage in catsup and other tomato products.

"The trick of making good colored catsup is simple if a few precautions are observed," declares Dr. Pederson. "First, select fine red ripe tomatoes. Second, avoid the use of cloves, allspice, and other spices containing tannin, because they darken the catsup. In their place use cayenne pepper and paprika and other spices, which, used in the proper combination, give an excellent flavored catsup. Third, add the salt, sugar, and vinegar near the end of the cooking so as not to cause darkening of the catsup or loss of vinegar during the boiling. Fourth, boil rapidly in a large open kettle, so as to thicken the catsup as quickly as possible."

Homemade catsups may have the body and keeping quality of commercial catsups, says Dr. Pederson, if they contain sufficient sugar, concentrated vinegar, and salt. The following recipe is especially recommended with the necessary precautions outlined above: Thirty pounds of tomatoes after removing the skins, seeds, and green spots; 1¼ cups of salt, 2 1-3 cups of redistilled vinegar or 6 1-3 cups of white vinegar, 8 cups of sugar, 6 teaspoons of celery seed, 3 tablespoons of mustard, 2 teaspoons of cinnamon, 2 teaspoons of paprika, 2 teaspoons of cayenne pepper, and 4 onions.

Lake Fishermen Toil, Live in Shadow of Skyscrapers

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Waves lap against the wharf, racks creak under the weight of drying nets, fresh winds impregnated with the aroma of fish blow in over the open water, a distant fog horn reverberates at intervals somewhere in the darkness.

A fishing village on Cape Cod? Merely one aspect of Chicago's own fishermen's colony.

On the peninsula running out to the Navy pier, almost in the shadow of the loop's tallest skyscrapers, cluster the half dozen small frame cottages of the settlement. All day, while the fishermen are on the lake, it stands deserted amid the bustle and din of a great city's water front.

Big Trucks Rumble By.

A few rods away, freighters and tugs ply up and down the river and lake steamers come to dock. Street cars and trucks rumble past on their way to the pier. To the west, the giant bridge over the river is building with a thunder of riveting machines and hammers.

At dusk the city withdraws from the peninsula; remains only the jeweled outline of towers rising over the dark harbor. The fishing village comes to life as one by one the fishermen's boats come chugging in to their moorings on the slip behind the cottages.

Now occurs the nightly invasion of beauty lovers and mere lovers, among whom the peninsula's outlook over lake and harbor is famed. Almost noiselessly automobiles form ranks along the water's edge. Scarcely one of the absorbed couples so much as notice the little fishing settlement.

But the warm lights and jolly sounds issuing from the cottages do attract a few visitors. Two stout women with bare heads go up to one of the windows and look in. Three large flat wooden fish dangle by their tails from a string and above them is a placard bearing the legend, "Fresh lake fish for sale here!"

Smoked Fish for Sale.

"Smoked fish—let's go in, they may be cheap!" says one of the women, and they open the cottage door and step inside. We follow them. A bare, neatly whitewashed interior, with only a small counter and pegs hung with more rows of fish like those in the window.

From an inner room whence flow the strains of an accordion steps an old salt in blue overalls, with a two days' growth of beard. In response to pressing inquiries he sets forth the prices of his smoked fish in a leisurely brogue. The littlest fish are chubs, the next largest are perch, then comes the whitefish, and largest and most costly of all, the halibut.

He lifts the cover of a bin. Here are fresh perch, whitefish, pike. Prices are evidently satisfactory, for our shoppers see fit to bear away with them supplies of all varieties.

Now he turns to us. We have never tasted smoked chub? Without ceremony he takes down one of the smallest fishes, decapitates it with a stroke of his knife, slits it open and offers us a slice to sample. When we hesitate, he urges us on with "It's fine, ma'am, all ready to eat, you know. All you need with it is some potaters, pie and coffee, and you've got the finest meal there is."

Finds It Tastes Good.

Emboldened by this recommendation, we close our eyes and taste the chub. We are relieved to find it not raw, but actually as good as he describes it. We even take a second bite. Then, with the enthusiasm of one making a convert, he invites us to see the smokehouse.

Behind the cottage the smokehouse stands in a maze of drying nets; in the dim light from the towers across the harbor a 60 foot fishing boat is visible below the dock. The smokehouse is a small structure, roughly six by ten feet. As our guide opens the door a delicious woodsy odor escapes. He points out the walls lined with sheet iron and the ledges on which the rows of fish are hung to smoke.

Have Time to Sort Catch.

Since the fishermen leave on their trips at 8 o'clock every morning and do not return until nightfall, they have time to sort all the day's catch before they get back to shore, our informant explains. The fish to be smoked are placed in separate bins and treated to a soaking in brine before they are smoked. Because the flavor of the fish depends on the wood used, only the finest hardwoods are burned in this smokehouse.

Now thoroughly won over to the allurements of smoked chub, we return to the cottage, and to prove our conversion to the delicacy, order a modest quantity. Then we take our departure, keeping in mind the potatoes, pie, and coffee suggested as a fitting accompaniment.

KRAUT MAKING AND PICKLING SEASON AT HAND

This Week and Next the Most Opportune.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

Judging by prices, this week and next week are the most opportune of the season for kraut making and pickling. Evidences of low prices are to be found on Randolph street by even a casual shopper as contrasted to the diligent bargainers who frequent the farmers' market.

Consider some of these figures:

Sweet corn can be obtained in gunny sacks for 40 cents for five dozen ears of golden yellow corn.

Tomatoes of the size that would obtain premium prices of six to ten cents a pound in stores are being sold by the bushel at 75 to 80 cents.

Green beans, that snap with a crisp sound because they were picked but a few hours before being placed on the market, are sold by the bushel for 35 and 40 cents.

Kraut cabbage in crates that weigh about 90 pounds are being sold for $1.15 and the customer gets 10 cents back if the crate is returned.

Huge Crop Is Reason.

But there is even more to the market than just prices. The farmers in most sections in the truck gardening and truck farming area surrounding Chicago have produced huge crops of vegetables. The market has been pushed out in length until nine blocks are occupied by trucks and wagons, whereas the usual market is confined to five or six blocks.

Cucumbers of the small pickle size are fairly cheap. Bags containing a bushel and a half are offered for $1.50. If the buyer wants to make dill pickels, the farmers have bunches of dill to sell for 10 cents a bunch. Ripe cucumbers are being sold for 50 cents a bushel.

Best of Green Peppers.

The best green peppers of the year are displayed from the rear of trucks. Prices are low, but the crop has been large. Bushel baskets of the peppers sell for 40 cents. Then there also are small onions suitable for pickling and selling for 65 to 75 cents a bushel.

To round out the variety of fresh foods brought in by the farmer-growers, there are mellow musk mellons, or cantaloupes, if you prefer to ask for them by that name; celery, eggplant, parsley, cauliflower, radishes, green tomatoes, leeks, turnips and beets.

HOW TO PREPARE BLUEBERRIES FOR BEST PIES TOLD

Blueberries for use in pie and cake will be much better if canned by the method described below than if put up in syrup or water for culinary purposes, says Miss Inez M. Hobart, foods specialist of the Minnesota agricultural extension service.

Clean and wash the berries. Place from 1 to 3 quarts in a square of cheesecloth. Gather up the corners of the cloth and dip into a kettle of boiling water from 15 to 30 seconds, depending upon the relative volumes of water and fruit. The blanching should proceed until just before the berries begin to lose juice; then cold dip immediately. As soon as cooled, pack into jars as tightly as possible without crushing, partially seal and process. Pint jars 15 minutes, quart jars 20 minutes.

Blackberries, raspberries, and currants, for culinary purposes, may be canned in the same manner.

The advantages in canning small fruits by this method are that the flavor is more like the fresh fruit, there is no expense for sugar, the small amount of liquor is desirable for culinary purposes, the fruit or juice may be used for jellies or jams the same as fresh fruit, and the shrinking of the fruit by blanching, and the close packing, as in the case o fthe grapes, economizes on the use of jars.

Lamb, Round Steak Are Economical Meat Buys

In its regular weekly report issued for the guidance of consumers the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago states:

"All cuts of lamb and round steak represent the most economical meat buys for the Chicago housewife over the coming week-end. Round steak represents an unusually good buy at the present time. Prepared as a Swiss steak this cut of meat has a fine flavor and can be the basis for a delightful meal."

HOOPESTON CANS THE CORN YOU'LL EAT THIS WINTER

Come On, Let's Visit a Big Factory There.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hoopeston, Ill., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The last of more than 420 million lids are being clamped down this week on the 1931 pack of luscious sweet corn in the middle west, of which Illinois is the largest producer and this town the recognized "capital" of sweet corn canningdom.

Few consumers who enjoy corn on the cob throughout the winter and spring realize the immensity of this industry, which has been running at normal speed this year in spite of general business conditions. The only change is that prices have been lowered somewhat, although the farmer has not been penalized in proportion to the reduction in retail prices.

Cans and Canning Together.

Mammoth factories dot the cornbelt, and besides them are large plants for the making of tin cans [the best of which are now enameled on the inside] and other machinery for massed canning. The start of this business was in Hoopeston over 70 years ago, and one of the two plants here is still vying with another at Milford, the next town north, for honors as the largest producing unit of sweet corn in the world.

Out of Illinois alone will come over 2,00,000 cases of corn this winter, each case containing 24 cans, on the basis of the No. 2 sized cans. Plants are scattered through McLean, Ford, Bureau and Lee counties, where farmers grow thousands of acres of Golden Bantam or Country Gentleman sweet corn. Still other plants are completing the new pack in Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Maryland and limited amounts in other states.

A Visit Is a Treat.

It is a fascinating experience to go through one of these immense kitchens where corn is husked, trimmed, the kernels removed, cooked, and sealed in airtight cans, to be stored in vast warehouses for shipment out as demand develops.

And so far as the farmer who grows the corn and the firms who pack it are concerned, the entire sales have been contracted nearly a year in advance. The farmers know when they plant what their output will bring, and have a sure market. But over so long a period only the better producers have earned the favored position this gives one in comparison to his neighbor who must gamble on fluctuating grain prices in growing his crops.

Let's Join Floyd Winter.

Take a trip with me through a canning plant, with Floyd Winter, a graduate of the Illinois College of Agriculture, and manager of this vast project, as our guide. We see some 800 people at work, of whom about 400 are in the plant and the others working outside.

The owners of such a plant supply 325 horses and mules, a battery of tractors, and 300 wagons or trucks with which to pick and haul to market the corn crop on the day it is ready for canning. The season only lasts about ten or twelve weeks, yet has required nearly a year of preparation.

Large tracts of land are owned by the firm, on which nothing but sweet corn, grain, and legumes have grown for forty years. Seed plots under scientific control produce a quality strain of corn. All seed and the planters are furnished free to the farmers, giving greater uniformity of production. The firm also gets enough grain and hay from its own land to feed the horses and mules through the year, has its seed house, blacksmiths, wagon makers, and other side lines that rival a circus retinue.

Here Come the Wagons.

Here comes a row of wagons heaped with mellow eared corn, "jerked" from the stalks by workers the firm employs. The corn is weighed and dumped into great vats a block long, passes through hoppers for sorting and a bevy of women then husk each ear by hand operated machines. They are given 15 minutes of each hour for rest, and are attended constantly by a trained nurse.

The corn, denuded of husk, is then washed in a great caldron affair, and passes down a long table where men and women with sharp knives remove bad ends, silks and unfit ears. The large ears are sent into two lines of machines where knives trim deftly every kernel to make the "whole grain" sweet corn. The smaller kerneled ears are trimmed in five other lines, to become, with the addition of sirup and cooking, the "cream style" corn.

Lots of Sugar and Salt.

Such a plant, turning out 370,000 cases of canned corn, uses six carloads of sugar and two carloads of salt in a little over two months. The cooking process itself is in two steps, the first, when the hot sirup surrounds the kernels and the heated corn is sealed in the cans. This pre-heating tends to force out all air to prevent an empty space in the cans when they are cooled.

After pre-cooking and sealing, the shiny cans drop into steel trucks and are rolled into one of the 21 retorts, each of which hold four truck loads of about 1,200 cans. In these sealed retorts, the corn is cooked 75 minutes at 370 degrees, whereas the pre-cooking was at 180 degrees.

Removed from the retorts, the cans of corn drop into a cold water bath and move along two city blocks of a water spray, to be chilled to 100 degrees and packed in warehouses automatically by overhead carriers. Then, as orders come in, attractive labels are put on and freight train loads move out to the far corners of the nation.

QUALITY RATHER THAN PRICE IS MILK BAROMETER

Federal Survey Shows Sales Increase.

Quality is more important than price in determining how much more milk, butter, or poultry will be consumed in American cities.

This decision, based upon a nation-wide survey of factors influencing the trend in dairy production and consumption, is being considered by local dairy farmers and distributors, it was learned yesterday.

"On the basis of studies in New York and Chicago," says a report of the federal bureau of agricultural economics at Washington, "it appeared that aside from consumers becoming accustomed to a given retail price over a long period of time, a one cent change in the retail price of milk had an almost negligible effect on sales and that such a change in price influenced sales only over a short period of five or six weeks.

The Quality Counts.

"An increase in price appeared to decrease consumption slightly, while decreases in prices stimulated consumption even less. There is some indication, however, that a 2 cent change in price may have more than a proportionate effect on the sales."

Discussing the effect of quality on milk consumption, the report says that "in connection with a study of per capita milk consumption Chicago and two other Illinois cities results indicated that the high rate of milk consumption in Chicago was indicative of the effect which public confidence in milk quality had upon market demand, it being noted that higher quality appeared to have been associated with an increased per capita consumption.

"Results of a Philadelphia urban study indicated that prices, quality, and purpose for which used were important factors influencing grade selection, the higher qualities being used for drinking and the lower qualities for cooking."

Quantity Increases.

Studies of milk consumption in Washington, D. C., Austin, Tex., and a rural section of New Jersey indicated, the report says, that per capita consumption decreases as size of family increases, though the Washington and New Jersey studies indicated that the decrease might have been due to decreases in per capita incomes, as size of family and income were inversely related.

The Philadelphia and New Jersey studies indicated that, in general, per capita consumption appears to decrease as the age of the consumer increases, at least until maturity is reached.

The federal report also states that while milk consumption is relatively stable from month to month there are somewhat irregular increases in quantity of milk consumed from January to June. Return of school children and vacationists early in September causes an increase from the low consumption point in August, and reaches a peak in October. Vacations and major temperature changes are given as the two principal factors in seasonal variation in milk consumption.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

BY MARY MEADE.

How about it—do you feel in the mood for a nice dose of recipes today? They are forthcoming, I promise you.

Here is an old and fine rule for stollen which hails from Europe. Probably you remember your grandmothers making it years—we won't say how many years!—ago.

STOLLEN.

1 pint of milk
1 cup of sugar
1 teaspoon of salt
2 yeast cakes
4 eggs
8 cups of flour
2 cups of melted shortening
½ pound of chopped unblanched almonds
¾ pound of raisins
1-2 cup of chopped citron

Scald the milk, add the sugar and salt. Cool until lukewarm and add the yeast. Add two cups of flour and beat well. Cover and let rise in a warm place until it is light. Then add the well beaten eggs, shortening, almonds, and remaining ingredients. Knead until the dough is smooth and "bubbly."

Toss the dough on a floured board, and divide into three or four loaves. Knead each loaf and sprinkle it with almonds, sugar, and cinnamon. Press down the center and fold over double, making a long loaf with narrow ends.

Brush the top with melted butter, and let it rise until it is double the original size. Bake in a moderate oven—350 to 375 degrees F.—for about 45 minutes. Frost the top with white icing.

PINEAPPLE ICE.

2 cup of water
¼ cup of sugar
1 lemon
1 cup of crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon of gelatine

Dissolve the gelatine in ¼ cup of cold water. Put water and sugar in a saucepan (1 cup). Stir until the sugar is dissolved, and then boil for three minutes. Remove from the fire and add the gelatine, lemon juice, and pineapple. Stir well, cool, and freeze until firm.

SPIDER CORN CAKE.

2 eggs
¼ cup of sugar
1 cup of milk
¾ teaspoon of salt
1 cup of sour milk
1 teaspoon of soda
1 2-3 cups of cornmeal
1-3 cup of white flour
2 tablespoons of butter

Beat the eggs well, add the sugar, and beat together. Dissolve the soda in sour milk; add to the eggs and sugar; then add the corn meal and the flour, which have been sifted together. Have an iron spider hot with two tablespoons melted butter. Pour in the mixture; set in the oven, and pour over the top one cup of sweet milk. Do not stir it. Bake it in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 35 minutes.

GREEN PEPPER SANDWICH BUTTER.

2 green peppers
¼ cup of creamed butter
Pinch of salt

Remove the seeds and white portion of the peppers. Cook in boiling water until soft. Drain and chop fine; drain again, and put through sieve. Add to the creamed butter and salt. Cream thoroughly and spread on whole wheat, rye, or white bread.

SWEET POTATO GETS INTO THE PROTEIN CLASS

It Has 'Ipomoein,' Newly Found Nutrient.

Many foods are more abundantly supplied with protein than the sweet potato, but the United States department of agriculture recently found that the protein in a sweet potato is equal in quality to that in the best protein foods.

Dr. D. Breese Jones, department of agriculture chemist, and his associates discovered during their researches a new protein, ipomoein, which contributes largely to the high nutritional value of the sweet potato. Ipomoein is a chemically complex substance, made up of several simpler chemical compounds, among which are four amino acids known to be essential to the normal nutrition of animals.

Value of Sweet Potato.

Cereal grains, in particular, are low in two of these essential amino acids, while some other rich protein foods lack appreciable quantities of one or more of them. A supplement of sweet potato in the diet would tend to correct these deficiencies. Sweet potato culls are said to be particularly advisable as a supplement to the live stock ration, in which most of the protein is supplied by concentrates of other plant origin.

Practically all of the protein in a freshly dug sweet potato is ipomoein. But after the potato has been kept a few months, especially if it has been improperly stored in a warm place, part of the original protein breaks up into simpler substances.

A Warning to the Cook.

The protein, with all its nutritious constituents, in a moderately fresh potato coagulates at cooking temperatures and remains in a form which can be easily assimilated. This is true no matter how the potato may be cooked.

But if one should boil an old potato, in which some of these constituents have been set free in water-soluble form, these valuable nutrients would be lost in the pot liquor. The breakup of protein does not lessen the nutrient value of an old sweet potato if it is cooked dry. Cool storage delays the change of the protein; warmth hastens it.

TOMATOES CONTAIN 4 VITAMINS NEEDED BY YOUNG AND OLD

Vitamins! Vitamins! Who's got the vitamins? Tomatoes have four of them, according to Miss Dorothea Muehl, home economics extension specialist of Purdue university. The vitamins A, B, C, and G all are found in this one vegetable, and with proper cooking and canning little of their vitamin content is destroyed.

Vitamin A promotes growth and helps build resistance to colds and other diseases of lungs and throat. Vitamin B helps to overcome constipation, nervousness, and is an aid to digestion. Vitamin C keeps people in good condition and helps prevent scurvy. A good supply of vitamin G is needed by both children and adults, for it helps development of good bones and sound teeth. Children whose diet is low in this vitamin usually are irritable and are more susceptible to diseases.

Vitamin G promotes growth. In planning the low cost meals, foods are often chosen which are low in the necessary vitamin content and minerals, and these can be supplied by including tomatoes each day for children and three times a week for adults. Tomatoes are fine in the diet of the entire family from baby to grandfather.

ADVISE CARE IN PREPARATION OF PICNIC DINNERS

Picnic meals should be as carefully and reasonably planned as though they were to be eaten at home in the dining room, food experts advise. Sandwiches, the old picnic standby, should be made of whole wheat bread, and when there are children in the party, the fillings should not be highly seasoned sandwich spreads and relishes, but the chopped vegetables, cream cheese and chopped dates, peanut butter, and sliced cold meat which might be part of the noon meal at home. To a child, any necessary seasoning is provided by the fact that the food is being eaten in the woods, away from home.

An oilcloth tablecloth with weights sewn into the corners is valuable for picnics. It is easily cleaned and does not blow away easily. Paper straws for the children, paper plates to save work, and paper cups are likely to be appreciated. After the meal all the paper should be burned in the campfire and the fire thoroughly extinguished either with water or by burying it carefully.

EVERY SHRED is 100% WHOLE WHEAT

Every part of the whole wheat grain supplies elements that are needed by the human body—the starch and gluten for heat and energy; the inner bran coats for phosphates and other mineral salts; the outer bran coat for the needed "roughage"; the germ for Vitamin B and protein for building and repairing muscular tissue. All these portions of the whole wheat grain are present in Shredded Wheat.

EAT the finest, fattest grains of wheat you can find—and you are receiving no more healthful nourishment than you get from Shredded Wheat. In fact, Shredded Wheat was invented so you could have natural whole wheat in tasty, digestible form.

Selected wheat is steam cooked, shredded and thoroughly baked—that's all there is to Shredded Wheat. All of the health giving properties of the original grain are retained. All the bran is there, all the carbohydrates, proteins and mineral salts—and the most important vitamins, too. Serve Shredded Wheat with milk and you have a complete, balanced food.

GRAPE SEASON IN FULL BLAST —SOME RECIPES

Chicago Markets Filled with Products.

BY FLORA MARTIN.

Once more the golden month of September has started the grape season off in full blast. Already the Chicago fruit marts are filled with the highly flavored grapes of both native and foreign origin imported from the vineyards of California, one of the largest grape producing states in the Union; New York, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Arkansas.

Middle westerners are probably more familiar with the Concord grape, which is extensively cultivated in our area, than with the other varieties which are grown in the more distant parts of the Union. In delving back into the history of the Concords you will find that they are true American offspring and not naturalized citizens as are members of other branches of the family.

About the same time as news of the California gold rush of '49 was taking the country by storm the original Concord grape vine, which was named after the town it claims as its birthplace, Concord, Mass., first saw the light of day. It was Ephraim W. Bull, Esq., a Burbank of his time, who made the successful attempt of crossing the Isabella grape with the native wild grape in an endeavor to raise a vine far hardier than former species and one that would bear fruit earlier in the season than the regular varieties.

What we know as the Concord grape was the outcome of his experiment. A stub from the vine which was the mother of all Concord grapes can still be seen in the yard near "Grapevine Cottage," as the Bull homestead in Concord was called.

The blue black berries from the new vine took hold immediately and before long the Concord grape craze had spread like wildfire throughout the country. It was an ideal vine from the grape grower's viewpoint, as the plant was hardy, long lived and highly productive. Because of the large number of clusters produced by each vine the produce can be sold at a cheaper rate than can many of the other varieties of grapes.

Confused with Champions.

Grape buyers are warned not to confuse the Concords with the Champions, a cheaper grade fruit and one not nearly as sweet and palatable as the Concord grape, which it closely resembles. If it's Concords you want, insist that you get them and don't let the dealer substitute with Champions.

In former days the grape industry, as every one knows, was closely allied to the winemaking business. Since the passing of the prohibition law most persons have the idea that the uses of grapes are limited except for eating from the hand, using in jellies or in putting up as unfermented juices. But there are many other dishes involving the use of grapes which are always on tap.

For instance, there is grape pie, a general favorite in rural communities but still comparatively a stranger to city tables.

Making Grape Pie.

4 cups Concord grapes.
2 eggs.
1 cup sugar.
3 level tablespoons flour
Sprinkle of ground cloves.

Wash grapes, and separate skins from pulp. Cook pulp in upper part of double boiler for 20 minutes. Then press through a coarse strainer and add the skins. Separate the eggs and add the unbeaten yolks and the dry ingredients to the grapes. Mix well.

Line a pie tin with plain pie paste, pour the grape mixture into it and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes. Cover with a meringue made by beating whites of two eggs with one-eighth level teaspoon cream of tartar until stiff, but not dry, and then adding gradually 1/4 cup powdered sugar, beating well after each addition. Spread this over pie and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Or Try Grape Conserve.

Or perhaps your fancy turns to grape conserve, which is made with

2 oranges.
1 lemon.
Sugar.

Wash and pick over the grapes, removing stems. Place in a kettle with a small amount of water and simmer until the seeds are free. Then put the mixture through a sieve, discarding the seeds. Cut up the oranges and lemon very fine and add to the grapes. Measure and use equal parts of fruit and sugar. Boil until thick and put in sterile glasses.

Spiced grape butter will also fit in on many occasions. Wash grapes carefully, remove stems, separate pulp from skins. Heat pulp to boiling point and strain through sieve to remove seeds. Add strained pulp to skins and to each five cups of fruit add four cups of brown sugar and one teaspoon each of cloves and cinnamon. Boil an hour, stirring frequently, add ½ cup vinegar and cook until butter is thick. Seal at once in sterilized jars.

SPICED GRAPES.

1 cup strong vinegar.
1 cup grape juice.
2½ pounds sugar.
1 ounce cinnamon.

Press pulp out of grapes. Boil the pulp until tender, then press through sieve to remove seeds. Mix the skins until pulp and boil until thick like marmalade. When done pour into sterilized glasses and seal. Good to serve with meats.

Grapes or Prunes—Which?

Italian prunes from Oregon are plentiful in Chicago this season and Rita Meyer, 2953 North Kolmar avenue, wonders whether she ought to sample the plum like prune or the bunch of California grapes. The fruits each sell for about eight to ten cents a pound. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

GRAPE DISHES

FROZEN GRAPE PUDDING.

¾ cup sugar.
¾ cup milk.
9 stale macaroons.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
1 cup heavy cream.
¾ cup powdered sugar.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix grape juice, lemon and sugar, allowing to stand for 30 minutes. Whip cream and add milk gradually to which vanilla has been added. Fold into macaroons that have been rolled fine. Pour grape juice in bottom of a 3 pint mold. Put cream on top, filling to overflowing. Adjust the cover and seal with a strip of waxed paper. Bury for 3 hours in finely cracked ice and salt, two parts ice and one part salt. Turn out in a cold platter and serve garnished with whipped cream.

GRAPE JUICE.

Wash, stem, and crush grapes. Bring slowly to boil [never boil], until fruit is sufficiently softened to release juices. Turn into jelly bag, drain and squeeze. Measure juice and add one cup sugar to each gallon. Heat to slightly below boiling point and bottle or seal at once in sterilized containers. Process for 30 minutes below boiling.

GRAPE CATSUP.

2 tablespoons cinnamon.
1 tablespoon cloves.
1 tablespoon allspice.
1 cup vinegar.
1 tablespoon salt.
2 pounds sugar.
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper if desired.

Stew grapes until soft and remove seeds. Use whole spices and tie in bag to prevent darkening of product. Add salt, sugar, vinegar and simmer 1½ minues. Pour in sterilized bottles and process at simmering for 15 minutes. Seal. Grape catsup is a pleasing sauce to serve with meats.

AFTER TENNIS OR ARDUOUS DUTIES HAVE CUP OF TEA

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Reader, have you ever drunk a cup of tea? George Eliot asked this question a century ago and we repeat it today in a quest for those of us who join our English brothers and sisters in enjoying the peculiar heart warming of a fat, friendly teapot and the lazy intimacies of a steaming teacup.

Simple as the brief English monosyllable itself, this hour or two of the late afternoon is such a pleasant respite from our more arduous duties, such delightful relaxation for those dropping home from a close game of tennis or a tramp in the woods.

The very thought of it conjures up delightful visions! As an English lady once said, "It is refreshing, it is hospitable, it is stimulating." Of course, this is not the old fashioned, the formal tea party to meet Mrs. Alexander Baldwin-Jones or the Countess Beatle, the party that suggested nervousness and Sunday attire on the part of conversation, guests, and food. The cakes were far too numerous and the napkins of the fussy lace-edged variety. This is tea in its simplest and smartest form—tea for tea's sake.

Tea Hour Stands Out.

A cocktail you may suggest as the modern version of this time honored institution, but it is better reserved for the dinner hour. Its sharp edge destroys the intimate relaxation that goes only with tea, thin slices of bread and butter, scones, or shortbread. Tea is so often one of the most pleasant of family traditions, and frequently it stamps a particular house as individual. Think back on the delightful week-ends you have spent this season and last with friends hither and yon. How frequently the tea hour stands out as the most delightful memory of all, the keynote of the whole visit!

Experience is a great teacher when it comes to serving tea, even more than something else, for this alone makes it a rite of the household. Did you ever have an Englishman watch over you as you presided at the tea table, his eagle eye casting about on your every maneuver, his ominous conversation dwelling on the "one decent cup of tea" he has had lately? Pass muster here and you will have established yourself as the hostess "par excellence" whether it be the fireside tea of a late fall afternoon or an informal gathering of the more cooling variety.

Choose the most attractive corner in the sun parlor or the living room for a low tea table. This is the most comfortable table by far, and presents the fewest obstructions between hostess and guests, be they one or a dozen. Tea is best when prepared immediately before serving, so spread the table with your favorite silver service and your colorful glassware. Put in a heaping teaspoonful of tea for each tea drinker and one for the pot, allow it to draw from four to six minutes, and then pour it off at once. Now begin all over again for the second brew of tea, as the addition of a few fresh tea leaves to the first brewing will produce a beverage quite foreign to the delicate flavor you expect.

And the Accompaniments.

Enough for the tea, for a word must be said about the accompaniments. There is nothing nicer than very thin slices of bread and butter, so very English and so much better for the diet than too many sticky cakes or meringues ready to burst forth. Frequently a household boasts some particular recipe that has been popular from grandmother's through granddaughter's day.

If you are still searching for that particular recipe, however, or for another to add to your collection, let me suggest the English scones you never miss on your tour of the British Isles.

SCONES.

4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ cup sugar.
¼ cup fat.
½ cup currants.
¼ cup candied or maraschino cherries.
½ cup milk.
2 tablespoons sugar mixed with ½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift flour, then measure. Resift with other dry ingredients. Rub fat into flour with the fingers until the mixture has the appearance of coarse cornmeal. Add well washed, drained currants and cherries. Add milk and mix as quickly as possible. Divide dough into six portions. Toss each portion onto slightly floured board to cover with flour, then place on greased baking sheet. Form into a disc one-eighth inch in thickness and 5 or 6 inches in diameter.

Brush surface with 1 egg yolk diluted with cream and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Mark top with a sharp knife into four sections, cutting almost through the dough. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.].

DR. HARRY DAVIS OF RADIO FAME IS DEAD AT 63

"Father of Broadcasting" Pneumonia Victim.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. Harry Phillips Davis, chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting company and internationally known as "the father of radio broadcasting," died at his home, 4917 Wallingford street, at 4:15 a. m. today. He had been ill several months.

His death was due to pneumonia, which developed after his return to Pittsburgh from the Mayo hospital in Rochester, Minn., where he underwent an operation. He was 63 years of age.

As vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and an executive in numerous other enterprises Dr. Davis was a conspicuous figure in engineering councils of the United States and many foreign countries. He was regarded as one of the outstanding engineers of the day.

Wins Vice Presidency.

Forty years ago Dr. Davis returned to this country from a tour of Europe, and joined the detail engineering department at the Westinghouse company. Five years later, in 1896, he was placed in charge of the department, and in 1904 was made manager. He was elected vice president in 1911.

Dr. Davis was regarded as a man of unusual energy and vision. His energy was revealed in nearly 80 patents issued to him for developments in electrical apparatus. Under his leadership many of the most important advances of the electrical world were made, these relating mainly, to meters, measuring instruments, circuit breakers, railway control apparatus, transmission equipments, and radio.

Electrified Railway.

Among his early achievements was his work in the electrification of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford railroad, the world's first single phase railway electrification.

During the world war he had charge of all the Westinghouse contracts for munitions.

As widely known as he was in engineering and industrial fields, it was for his development of radio broadcasting that he was known best. At a time when the public and engineers thought of radio as a means of private, or point to point communication, he established station KDKA, on Nov. 2, 1920, the first broadcasting station in the world.

SWANSON TO AID DU PAGE COUNTY ENRIGHT INQUIRY

State's Attorney Chauncey Reed of Du Page county and State's Attorney Swanson conferred yesterday regarding their duties in the investigation of the killing of Mortimer P. Enright, school board electrician and labor leader.

Following the conference, Mr. Swanson announced that although the murder was committed in Du Page county he would cooperate in every way possible with Prosecutor Reed. There had been reports that charges of fraud in the letting of school board contracts which followed the Enright killing would lead to a sweeping school board investigation.

"We have found nothing indicating any connection there," said Mr. Swanson. "We have some leads which will be followed in an effort to solve the murder, but so far they are nothing but suspicions and theories."

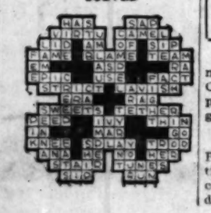
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



DR. C. W. LEIGH, FORMER CITY PHYSICIAN, DIES

Dr. Clarence Wilbur Leigh, city physician for Chicago from 1916 to 1920 and a major in the world war, died yesterday at Constantine, Mich., where he had been spending the summer. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow from the First Presbyterian church of Freeport, Ill., and burial will be in that city. Dr. Leigh was 71 years old.

Dr. Leigh received his medical education at Rush Medical college. He was formerly professor of tuberculosis and chief of the attending staff at the Cook County Tuberculosis hospital. He was a member of the Chicago, Illinois, and American Medical societies.

Dr. Leigh was formerly a surgeon in the Illinois National Guard and organized the first hospital corps in the state. Besides serving in the world war, he had been a lieutenant colonel in the Spanish-American war.

He retired from active practice several years ago, and traveled extensively. He is survived by his widow, Hazel, and two daughters, Mrs. Harriett Levine and Mrs. Marjorie Harris, all of Chicago.

DRUGGIST SHOT BY BANDIT AS HE STARTS FOR GUN

Albert W. Stoppel, 35 years old, was shot by one of two bandits who invaded his drug store at 2833 Irving Park boulevard yesterday. The bullet creased his skull and he fell unconscious. The robber fled without loot.

Stoppel was held up two months ago, and since then has kept a revolver in the rear of the store. He became suspicious when the men entered, shortly after he opened the place yesterday, and started for his gun. One of the bandits fired at him, dropping him behind a counter.

An assistant found Stoppel, still unconscious, when he arrived for work half an hour later. The druggist was taken to the office of Dr. Stephen A. Knaisel, 3000 Irving Park boulevard, and then removed to his home. He will recover.

RAISE ROTARIAN TODAY; HOPE TO FLOAT IT AWAY

The Rotarian, former floating fish and chop house and one time home of a political club of a former city administration, which has been sunk in the muck of the river bottom at Clark street for the last ten months, will be floated today or tomorrow, John Murphy, salvage contractor, said last night.

At 10 o'clock this morning the ancient hulk will be jacked up another foot and pumps capable of throwing three thousand gallons a minute will be started. Mr. Murphy thinks that five hours' pumping will empty the craft. After it is afloat city police and government inspectors will investigate to determine if possible the cause of the mysterious sinking. Then a tug will tow the hulk a mile into the lake and fire will finish its career.

Airway officials said the center of the storm apparently passed north of San Juan in the 44 minute period.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

About this question of boys taking girls out on dates, and then giving their attention to other girls:

How come, boys, that you bother trotting along a girl if you're not going to show her a good time?

Trix asks: "Do you think the reason is that he is trying to make me jealous?" "Is he losing interest," some plaintively inquire.

Which is it, young man—trying to inspire jealousy in the girl escorted?

There's always the clause in these accusations that you're nice and attentive when alone with the girl. But your devotion seems to waver in public.

Are the girls too exacting? Do they expect you to be at their side every minute? Do they put on a scene if you dance with another girl a second time? Do they try to make their authority felt too soon? Are they exorbitant in their requests? Do they presume because you take them out that they have the attention claims of an acknowledged fiancée?

Or are you just playing safe—not ready for marriage talk, and not willing to be identified too closely with one girl?

I have a feeling, based on a certain amount of evidence offered me in letters, that the girls begin to get possessive a little too soon for their own cause. They frighten boy friendships away by trying to convert them too early in the acquaintance into something much more serious.

Again, you boys may be doing a bit of strutting—showing off what killers you are with the ladies, forgetting meanwhile that the girl invited as your evening's companion is entitled to just a little more attention than any of the other girls present.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Attentions Prove Affection.

"Dear Miss Blake: My former friend says I am still his best girl but does not take me out. Please advise. CARMEL."

I'd question his sincerity. A young man is always very attentive to his best girl.

Passed Her Up.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love used to go out with me and later left me and went out with another girl. Now he wants to come back to me. I still love him. Do you think it proper for me to go with him?

"PANSY."

It's up to you, Pansy—but don't forget that he passed you up once, and may do so again.

PROF. E. S. KING NOTED HARVARD SCIENTIST, DIES

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Prof. Edward Skinner King, 70, Phillips professor emeritus of astronomy at Harvard university, died today at his home here. He was a native of Liverpool, N. Y., and had been connected with the Harvard observatory since 1887.

Prof. King, who obtained the first photographic observation of the occultation of a star and the first photograph of spectrum of the aurora, became Phillips professor emeritus recently, after occupying the chair since 1926. He received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Hamilton college in 1887 and 1890, respectively, and the same institution conferred the degree of doctor of science upon him in 1927.

Besides being a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Science and several astronomical societies, Prof. King wrote many scientific papers, principally on photographic photometry.

Prof. King leaves a widow, who was Kate Irene Colson of Batchellerville, N. Y., a son, Harold, who is professor of chemistry at Dalhousie university, Halifax, N. S., and a daughter, Margaret, wife of Prof. J. C. Manry of the State University of Iowa.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

LOEB, LEOPOLD BEGIN 8TH YEAR IN PRISON TODAY

Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, slayers of Bobby Franks, today entered the eighth year of their life sentences in the state penitentiary. They were taken on Sept. 11, 1924. Both are in the new prison at Stateville.

Loeb works in the greenhouse, while Leopold is water carrier for a steel gang. They seldom see each other.

Affable, friendly, and apparently resigned, Loeb is said to be well liked by the other prisoners. Leopold still holds himself aloof, according to reports. Relatives of the two visit them frequently.

Papini Renews Satiric Spirit of Earlier Days

His Insane Hero Pokes Fun at Authors.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Gog," by Giovanni Papini [Harcourt Brace & Co.] Published yesterday.

GIOVANNI PAPINI, who is best known for his stupendous and incredibly beautiful "Life of Christ," has regained in this, his latest book, something of the playboy spirit which made him the enfant terrible of Italy during the years of his youth before he became so ardently a Christian that he devoted all of his time and the energy of his pen to writing about religion.

GIOVANNI PAPINI.

"Gog" purports to be a sort of journal kept by a fabulous creature whose real name was Goggins, but who was always called Gog, to his own satisfaction, says Mr. Papini, "because it seemed to surround him with a sort of aura that partook of both the Biblical and the fabulous—Gog, king of Magog, as it were." He was born on one of the Hawaiian islands, but a lucky business coup in Chicago made him one of the richest men in the United States, "which is as good as saying of this planet."

Papini met him in a private insane asylum, where Gog was taking a cure [but Mr. Papini was only a visitor]. Gog liked private sanitariums, but never the same one for any length of time, so that his travels were extensive, as they had been throughout his life. He took himself where he would and to see whom he wished. He apparently enjoyed interviewing the great, because in his journal are records of interviews with Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Thomas Edison, Ford, Freud, Einstein, Knut Hamsun, Gandhi, Lenin, and J. G. Frazier. The gentlemen whom he interviews say strange things to him, slightly divergent from the things that they usually say to the ordinary interviewer.

Shaw, for instance, says to him, "My reputation as a buffoon is as undeserved as Byron's as a poet or Shakespeare's as a dramatist. Byron was an amateur controversialist and Shakespeare a philosophizing lyricist. Mind I do not say this by way of comparison—you will admit that I am so superior to both as to render any just comparison impossible. I feel deep pity for all men, for the sole reason that no one of them is fortunate enough to be G. B. Shaw."

H. G. Wells, Gog says, "has nothing of the poet, nothing of the dreamer or the metaphysician. He remains eternally the 'vendor of novelties.' Instead of shawls and hats he has been selling for the last thirty years, scientific chimeras, the 'latest thing' in novels, stories for Sunday reading, and paradoxes developing into tales."

Gog says that Gandhi told him, "If you will read my works and study my propaganda you will clearly see that four-fifths of my culture and my spiritual and political education are of European origin. Tolstoi and Ruskin are my real masters. The doctrine of nonresistance I preach was inspired by Christianity rather than Jainism. . . . My views concerning the justification of disobedience have come to me from Thoreau, the wise hermit of Concord, and my campaign against machinery is but a repetition of that which the Luddites, the followers of Ned Lud, carried out in England between the years 1811 and 1818. Even the poetry of the spinning wheel was revealed to me by the Gretchen episode in Goethe's 'Faust.'"

Gog listens to or invents and records in his journal all sort of strange tales and schemes for what he considers the betterment of mankind. The representative of the FOM's [Friends of Mankind] offers him memberships in a secret society whose business it is to exterminate all of the undesirables by means of an imperceptible poison, thus keeping the birth and the death rates more nearly comparable. A traveler from the south seas tells him of an ingenious scheme for accomplishing the same end.

If at the end of the year there have been nine more births than deaths, nine of the inhabitants of the island have to die. They are chosen by lot, not by fitness to die [as the governors of the island are themselves ancient and ready for death]. It is a clever way of fending off the problem of starvation by over population, according to the traveler.

All sorts of schemes are to be found in Gog's journal. One, a pet one with him, is to have small "alimentary cubes" labeled discreetly A. C., to which men and women may retire to go through the disgusting rite of eating. Eating should be a private function and time will make the present unrefined business of public stoking the human furnace impossible.

Gog's reactions to "the masterpieces of literature" are recorded in the first entry in the journal. He asked for a brief list of the world's masterpieces, and "closed my door to all intruders and stayed in bed to read. My first impression was one of bewilderment, for I could hardly believe that such humbug could really be a first class product of the human intellect." Then he tells what he read: "Of bodies of men called 'heroes' disemboweling one another throughout a whole decade beneath the walls of a small town, all on account of a mature female who had been seduced; of the journeyings of a living man in the realms of death, merely as an excuse for speaking ill alike of the living and the dead; of a couple of lunatics, one lean and one fat, roaming the country looking for a beating," and on and on through the recognized masterpieces of literature. That long paragraph of a page and more is almost an "Ask Me Another" of literature. It is fun to see how many of the masterpieces you can recognize from Gog's vitriolic description of them.

This year is the centenary of the reaper and that fact was marked in July when 7,000 persons gathered at Blacksburg, Va., for the celebration by the Virginia Polytechnic institute.

THE STAGE

THE next première of the new Chicago theatrical season is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 19—a week from tomorrow night—at the Apollo theater. The play bears the title of "In the Best of Families"; it is a farcical comedy dealing with the problematic parentage of a foundling, and it has a record of twenty weeks on Broadway. Burford Hampden, who acted the uxorious little Greek soldier in "Lysistrata" a year ago, will have the leading rôle. . . . "Billy Rose's Revue" is booked to begin a run at the Apollo Oct. 4, which means that "In the Best of Families" will stay there only two weeks and then find shelter in another Chicago playhouse, or else go on tour.

Ten other titles are now on Chicago's theatrical calendar for first nights between Sept. 19 and Oct. 26. They are: "Unexpected Husband," for the Adelphi; "The Silent Witness," for the Selwyn; "You Said It," for the Grand Opera house; "Girl Crazy," for the Garrick; "Billy Rose's Revue," for the Apollo; "The Venetian," for the Harris; "Private Lives," for the Erlanger; "Once in a Lifetime," for the Selwyn; "Three Men and a Girl," with Walker Whiteside, for the Blackstone, and "Against the Wind," with Mrs. Fiske, for the Blackstone.

Theatrical production for the early fall is now in full swing in New York. This week brought six premières; next week will bring six, and the week after that will bring nine, and maybe eleven. Patronage has been lively. The revues are being heavily patronized, and among the new plays, "Cloudy with Showers," by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell, authors of "Little Accident," appears to be a box office commodity.

Night before last Arthur Hopkins made his first production of the new season, which is his nineteenth as a play producer. The play was "Man on Stilts," a fantastic comedy which appears to have been suggested by the career of "Cash and Carry" Pyle, promoter of eccentric sports events. On looking back over his record, which has contained many notable plays, Mr. Hopkins gives first honors to "What Price Glory."

"Girl Crazy" will come here under the management of Gregory Ratoff, who burns with an ambition to make Chicago a "producing center." He will offer this reorganized Broadway musical show in place of the Chicago summer revue that he talked about through April, May, June, and July. The company will contain Frances Upton, Benny Rubin, Blossom Seeley, Bernard Granville, and Benny Fields in the rôles played in New York last season by Ginger Rogers, Willie Howard, Ethel Merman, Allen Kearns, and William Kent, respectively.

The Theater Guild has begun rehearsals for "Reunion at Vienna," a comedy by Robert Sherwood, in which Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne will have the leading rôles. The play will have a week of tryout performances in Pittsburgh, beginning Oct. 12, and will be launched for a run in New York Oct. 19.

Court Decides Movie Role of Miss Stanwyck

She Must Take $16,000; $35,000 Job Waits.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Barbara Stanwyck must play in a motion picture for which she will receive $16,000 before she can appear in one which will bring her $35,000.

Under an injunction issued today by Superior Judge Douglas Edmond, the screen star must complete her contract with Columbia studios, which called for three pictures. Charles W. Craddick, Miss Stanwyck's attorney, contended the contract covered only twelve months and the year had ended before she was asked to make the third film.

She had asked $50,000 to make the third picture, whereas under her contract she was to receive $16,000, attorneys for Columbia said.

The injunction ended a polite studio comedy of manners unique in movie history.

Miss Stanwyck holds a Warner Brothers contract which is to net her approximately half a million dollars in three years. For the last week she has been "working" at Warner Bros. on a picture in which neither she nor the studio was certain she would ever be seen and which would net her $35,000. The injunction again postpones that film, which has had an uncertain career during the several months since it first was scheduled as a Stanwyck vehicle.

The picture, "Safe in Hell," was to have been started early this year, but Columbia having prior rights on Miss Stanwyck's services, called her back. Marilyn Miller declined the Stanwyck rôle and with a newcomer, the stage substituting, the film was begun.

It was abandoned again after two or three days' work, the substitute actress not measuring up to expectations. Dorothy Mackaill, another Warner star, likes the rôle and recently was announced for it.

Meanwhile, however, the Stanwyck-Columbia disagreement arose. Miss Stanwyck offered herself as free to fulfill her Warner obligations. Uncertain as to her status until today's injunction, Warners could not refuse to put her to work, for fear of a breach of contract charge directed at the studio by Miss Stanwyck. Again she was given "Safe in Hell," as a vehicle.

So Miss Stanwyck, on call, has reported at the studio daily, gone through the formality of rehearsing lines, had fittings for costumes and in other ways prepared to start on a picture she may never make.

38 Women Tested as Auto Drivers; 24 Pass, 14 Failures

Examinations for thirty-eight women students in the Evanston driving school were completed yesterday, with twenty-four passing and receiving certificates as competent drivers, and fourteen failing. The school was run by Policemen Henry Dricker and Hubert Kelsh of Evanston.

At the same time Chief of Police William O. Freeman announced that Frank Kreml, who started the school, and afterward left to become secretary of the Chicago safety commission, would return to handle the driving lessons on Sept. 14.

A safety lane, through which brakes, lights and other parts of an automobile are tested for efficiency, will be installed next week along Lake street between Chicago and Hinman avenues, Chief Freeman announced.

John A. Carpenter to Compose Ode on Career of Washington

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—John Alden Carpenter, Chicago composer, today accepted an invitation extended him by the George Washington bicentennial commission to compose a choral ode in honor of George Washington.

The ode, as yet unnamed, will be published in time for performance during celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Washtington, it was stated.

Mr. Carpenter was selected to write the composition, the commission said, because he was "thoroughly representative of America and American ideals." Among his compositions are "Adventures in a Perambulator," "Skyscrapers," and "The Home Road," a song written during the world war period.

Pastors Urged to Study Minds, Avert Disaster

Doctor Says 'Check Rise of Mental Disorders.'

Bawyer, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—If you have a psychic complex, take it to your pastor. If the complex has not reached the stage of making you an out and out psychopathic, and if the pastor is not prepared to aid you, he is out of date; you better join another church. Such, in brief, is the opinion of Dr. William S. Sadler, Chicago psychiatrist. He spoke before 250 Congregational pastors at Tower Hill camp near here today.

The Chicago alienist asserted that the present scope of pastoral training is hampered by want of practical psychology and psychiatry. The recent expansion of those newer sciences, Dr. Sadler said, have made broad new fields for pastoral service. The pastor, now-a-days, he declared, must minister to incipient mental sickness, often thought of as mere "blues," but frequently the fore-runner of serious mental disturbances.

"The pastor who confines himself solely to spiritual and recreational leadership," Dr. Sadler declared, "is dodging a serious responsibility in these days of increasing mental illnesses. Christianity, more than any other faith, has an immense opportunity to aid physicians and psychiatrists in clearing up minor mental disturbances. Slight worries, nevrous strain, over active imaginations, so frequently found in times of economic stress, can easily be conquered by a wise pastor who has a rudimentary knowledge of psychiatry.

Forty per cent of mental cases under special treatment, Dr. Sadler said, are those of dementia praecox. Many thousands of the victims need never to have been committed to hospitals, he said, if proper treatment had been employed during early stages. If pastors were familiar with early treatment of dementia praecox, a much greater control over it could be obtained, Dr. Sadler asserted. He added that such pastoral work would be a great crime deterrent, as many criminals are dementia praecox victims.

At least one church in Chicago has begun work along lines Dr. Sadler suggested. A report by Harriet Howard, chairman of the practical work department of the Christian Endeavor society, Metropolitan Community church, 4100 South Park way, a "behavior clinic" recently has been opened. The clinic is conducted in cooperation with the University of Chicago.

Simple Wedding Rites Today for the Former Muriel Vanderbilt

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The marriage of Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, elder daughter of Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt and of William K. Vanderbilt, to Henry Delafield Phelps will take place late tomorrow afternoon at Fairmount, the country place of the bride's mother in Manhasset, L. I. The ceremony, which will be witnessed by relatives and a few friends, will be performed by Justice of the Supreme Court Lewis L. Fawcett. Afterwards there will be a small reception.

The bride will be escorted by her brother, William K. Vanderbilt Jr. Mr. Phelps will be attended by his father, Edgar M. Phelps, as best man. There will be no bridesmaids or ushers. When Mr. Phelps and his bride return from a wedding trip they will live at Dudley Farms, Mrs. Church's place in Newport.

Mr. Phelps is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morris Phelps of Slate Hill farm, Middleton, R. I., near Newport. The marriage of Mrs. Church to Frederick Cameron Church Jr., which took place in Newport in July, 1925, ended in divorce.

New Location for Dearborn Tragedy Statue?

Bridge Safety Island Is One Site Suggested.

Various prominent citizens of Chicago yesterday received a communication from Theodore L. Condron, engineer, requesting an expression of opinion about a plan for relocating the Fort Dearborn Massacre monument. If sufficient impetus is given, the plan will be laid before the city officials, officers of the Chicago Historical society, and the south park commissioners, for their approval and consent.

The Condron plan is to place the bronze group on a safety island dividing the west piers of the 18d street viaduct over the Illinois Central tracks. One of three locations most favored is the center of the roadway, where the figures would be faced westward, on a diamond shaped island with traffic lights imbedded in the eastern and western points of the island base.

This position would give the monument a commanding site, certain to be passed each year by millions of motorists entering and leaving the city. A further advantage lies in the fact that the point chosen is not far distant from 18th street, usually designated as the scene of the massacre. As a matter of fact, the clash between the Indians and the soldiers and civilians deserting the fort is thought to have spread out for some distance along the lake shore.

Depredations by vandals and erosion by rust and smoky atmosphere recently inspired the Chicago Historical society to remove the massacre monument, which depicts Black Partridge rescuing Mrs. Helm, to its own property at Dearborn and Ontario streets. Restoration of the figures and of the bronze plates, torn off many months ago by thieves, will precede any decision as to the future locale of the monument.

Chicago Concert Band Will End Its Season with Northland Music

The last performance of the Chicago Concert band this season will be heard by thousands tonight in Grant park. The band, sponsored by the Chicago Concert Band association, will retire until next summer. Then a series of concerts will be given in the band shell under the direction of Victor J. Grabel.

Tonight a selected chorus of ninety voices from the Norsemen and Bjorgvin singing organizations, among the oldest of their kind in the city, will sing Nordic compositions. This combined chorus will sing a special arrangement of "Crusaders' Hymn," a melody from the 15th century, and Edvard Grieg's "Land Sighting," from his unfinished opera "Olav Tryggvason." The soloists will be Otto Clausen, baritone, and Olav Hjorth, tenor. Knute Hansen, assistant director of the United Norseman Singers of America, will conduct.

The Bjorgvin society was founded in 1881 to bring to Chicago musical compositions which have emanated from the community of Bergen, Norway, the home and burial place of Grieg and Ole Bull. The Norsemen society was formed in 1870.

Miss Rosalinda Morini, coloratura soprano, will appear again as soloist, singing "Il re Pastore" of Mozart and "Je Suis Titania," from "Mignon."

Jews Observe New Year at Two Day Rites

Services Start Tonight; Rabbi Explains.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Tonight will usher in the year 5692. At least, that is the traditional number of years since creation observed by Jews throughout the world. However, in explaining the meaning of the Jewish holidays, "Rosh Hashonah," Rabbi Benjamin A. Daskal, spiritual leader of Congregation Rodfei Zedek, 1022 East 54th place, said the number of years does not represent scientific thought, but the religious traditions of the Jewish race, and is observed for religious purposes only.

At Sinai temple, 48th street and South Park way, Dr. Louis L. Mann will speak on "Religion and the Challenge of Our Day." He will discuss the oppressing moral and economic problems of the present day. There will be special music directed by Albert Booroff.

Rabbi Daskal pointed out that the holidays primarily are a "children's feast," and find their background in Abraham's proffered sacrifice of Isaac. The willingness of Abraham to offer his son on the altar occurred on a new year's day in the 28th century B. C., and it marks, the rabbi explained, the end of human sacrifice among the Jews. The biblical account tells how a ram was divinely supplanted in place of Isaac.

"Therefore," continued Rabbi Daskal, "the ram's horn is the central symbol of Rosh Hashonah. It is sounded three times on the second of the two holidays by one of the older members of the synagogue. The three notes typify three calls to youth—the call to assembly, the advance toward the new year and the observance of the achievements of the past year."

Rabbi Daskal announced that 300 children of Rodfei Zedek will conduct their own service. Three services will be held simultaneously, one in the main synagogue, one in the assembly hall and the third in the community house.

The holidays last two days, Rabbi Daskal explained, because the Jewish faith is world-wide. With the difference in time between the eastern and western hemispheres, he said, it would be impossible for international Jewry to coöperate simultaneously during any one period of 24 hours, unless the holidays extended over two days. For instance, Rabbi Daskal said, if the holiday were but one 24 hour period, the Jews of the orient would complete the observance of the day before their brethren of the western hemisphere had begun.

All synagogues of the city have planned the traditional and special services of observance of the new year.

CENSUS REPORT SAYS 26,849,639 ATTEND SCHOOLS IN THE U. S.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—As millions of children throughout the country mournfully answer the toll of school bells for the fall term the census bureau today reported more youngsters in classes than a decade ago.

The bureau found in its 1930 count that of 38,387,032 persons between 5 and 20 years old, 26,849,639, or 69.9 per cent, were attending school. Ten years ago 21,373,976, or 64.3 per cent of 33,250,870 between the same ages, were pupils.

An increase in older children attending classes over the number ten years ago was shown. There remained, however, a sharp decrease in school population in children 15 and older, although a slight gain was shown in 1930.

The largest increase in older students was reported in the 21 and over division, which showed 1,034,782 in school, against 344,789 ten years ago. The total of eligibles in this division was not given.

Girls and boys were about equally divided in the total school citizenry. Of the 19,112,883 girls, 13,327,871 were in school, while 13,521,703 of the total of 19,274,149 boys were enrolled.

Of the urban population between 5 and 20, 72.3 per cent were in school; rural farm districts, 56.4; and rural nonfarm or villages, 69.3 per cent. The bulk of students 21 and over came from the urban areas, accounting for 738,193; 142,293 in the rural sections and 156,317 in the villages.

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined. She leases a Mexican rancho and moves her starving herd there. She is barely settled when a revolution breaks out. Megares, bogey man of the border, is the leader. Ranse Brennan, a former foreman of Lee's, is his right hand man. Brennan was discharged by Lee and swore revenge. Lee hires a new hand, who is recognized by Dunc Daggett, an old ranch helper, as Jack Hadley, a millionaire oil man of California, whose father owned a mine near Lee's ranch and was murdered by outlaws. Hadley is searching for the murderer of his father. Hadley and Lee call on Megares, who is, apparently, friendly to them. Megares calls at the ranch for dinner and is infatuated with Lee's guest, Mrs. Doris Silver. Next day while out driving Lee and her ranchers are attacked by a band of soldiers. Megares comes to live at the rancho, to protect them, he says, though they really are his prisoners. Doris is rescued by airplane by her husband. Lee refuses to leave her ranchers—and Jack Hadley, whom she loves. Harold Silver promises to return with an armed plane for their rescue. Lee and Jack are held for Megares' return.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

A COURT MARTIAL.

A heavy footstep sounded in the corridor outside the room. The door opened, and a swarthy heavy set Mexican in the uniform of a major stood at the entrance. He was dusty and grimy and disheveled.

"The general has sent me to take command here," he announced in a harsh, decisive voice. "You are under arrest, Lieut. Rodriguez."

"I beg—I beg you to believe that I did not mean any harm, Major," he gulped.

"That is not my affair. The general will be judge of that."

"The general is not here with you," Jack suggested.

The major turned opaque eyes on him. "The general is just now busy elsewhere, sir."

"A big battle is being fought, I think. How does it go?"

"We have repelled Gen. Luna's forces many times. They come back. They pour into the streets. We drive them back. They are lodged in one end of the town. Many have been killed and wounded. The end is not yet."

"Do you expect the general here tonight?" Lee asked the officer.

"Not tonight. He will not leave the field until the enemy is defeated and our army safe. . . . Meanwhile, I, Pablo Marcos, command here. You are prisoners.

Four men filed into the room.

The lady will remain here," the officer told the corporal in charge. "You will take the gringo prisoner to the room at the end of the corridor. Lieut. Rodriguez will be put in a tent outside. See that both are well guarded. The vaqueros of the señorita will be kept in the bunkhouse, also under guard."

Jack took Lee's hands in his. "Don't be afraid, little comrade," he said. "It's going to be all right."

She nodded. "I'll remember, and I won't be afraid . . . much."

The young man turned to the officer. "Ready, Major."

A moment later Lee heard the tramping of feet as they passed down the corridor.

"Don't be afraid, little comrade."

The major closed the door behind him and locked it.

She sat beside the window as the darkness gathered. Her mind was busy recapitulating the events of the day. It had been the most memorable one in her life. She had found her love, had known a joy which had throbbed through her whole being vehemently. She was his and he was hers in spirit. Nothing could change that. No matter what Megares did he could not rob them of each other. Somewhere, in this world or another, their love would find completion.

At intervals there came on the night breezes the far explosions of the big guns. As long as they lasted she might hope. Manuel Megares might be killed. He might be captured. He might be driven away in another direction and the rancho be relieved by federal troops.

The artillery was still sounding when at last, long after midnight, she fell into troubled sleep.

A ball of fire was just tiptoeing over the jagged hills of the horizon line when a car drove up to the rancho. Looking out of his window, Jack saw five men descend from it.

A few minutes later a guard of armed men came for Hadley. They led him to the big living room. Megares sat at a table flanked by other officers. Brennan was one of them, Maj. Marcos another. All of them looked haggard and worn. None of them had been shaved except Marcos. A blood stained bandage was tied around the head of Megares.

As Jack entered the room Lee was led in by another door. He smiled at her and bowed.

Megares did not rise. His suave urbanity had been sloughed. He looked harsh and sullen. It struck Hadley that his manner was hardly that of a general who had just won a decisive victory over the enemy.

"So," he cried savagely, and brought his fist down on the table. "While I am fighting my country's battles you dare to make a fool of me. . . . Ha! Rodriguez! Very good. The lesser first."

The unfortunate Rodriguez had just been brought into the room. He dropped on his knees before the general.

"Mercy. She was disguised and the soldier on guard let her pass. Mercy, I beg, my general."

"He betrays his trust. He lets a valuable prisoner escape. Let him be shot tomorrow at dawn."

The condemned man was dragged from the room.

Megares turned once more to the young American.

"We will hear you, Mr. Hadley. You will tell us, if you please, about the escape of Mrs. Silver and your part in it."

"Not much to tell, General. Her husband knew she was here and dropped down in a plane. Naturally she wanted to go back with him. So she went. She would, of course, have asked your permission if you had been here, but since you weren't . . ."

"Ah! She would have asked my permission? And you advised her no doubt to go?"

"She didn't really ask for my advice."

"Or for yours, señorita?" Megares demanded, turning abruptly to Lee.

"No. She was so anxious to get home, General."

He interrupted rudely. "And you. Are you anxious to get home, too? Will you not stay with us, señorita, and console us for the loss of Mrs. Silver?"

She could not miss the cruel exultation in his voice. He did not need to put more clearly into words his meaning. She looked at him steadily, in silence, pale to the lips. Her lover, she believed, was very close to death, and she herself to dishonor.

Her anxious eyes passed to Brennan, to Marcos, to the other officers present, and found no hope in their faces. Their general was a despot and would have his way. And yet—surely he could not destroy two Americans of standing without an excuse that would stand muster.

His excuse was offered with a grin of cynical malice. "You are charged, both of you, with having attacked peaceful citizens of the country, friends of the revolution, and with having murdered two of them and wounded three others. But we are just. You shall have a fair trial before you are executed."

"A fair trial," Jack repeated. "And you have convicted us already. I protest. We are citizens of the United States. You have no authority to try us by court martial. I demand to see our consul."

"Refused. You will be tried by this court—now."

Hadley's cold steel barred eyes met the crouched ferocity ready to leap like a wild beast out of the black balls glaring at him.

"Very well. Try me if you want a victim. Miss Reynolds was not armed the day we were attacked. That can easily be proved."

"We will try you both. If she is innocent, let her convince the court."

Jack looked from one to another of the members of the court. Brennan was an enemy to both the prisoners. Marcos looked like an honest man. The rest had been hand picked by Megares. Probably they had been members of his outlaw band, ruffians ready for any crime.

"We shall proceed at once. One of these officers will represent you as counsel," he said.

"And you?" Megares asked, turning to Lee.

It was in her mind to say that Hadley would represent her, but some instinct stopped the words. Ranse Brennan hated her. But she had read in his face a sullen reluctance at taking part in the proceedings. No matter how great the grudge he held against her he could not want to see her destroyed by this villain.

"I choose Col. Brennan," she said impulsively.

Hadley looked at her in astonishment, but his surprise was no greater than that of her ex-foreman. Brennan's choleric face flushed.

"Me! You want me to defend you?" he burst out.

Her eyes held to his bravely, but her lips were tremulous. "If you will, please."

He stared at her, so slender and boyish, yet so gallantly poised. Perhaps his memory bridged the years to the old days when there had been kindness between her and him, to that summer when he had been to the girl home from school a hero to be admired.

"Why pick me?" he demanded roughly. "You know I'm against you all the way."

"I know you. I don't know the others. You can tell them it isn't true what Gen. Megares wants them to believe."

"All right," he said gruffly.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Wants a Bicycle.

"My health is poor and I have no work and as my prospects of locating a job are slim here, I should like to go to California. At least, my health would be better there. I cannot afford to go by train and I thought I'd try to travel by bicycle if you could get one for me. Perhaps some one would have some hiking shoes, size 7, too. I would work along the way for meals and lodging. C. W."

C. W. has a long trek before him, but since he has nothing to keep him here, I see no reason why he shouldn't attempt such a journey. Can you supply the equipment he will need?

Mate Seeking Germans Find Few Dowries

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—With the third year of continuous and active existence behind it, the first and only private marriage counsel bureau in Berlin regards itself well beyond the experimental stage. It is located on Goethe street in the Charlottenburg district of Berlin.

In three years the group which meets twice weekly with troubled husbands and wives has learned a thing or two about marital mixups.

At this bureau questionnaires and other official documents have been avoided. There is no "follow through," no social service tracing of what has happened to the helpseekers and of the proposed panacea has "taken."

In increasing numbers distraught couples seek help. During dreary and desperate days in Germany the problems of normal times are intensified: Shortage of money, nervous strain, melancholy—and very often the deadly, unwanted leisure which enforced idleness—which is to say, joblessness—brings.

While the marriage bureau twice a week gives out its advice to the "lovelorn," other still unmarried persons in Germany are busied with other problems—very often that great problem which makes necessary the work of the bureau: getting married.

Now that funds are so short and credit either hard to get or nonexistent, the good old marriage portion or dowry or dot or "mitgift" as it is known in Germany, must seem all the more enticing to the business man who hasn't yet married, or at the moment happens to be unmarried. The more enticing because dots now are rare.

While it is true that more marriages are made in which the bride's financial accompaniment is either nonexistent or too small to be noticed, that partly may be attributed to the changed attitude of young Germans. Rather it is due to the simple and arithmetical fact that there are so few dots nowadays.

An appreciable number of marriage agencies, where suitable young ladies are found for suitable young men or vice versa, for a specific small per cent of the bride's riches, nevertheless do business. In fact, the agencies seem more necessary than ever, because the ambitious-to-marry-well boys have to know personally an almost impossible number of girls before finding one who has the silver and gold lining inside her hope chest.

A young German, a university student, told the manager of one of the marriage bureaus that he thought her work should be done by the state, free of charge: because, of course, the state must be interested in seeing its citizens and citizenesses well and happily married.

Friendly Attitude Towards Children Prevents Problems

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

What pictures words can paint. Recently a man who has heavy business responsibilities said to me:

"The boys and their mother and I go everywhere together. We go to sporting events, we go on trips, and our house is the gathering place of the clans. We're lucky, of course, in having lots of room in our house—and outside, too. But it isn't just that. We all have such a good time together." He stopped a moment. "When I was a boy my father was just like that with us, too."

"We have a boy of 10. He has been punished few times. Of all the boys with whom he associates, he seems to be the only one who has his own bedroom and in bad weather the boys congregate there. Noise? Yes, and how! Upset? Yes, and how! But everything is cleared up before they leave and sometimes I join them. We have just the best times all over the house. Daddy, too, can bring his friends in any time of the day or night, for meals, too, and we have a happy time out of life.

"It's a terrible thing for any one to be aggravated at meal times—much more so a child whose nervous organism gets out of gear just as well as that of mature persons. And if we parents do not control our tempers, what can we expect of our offspring?

"Regarding dirty clothes. Why not allow children to wear old things when they play after school? 'I wish you could have seen the boys yesterday when they came in for supper—they had been climbing around and on the rocks in the park. They were so dirty and had torn their old shoes and old pants but 'O, we've had such a good time!' And they all have good table manners and are a bunch of very fine boys."

Can you imagine that boy at 15 smoking and lying about it? Can you picture him going off ostensibly to school but not showing up there for days at a time? Can you see him in the unhappy and confused condition of behavior that boys sometimes get into? I can't.

There is a fine and right relation between children and parents. When it exists it almost always automatically does away with real problems.

Start Work Soon on General Exhibits Fair Building Group

World's fair officials announced yesterday that work would start soon on the general exhibits group of the exposition buildings, to be situated between 22d and 18th streets. Tentative plans as formulated and shown in an architect's drawing now on exhibition at the administration building, call for seven pavilions.

On the east the group will face the south lagoon and on the west the exposition's main north and south drive. The group will be 1,600 feet long, 250 feet wide, and two stories high.

White and gray, embellished with brilliant spots of colors, will predominate in the color scheme. Flood lights at night will bathe the group in constantly changing colors. Each pavilion will contain a hall surrounded by a mezzanine balcony. Separate entrances will lead to each pavilion.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Lyle, aged 7, was eating a late breakfast with his grandma, when he noticed that her coil of hair was becoming loose. Not having lived with women who "did up" their hair, he hardly knew how to tell her, but finally said, "Grandma, your knob's unbuttoned." I. B.

Firm Foundations Necessary to Chic

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris is working harder than a professional rejuvenator to eradicate all wrinkles from the garments that are worn under the dress this fall. Plaits, tucks, and gathers have been eliminated from the lingerie that is okayed by the Rue de la Paix. Most chemises are cut on the bias, for the Paris dressmakers have learned that there is nothing like a bias cut to make a chemise cling like glue, and the culottes worn with these chemises are guiltless of elastic or gathers also.

The Vionnet chemise and short culottes shown in our sketch are the generally accepted lingeries of the smart Parisienne. They are trimmed simply with hemstitching, and at the bottom of the culottes is a band of georgette. These garments are made in white or pale tints to harmonize with the frock under which they are worn. It is no longer enough to wear pink undies with everything. You have to assemble your color ensemble from the skin out to be absolutely in style.

With the necessity for eliminating all bulk and wrinkles from the inside of the ensemble, new corsets have become all important. The best corsetieres in Paris have found a way to make these retainers of flesh without undue stiffness and at the same time firm. The newest ones, like the Charmis corset shown at the bottom of our sketch, are made of lace, backed by cotton net, and given a sustaining firmness by light whalebones down the front and by silk elastic insets at the sides, where the hips get unruly.

SANITARY protection is closely related to your health. You need absolute assurance of cleanliness, through and through. This assurance you have with Kotex.

But how about the dozens of nameless substitutes? How are they made? Where? By whom? How do you know they're fit for this intimate personal use?

Take no chances! Refuse questionable substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing. You know Kotex is safe. It's the world's standard in sanitary protection. Pure, immaculate, safe. Ten million pads were bought by hospitals last year. Insist on Kotex. Kotex is soft and comfortable. It is treated to deodorize. Shaped to fit. Disposable.

Decorators Are Busy with the Society Homes

BY THALIA

THESE are busy and palmy days for the interior decorators who enjoy fashionable patronage, as there are numerous new apartments in the process of being made ready for October occupancy.

Of course, decorators don't have "carte blanche to "do" whole jobs as they used to do. Nowadays, most women are well informed on decorative principles and they have very definite ideas of their own. Some of them plan their entire schemes of furnishing and decoration themselves, and all of them supervise the process very closely.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne planned several rooms for the new apartment in the 1242 Lake Shore drive building that her mother, Mrs. William C. Niblack, is to move into this fall. She designed, I understand, a French blue and orchid bedroom, and a novel treatment for the dining room. It was her idea to panel an alcove with scenic wallpaper instead of covering all the walls as is commonly done. Mrs. Niblack has had a house in Lake Forest this summer, and is moving into town shortly.

Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick has come on from Bar Harbor to superintend some of the details of her large apartment in the new building at the corner of Astor and Goethe. It has 16 rooms and occupies a floor and a half of the structure, which is also to house the George A. Ranneys, the Sterling Mortons, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, the John Shepard Stones, and the Wallace Winters when it is completed this fall.

The Solomon A. Smiths have a large apartment, also in the 1242 Lake Shore drive building, into which they'll be moving when they come in from Lake Forest, and the William Ernest Grahams, who were married in the spring, are to reside there also.

Talk about dauntlessness! It happened that Mrs. Samuel Chase was going to give a dinner party for her sister, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, a few nights ago. On the morning of the day of the party she telephoned to Lake Geneva to talk to Mrs. Fairbank about something or other, and discovered that she wasn't there, that she'd evidently forgot all about the engagement and was some 300 miles away, peacefully fishing with her son, Ben, at Fish Creek, Wis. The upshot of the matter was that Mrs. Fairbank, finally reached at Fish Creek, calmly ate her lunch there and then in her trusty flivver made the trip of some 250 miles or so from Fish Creek to Lake Forest in time to bathe, dress, and appear in her usual good spirits as guest of honor at the dinner. She had to drive on an average of 50 miles per to do it, too.

Fort Sheridan's annual two day horse show is to begin at 9 o'clock this morning with a military event, "Troopers' mount." The rest of the morning's program is mostly military, too, and this afternoon, will be the hunter and jumper classes. There are 35 "handy hunters" entered for the opening class at 1 o'clock, and the "touch and out" event, scheduled for 3 o'clock will doubtless be one of the most thrilling for spectators and riders. The juvenile classes will be tomorrow morning, and tomorrow afternoon, several of the gaited saddle classes, the $250 Jumpers' stake, the Fort Sheridan Officers' club challenge cup, the Fort Sheridan hunter championship, and the 1931 grand hunter championship of the North Shore Show circuit are events that will conclude the show.

John V. Farwell, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Donald B. Douglas, C. Colton Daughaday, and Mrs. Austin Niblack have reserved parking spaces, and there is a long list of prominent boxholders. Some of the events will be held in the west ring, immediately in front of the grandstand and boxes, and some in the east ring, which is a larger space beyond.

The debut tea of Miss Dorothy Eustis Gerhard, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. Ashley Gerhard of Winnetka, is to be postponed from Dec. 18 to Tuesday, Dec. 22. It will be held at her parents' residence.

Assisting at Miss Chloe Watson's debut tea, to be given this afternoon by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Watson, at their Winnetka residence will be Mary Cushman, Marian Calkins, Louise Ruffner, Peggy Glidden, Welthyan Harmon, Theodora Shaw, Alice May Dickinson, Nancy Kling, Margaret Hamill, Harriet Tilden, Annie Mason, and Adelaide Atkin. Nearly all of the assisting buds are having teas of their own this month, and most of them are returning to their respective schools. Miss Watson is to continue her studies at Smith.

Topical—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Stevens are giving a dinner and theater party this evening for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watts of Colchester, England, and Gov. and Mrs. Louis Emmerson are also to be guests. . . . Mrs. Nan Barclay has come on from New York City for a month's stay in Chicago at 14 West Elm street . . . . Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Glidden have given up their apartment at the Balden-Stratford hotel and are moving to 1519 Hinman avenue. . . . Mrs. Charles R. Robinson of 1120 Lake Shore drive has returned from a six weeks' visit on Cape Cod.

Woman's City Club.

The Young Woman's branch of the Woman's City club will hold its opening meeting of the season this evening in the club rooms at 6 North Michigan avenue.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. James Grafton Rogers moved today to their apartment in the Wardman Park hotel.

Maj. Raymond V. Hardenbergh, U. S. A., and Mrs. Hardenbergh will announce here tomorrow the engagement of their daughter, Helen Stewart Johnson, to Lieut. Francis Regis Seitz, U. S. A., son of Mrs. George Hillary Seitz of Wilmington, Del. Miss Hardenbergh is a graduate of the Abbott academy at Andover, and later studied in Europe. She was presented to society in Chicago in 1926 by her grandmother, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson of Winnetka, Ill., and made her debut here in 1927, later in that year making her bow at the court of St. James. Seitz is a graduate of West Point in the class of 1929. The wedding will take place in Chicago in December.

ENGAGEMENT

Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Cosmos Garvy of 6000 Sheridan road announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Cecile, to William Fernandes Potts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thomas Potts of Miami Beach and Chicago. Cleanse the Face Thoroughly Before Removing Blemishes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A comedone extractor is what is meant. For some reason the word implement sounds to me like a bludgeon of some sort or something that is to be found hanging around the barn door.

A comedone extractor is but a small metal cylinder on the end of a handle, and couldn't wield a blow hard enough to raise a welt. But it is good on its own job. When the comedone [the blackhead] is placed in the center of the cylinder and pressure is applied around the orifice of the duct, the plug is forced out.

The query reminds me of a reported habit of pricking the blackhead out with a needle, a reckless procedure, when there are simpler ways of freeing the skin surface of the annoying things. The blackhead has to be squeezed out after the needle pricking, anyway, and it may well be done without the needle being used at all.

If the skin is softened with a cream or oil, which cream or oil may be a cleansing lotion, or warm water is applied to the surface affected, there is not much difficulty in extracting the comedones. It is wise to extract only those that are removed easily, leaving the stubborn ones until a day or two later. You can by too diligent application to removing the small black tipped plug from the face make a sore looking surface, which is utterly unnecessary.

Get the face clean first, no matter what you use for extraction. After the cream or oil wash I urge a warm soap and water wash to follow, to get all the cream out of the way. The cream or oil is good, however, for softening the duct content. A rinse in warm water is advised after the soap use, and then you may take a bit of linen between your fingers and press lightly around the orifice of the duct.

After the performance use an astringent. Use cold water if there isn't anything else handy. Use it any way to close the now extended pore. The truth is that if more of it had been used early in the skin care there'd be less blackhead difficulty to contend with.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

That charity victory over the White Sox was just the kind of tonic the Cubs needed. They went back into their own element yesterday and as proof that they had been revitalized they almost knocked down William Wrigley's brick fences with a 17 to 4 triumph over the Phillies, who, while humble, are frequently bothersome. Thus the series of league reverses which the Cubs had suffered was coincided at nine straight.

The feature of the spectacle was a noisy fifth inning in which the Cubs refused to give any quarter to Elliott or Watt until after nine runners had scored as the result of eight hits, three walks and an error. Two of the eight wallops were wind blown homers by Gabby Hartnett and Pat Malone, who finally was started after the club had debated for several days on whether or not to banish him for the season as compensation for his assault on two newspaper men.

Four Hits for Gabby, Klkl.

While the battle was something the smallest crowd of the season will try to forget in a hurry, it at least helped some batting averages which have been shrinking at a lively rate. The grand total off three Philadelphia pitchers was 21 hits for 33 bases. A large part of the 21 was furnished by Hartnett and Cuyler, each being the author of four. Gabby, however, earned the edge on distance because of his home and one double. Gabby also got credit for batting in six runs. Tin Barton was another man of action with a double and two singles, not to mention his scoring of a run from second base on a fly ball.

Dudley will pitch against Smith today.

Phils Start With Two Runs.

The Phillies' two run attack in the second began when Arlett popped a single straight past Pat's broad face. Davis singled to right. Malone bunted and Malone tried to pick up the ball but he didn't succeed. By the time he actually located it the bases were loaded. Friberg's throw was just low enough to permit Herman to flag it. Then Elliott singled past first base to send Arlett and Davis, the ponderous twins, across the plate. Brickell's grounder to Hornsby which Mallon was stopped going home and three strikes for Bartell pulled Malone out of the hole.

The brisk wind from behind the stand conspired to give the Cubs a run on a rare happening in the second. After Hornsby had popped out, Barton lined to left and stretched it into a double when he noticed Taitt was in no particular hurry to retrieve the ball. Dan Taylor lifted a high fly to center and Brickell, by running back almost to the wall, managed to get it with his gloved hand. Barton promptly broke for third and instead of stopping, as is customary, kept right on moving toward the plate. He arrived just ahead of the throw in.

Cubs Score Nine in Fifth.

Hurst's line drive homer into the right field seats at the start of the fifth stretched the Phils' lead to 3 to 1, but a few moments later the Cubs adapted this to suit their own purposes. D. Taylor walked to start the home half. Grimm's short fly fell behind first for a double, Taylor scoring. Kreevich scored ahead of Hartnett, whose home run sailed into the bleachers to left. Malone then hit his home run to right. English walked and Cuyler singled and Brickell's bad return throw gave each an extra base. Hornsby's hit over short moved them along and also moved Elliott out of the box.

The appearance of Watt as relief

HACK WILSON AND CUBS.

THE WAKE'S mail is filled these days with communications from fans on the subject of Hack Wilson and the Cubs. Nine out of ten of these letters are critical either of Manager Hornsby or the Cub owners. This preponderance is due, in part, to the fact that those who are dissatisfied are the ones who write. Those satisfied with events as they are do not write.

Another thing, public sympathy, as a rule, is with the player in any controversy with owners—possibly a majority of baseball followers would side, at least temporarily, with Wilson in his difficulties. We confess that, too, is our own general tendency. In the present instance, however, we are open minded on what facts we know, but inclined toward the management so far as discipline is concerned.

The Wake liked to attend games in which Hack participated. He was the most colorful player on the team—because he was a hero or a goat. For several years he was ascending the scale until he reached his all-time league record of 1930 in home runs and total runs driven home. This year Hack was a flop. He tried just as hard as ever—perhaps he tried even harder. The Cubs management gave him plenty of opportunities. He simply could not deliver.

On record of past services Wilson might be considered deserving future opportunity to come back in Chicago. That is the moot question. Was he so deserving? The Cubs have proclaimed him guilty of violating training rules not once but many times. They attribute his slump to those causes. Possibly it might have been more tactful not to proclaim these alleged breaches, but at least it was honest. Wilson's trading value is injured by the very publicity so given.

If the Cub management is convinced, whether rightly or wrongly, that Hack's usefulness to Chicago is ended, it is fairer to him to send him elsewhere. It is claimed his batting and fielding vision is affected. If that returns he will be a great hitter again—somewhere else.

Of the sixteen major league clubs there are not more than a half dozen whose owners we choose to regard as real sportsmen. The Cubs are one of these. Whether they acted wisely in choosing Hornsby to succeed Joe McCarthy, whether they act wisely in trading Wilson, whether they show good judgment in other matters, we do not profess to say. We do know Owner Wrigley and President Veeck want a winner. We know they are trying, at least, to produce one and that finances do not dictate their policies. Whatever their mistakes, if any, it is pretty safe to string along with them on that theory.

Because baseball is a quasi-public institution fans are privileged to voice indignation and criticism. That privilege is one of the things which make baseball. With those fans who wish Hack Wilson well elsewhere and hope to see him "come back" we are in hearty accord—more than that, we're enthusiastic. Yet we cannot bring ourselves to a point of indignation over what's happened. No manager can long survive without producing results. No manager can produce results, other than temporary, without club discipline.

Now about this discipline thing. Hack was far from the hero of the 1929 world series on fly balls. Yet on his 1930 record he was receiving, we are told, $32,000 this season, or $220 per game. That's almost half what the President of the United States receives. Let the answer come that he must be worth it, or expected to be worth it or he wouldn't get it, and we'll reply that if any one offered us half that amount we'd agree to go to bed nights, something we've never done — because morning newspaper men do not go to bed nights.

Q BOATS START LUTZ CUP RACES AT SIX BELLS

Three Contest Series Will Conclude Sunday.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

One of the best known yachting arguments on Lake Michigan will begin today with the opening of the tenth annual three race series among Q boats for the Lutz trophy at Jackson park. Today's battle will be over a quadrangular twice around course of 12 miles, and will begin at 3 o'clock. A windward and leeward race will start at the same hour tomorrow and the final race will be sailed over a triangular course, with the starting gun at 2 o'clock on Sunday.

Four boats—three of them former winners of the series—will sail in the present trio of races. They are the Karas brothers' Siren, from the Chicago Yacht club, winner of the Lutz trophy in 1924, 1927, and last year; the O'Rourke brothers' Intruder from the Jackson Park club, victor in 1929; another home club representative, the Princess, owned by Ed Jedzry-Kowski and Carl Kallgren, winner in 1926 and 1928; and S. B. King's Chaperon, also from Jackson park.

Siren Is Favorite.

Siren, which took the racing prize in the recent long haul to Mackinac, is a favorite to repeat its victory of last year, but Intruder apparently has snapped out of the slump it has been in this season, and Princess also will supply plenty of competition for the invader from the north side.

The Q class first became popular in 1913 when the O'Rourke brothers brought Chaperon to the Jackson park fleet from Buffalo. The year 1921 found seven Q boats actively racing and before the end of that season John O'Rourke and Clarence Kraft led club members in scheduling a series of three races. The series was won by Samuel Dauchy's Sari. It was run on a time allowance basis, which has since been discarded in favor of flat racing.

1923—Virginia, J. A. Hadwiger.
1925—Jackson Park II., William Hewit.
1926—Princess, Jedzry-Kowski-Kallgren.
1927—Siren, Karas brothers.
1928—Princess, Jedzry-Kowski-Kallgren.
1929—Intruder, O'Rourke brothers.
1930—Siren, Karas brothers.

Siren will be manned by practically the same crew which has sailed it in recent seasons. Ole Karas will be at the tiller, with his brother, Al; Fred Peterson, Paul Blair, and Phil Hill making up the remainder of the crew. The crews on the Karas boat's rivals will be: Intruder, Skipper John P. O'Rourke, Don E. Currier, Harold Johnson, Tommy Ryan, and James G. O'Rourke; Princess, Skipper Ed Jedzry-Kowsky, Carl A. Kallgren, Herbert and Emory Soderberg, and Ed Kral; Chaperon, Skipper Stewart Bradley, Dah White, Horace Marshall, Holton Rush, and Kaleb Bevans.

A'S LOSE FOXX FOR WEEK WITH ANKLE INJURY

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The latest addition to the Philadelphia Athletics' hospital list is Jimmy Foxx. He will be out of action for at least a week with a sprained ankle, Connie Mack announced today.

Foxx was injured in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with Washington when he became tangled up with Heinie Manush at first base. He was able to finish the game, but today he appeared at Shibe park on crutches. Phil Todt went to first base in the emergency.

BanditsKidnap and Rob Jockey Allen, He Says

Jockey Charley Allen told stewards of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club yesterday he had been kidnaped and robbed near Chicago Heights on Wednesday night and had been injured so seriously he was unable to fill his riding engagements.

The story was under investigation last night by the Lincoln Fields racing officials and by the police of Chicago Heights.

Allen related that while riding alone in his automobile on a country road between Lincoln Fields and Chicago Heights a carload of bandits forced him to the side of the highway.

Loses Ring and $400, He Claims.

"They pulled me out of my car, took me many miles in another direction, and finally robbed me of all the money I had and a diamond ring," Allen reported to the racing officials.

Then, according to Allen, who is one of the leading riders in America, the hoodlums beat him up, then drove him back to within a few miles of his own car, and threw him out on the concrete highway.

He had lost a diamond ring valued at $2,000 and about $400 in cash, according to his story. He was in a badly crippled condition when he arrived at the track to tell his story.

Trainer Blames Horse.

Last night the racing officials and police of Chicago Heights were reported to be investigating another story that Allen had been kidnaped not to be robbed but to be beaten up by a band of hoodlums for what they thought was a bad ride he gave the horse Vermiculite on Wednesday and on which the hoodlums were reported to have lost $6,000.

Allen is under contract to Herbert M. Wolf of Kansas City, who owns Vermiculite. D. E. Stewart is the trainer for the stable. Stewart blamed the horse and not Allen for the bad race.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Don Williams, who for three years was a half back and quarter back on the University of Southern California football team, is in Chicago making inquiry about the football prospects at Notre Dame. This is the time of the year Southern California always begins to take an interest in the football squad at South Bend. It finds out what Notre Dame really has in late November or early December.

Mr. Williams admits he may stay in this neighborhood observing the Notre Dame squad until its game with his alma mater on Nov. 21. Aubrey Devine served in a similar capacity for the coast school last fall. Since Notre Dame won the game, 27 to 0, it is not quite clear what value there is in such intensive scouting.

Scouting is frowned upon at some of our leading intellectual centers, where the principles of sportsmanship and ethical conduct are carried to harsh extremes. The academic indictment against scouting is that it tends to overemphasize the game. It probably is the most harmless of all the imaginary ailments with which college football is afflicted. It is even a question whether or not it can be turned into profitable results.

Coach Zuppke of Illinois once arranged with the coach of an opposing team — Nebraska, I believe — to exchange offensive formations in advance of the game. That would have saved scouts the ordeal of sitting in the stands composing the charts themselves. Later the coaches decided even this was too much trouble and neither scouted the other.

Zuppke holds to the theory that it is better to outplay a team than to outscout it.

*

ROCKNE LIKED BLOCKERS.

Southern California's Mr. Williams tells an interesting story illustrating the qualities Knute Rockne looked for in a football player. After the Notre Dame-U. S. C. game of 1928, which the Trojans won, 27 to 14, Williams met Rockne in a Los Angeles hotel.

"You are a great ball carrier, Williams," Rockne said. "I guess you are one of the best we have been up against. But you never could play football for me. You can't block. I don't see why Howard Jones keeps you on the team."

Many a high school back field star had his perspective of offensive football changed entirely when he reported to Rockne. He found that ball carrying was only a side issue. The main business was blocking — clean cut, conclusive blocking. Rockne contended that each type of player was susceptible to a certain type of blocking.

WOOD'S "CLEVER STRATEGY."

F. B. Cox, who is interested in speed boat racing, is of the opinion that the result of the recent Harmsworth trophy race in Detroit reflects no credit on America's sportsmanship. His letter:

"At the yacht club in Detroit the other night a banquet was tendered Kaye Don of England to welcome him to America. A toast was drunk in these formal words and sentiments: 'May the best boat win.' Gar Wood, I presume, proposed the toast.

"Did the best boat win and was Gar Wood sincere in proposing such a toast and then plotting to prevent its fulfillment?

"I think it certainly was the desire of Lord Northcliffe, donor of the trophy, that the best boat should win. Or at least that the trophy should be awarded only after an honorable test of strength.

"Such low born tactics as were employed to win nominally the trophy never would have received the approval of its deceased donor. Was the trophy donated for the glorification of nationalities and the perpetuity of small town trickery or was it the intention to develop and foster a splendid sport carried on in a splendid sporting spirit?

"American sportsmanship is not rated very high in Europe. It is generally regarded that the chief end of sport, according to the American version, is to win by fair means, if possible, or by foul if not. And very often the American prefers to win by the foul route, calling it 'clever strategy.'"

Fight Decisions

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champion, whose knob of a nose, curly black hair, and ear to ear mouth give him an appearance of Babe Ruth at the age of ten, this evening dealt a pretty good all-around beating to Jack Kid Berg, the emaciated English welterweight, who insists on fighting a bout pounds below his safe minimum weight for a title he couldn't defend if he were to win it.

Canzoneri won the decision up in the Polo Grounds before 20,000 at the end of 15 rounds in the course of which he dropped his man twice for counts of eight, once with a left hook to the chin, the other time with a low blow.

Under the current rules of the New York prize fight commission legalizing the foul, Canzoneri was declared to have lost that round only, the eighth. Berg seemed to suffer great inconvenience for a half minute, but it was not long until he was flapping his arms again in his usual energetic but harmless style.

Berg Punches Like a Canary.

As a puncher, Berg is about as dangerous as a man calling another man names on the telephone and Canzoneri, meeting him now for the third time, realized that his only risk was fatigue. So the champion stalled and idled for a spell every now and again, sometimes bobbing and swaying his head and body mockingly while Berg, his left eye wounded and his lips parted over a huge mouthful of white dental rubber, labored over him trying to do something he didn't know how to do.

Canzoneri seemed to mislead himself in the first round when Berg went down limp and apparently with no hope of going much further from the short left to the chin. It looked as though a few really earnest slams would finish the English boy and Canzoneri had plenty of time with fifteen rounds to go and an obvious advantage in strength.

But after the fourth round had passed and Berg had refused to go down any more, Tony lost the pace to Berg for a couple of rounds. The Whitechapel boy bored in on skinny legs, leading with the clumsiest left hand poke known to the ring but, coming to close quarters, was outmauling the lightweight champion.

Berg Gets a Shiner at Belt.

This didn't last long, however. Tony solved the difficulty by bending too low to allow Berg's rising body punches any carry and when Berg shifted the fire to his head, the Italian kid calmly wobbled it an inch or two this way or that and made him miss, meanwhile scoring with noisy, soggy smacks himself.

Berg was forcing the fight most of the way and Canzoneri was slugging him on the head with both hands or whipping in a smacking left to the body. This left hand spanked him in the middle so often that before the fight had passed the tenth round, Berg wore an ugly raw welt across his center, one of the few men who ever got a black eye below the arch of the wishbone.

The Garden firm produced the show, the first of the season at the Polo grounds and Canzoneri's second defense of the title since he won it last winter from Al Singer. Incidentally the left hook that spilled Singer within 30 seconds and left him lying was the same trivial sort of clip on the chin that put Berg down this evening. Berg is a much sturdier character than Singer, so when he went down from the same punch it seemed as though this might be a fairly good poke after all.

Berg Looked Like the Depression.

Berg is Canzoneri's favorite opponent, for it was Berg that Tony fought the first time he defended the title in Chicago to win by a knockout in the third round. A right to the chin chilled Berg for about ten minutes that night. They fought once before that and Berg won.

The weight was too low for Berg and he was by no means as strong as he had been in some of his catch-weight fights around 140 pounds. He went part of the distance on his great courage alone this evening. Canzoneri made 131¾ easily, and Berg was a famine victim at 134½. His ribs showed beneath his hide, and his face was full of sickly hollows by contrast with Canzoneri's plump outlines and his ruddy, rounded countenance.

The show had been obscured in the public view and hearing by the charity ball game of Wednesday between the Yanks and Giants and the ballyhoo therefor. But for this unforeseen intervention the receipts might have been higher, but, notwithstanding the comparative stealth in which the prize fighter stole upon the customers the evening, business was remarkably brisk.

The best people have not been attending the prize fights with their old enthusiasm this summer, possibly because there have been no prize fights

BY FRENCH LANE.

The medium of the Howard killing was the 5 year old mare Port Harlem, which raced well out in front all the way and wound up the day's work by beating the fast finishing Mucker by half a length. Listo, a far westerner from the La Brae stable, was third.

Little Jack, who has figured in more race track betting cleanups in the last year than any other man on the turf in this country, had to take a short price on Port Harlem, for after the old mare had run her six furlongs in 1:12 4-5, she paid $3.54 to win, $2.58 to place, and $2.48 to show. Mucker paid $3.96 to place and $3.76 to show, while Listo was at $4.04 to show. Little Jack usually gets better prices when his horses win, but the crowd took the play away from him in this race.

Marty Flynn Wins Again.

Once Port Harlem had whipped Lamp Black and Very Well, which tried to run with her for a sixteenth of a mile, she had things very much her own way and was easing up a trifle when she passed the finish line. Mucker and Listo started their drives after the stretch run had begun and both made up much ground, but they were never able to menace the flying Port Harlem.

Just before Port Harlem rewarded her army of backers, old Martie Flynn from Stuyvesant Peabody's stable had scored one of his old time thrilling nose victories in a seven furlong race.

It was the same kind of a triumph old Martie once rolled up in stake events and this time he beat Bag Smasher in a finish that was so close everybody in the crowd was cheering. After Bag Smasher had raced from far back he hooked up with Martie Flynn in a battle for the lead a sixteenth out. They were only inches apart the rest of the way home, but Martie would not surrender and went sailing on past the judges with his long nose still showing in front.

Dick Morris Fools 'Em.

It was the first time Martie had ever associated with platers of this sort, so he was as popular as ever with the crowd. He finally paid off at $4.60 for a two dollar ticket, while Bag Smasher had been a long shot and was $8.16 to place.

Dick Morris ran a new kind of a race yesterday when he captured the six furlong fourth event. He usually leaps out into a long lead and seldom has been able to do much more than stagger home in front of those who had been trailing him.

But in this event his early speed was of no avail and Don Alvaro outran him all through the early stages. So Dick Morris decided to come from behind. He did it in the final strides and won by a head, with Gettin Even holding on to be third. Dick Morris was the favorite, his price being $4.98.

OUTCRY began slowly and closed distance back the first half mile, moved up rapidly thereafter and, heading the leaders, came away fast. ST. AGNES had speed, saved ground, and held on well under strong hand riding. LILLIAN TOBIN, taken to the front, raced most of the way, responding to whip in the stretch, where she tired. sixteenth. RIVER FOREST raced wide, swerved repeatedly and appeared too much for his rider. MARY'S TOY began slowly. DURY was in close quarters much of the race, particularly so in stretch, and had little chance. WOLFY quit. ST. JIM was always far out of it. EL RELICARIO had early speed.

Time, :23, :46 1-5, 1:11 2-5, 1:25 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Martie Flynn, $4.60 straight, $5.04 place, $3.34 show; Bag Smasher, $8.16 place, $4.18 show; Copperfield, $2.88 show. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:23½. At post 20 minutes. Winner trained by W. McGarvey.

MARTIE FLYNN, well up from the start, came to outside in stretch and, responding gamely, easily wore down the leaders, then continued well to stall off BAG SMASHER. The latter improved his position on outside after reaching the stretch and, standing the drive gamely, was wearing down the winner. COPPERFIELD, much used, racing HIGH COLOR into submission, weakened in final drive but outlasted GRAND PRINCE for show. Latter raced forward well but had no mishaps. ESSIE closed gamely. ESSIE was weakly ridden, HIGH COLOR quit badly after showing speed to stretch.

DICK MORRIS, fractious at post and away in a tangle, quickly worked his way clear, was taken under restraint after a vain attempt to get in the leader, responded gamely when urged hard, and was up in final strides. DON ALVARO, away fast, had good speed, saved ground and weakened in final eighth. GETTIN EVEN raced forward in close throughout, held on resolutely. SWEEP FAST, well up, lost considerable ground. †ANTALDINO dropped back at the turn and was in close quarters in stretch. BEAUTIFUL DOLL lacked speed under strong urging. MONKEY SHINE raced wide. GAY DONN had early speed.

PORT HARLEM, going in her best form and quick to get going, drew clear in opening three-sixteenths, saved ground after reaching the turn, and, holding on resolutely, withstood MUCKER. Latter, improved, moved up with a rush after a quarter, stood the drive courageously, and was getting in the winner. LISTO, taken back repeatedly, closed with a rush while racing wide. QUATRE BRAS II. made up some ground in closing quarter. ENERGY raced well. WEIDELEEN had no mishap. LAMP BLACK quit. VERY WELL stopped badly after showing good speed to last three-sixteenths.

WIRT G. BOWMAN, greatly benefited by tactics of his rider and, under steadying restraint opening three-quarters, responded gamely when called upon impeded TIMOUR, and, heading him and forcing ORMONTIME into close quarters, outstayed him. LADY BIENVILLE, placed in close quarters by winner at first turn, came to outside in stretch and closed strongest of all. ORMONTIME had speed, was crowded back by winner at far turn and, racing on inside in stretch, held on well despite lack of room near end. TIMOUR was used up making the pace and was tiring when impeded in final eighth. EARL OF WARWICK unseated his rider when he stumbled after a half mile.

ANNIE REE, away well and taken across sharply in the run to the first turn, easily raced around the leaders after five-sixteenths and, maintaining good speed to the end, won in hand. REVERBERATE, forced to lose some ground, responded well when called upon but could not get to the winner. MICHIGAN GIRL began slowly, met interference and closed going strong. OUTBURST had belated speed. FLYING CHEROKEE was in close quarters at far turn and went well when clear in stretch. DRASTIC DELIGHT was in hard throughout. KERRY GREEN quit. SUN MASK had early speed. CHICAGO GIRL breezed off five-sixteenths before the start.

Fastest Mile of 1931 Goes to Mr. Sponge

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The mantle of the country's premier miler was voted by acclamation today at Belmont to Joseph E. Widener's Mr. Sponge after he had led from start to finish of the Manhattan handicap in 1:35 4-5, the fastest mile run anywhere in the country this year. The time was only four-fifths of a second back of the world record and four lengths back of Mr. Sponge finished the world's record holder—George D. Widener's Jack High.

Jack High Again Lame.

Jack High added a note of pathos to what otherwise was a brilliant race. He had been coaxed and coddled up to the race, after a lameness last year that was considered bad enough to end his career. The veteran trainer, A. J. Joyner, was warmly congratulated at his skill in getting the son of John P. Grier to the post, and Jack High ran a game, courageous race.

Those who watched after the finish however, saw Linus [Pony] McAtee slip from Jack High's back and walk back to jockey quarters. Jack High's lameness had returned, and McAtee got out of the saddle rather than subject the horse to pain. It is very doubtful if Mr. Joyner can again get him back to form.

Balko Won't Start.

Five lengths back of Jack High, which carried top weight of 128 pounds, finished W. R. Coe's filly Conclave, with the feather of 99. She led the only other starter, the Sagamore stable's famous sprinter Balko, which refused to run. Balko broke well but dug his toes in a stride away from the barrier and would not go away with his field. He and Jack High had closed at 7 to 2 each, while Mr. Sponge was the 7 to 10 favorite.

LIEUT. E. F. SLOAN SCORES 286 FOR U. S. RIFLE TITLE

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Lieut. Edward F. Sloan, 30 years old, of the 7th United States infantry, Vancouver barracks, Washington, tonight was declared champion rifle shot of the United States after outshooting 1,728 competitors in the national rifle tournament here. He scored 286 out of a possible 300, firing over five stages.

Three others had scores of 286, but were outranked on the 1,000 yard prone stage, which was fired today. They were Emmet O. Swanson, Minneapolis, civilian; Corporal William Easterling, United States Marine corps, Quantico, Va., and Capt. Kerrie L. Berry, 24th United States infantry, Fort Benning, Ga., and were ranked second, third, and fourth respectively. Capt. C. P. Wade, Organized Reserve corps, Chester, Pa., was fifth with 285.

Lieut. Sloan, whose home is at Portland, Ore., won the title in his second year of participation. Before coming here he won the Oregon state rifle championship. Tomorrow he will help the infantry team try for the national team title. He has been in the army nine years.

In winning his title Lieut. Sloan scored 45 at 200 yards slow fire, 48 at 200 yards rapid fire, 47 at 300 rapid fire, 49 at 600 slow fire, and 97 at 1,000 yards slow fire. Swanson's scores were 47, 48, 48, 48, and 95. Easterling had 48, 50, 47, 49, and 92 for third.

BURKE'S 284 WINS OPEN GOLF MEET AT GLENS FALLS

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Billy Burke, playing in his first tournament since he won the national open championship at Inverness in July, today won the third annual Glens Falls open as his two rivals, John Golden and MacDonald Smith, faltered on their last rounds. Burke's final round of 69, one under par, gave him a 284 for the 72 holes.

Burke ran away from the field on the last round, finishing five strokes ahead of Smith and Golden, who tied for second with 289. Golden could do no better than 75 on the last round and Smith had a 73. Burke won the first Glens Falls open two years ago.

Neal McIntyre, Indianapolis, and Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., professional, finished behind Smith and Golden with 290 each. Willie MacFarlane had a 291.

HARRY COOPER WINS TRI-STATE OPEN GOLF TITLE

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, Chicago professional, today won the tri-state open golf title with a 72 hole total of 287 over the Beverly Shores course.

Cooper, who yesterday spreadeagled his field with subpar rounds of 69 and 70, slowed up a bit today, carding 75—73 to lead Walter Murray of Valparaiso, Ind., by 14 strokes. Harry Hampton, Chicago, was third with a 304 total, and Bob MacDonald, another Chicagoan, was fourth with 305.

Santa Paula to Play Roslyn in Polo Tourney

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The national open championship polo tournament will take on an international aspect Saturday when Santa Paula clashes with Harold Talbott's Roslyn four in the second game of the series. The match yesterday in which the Hurricanes put Sands Point out of the six cornered race was disappointing as neither team was at the top of its form.

Saturday's match, however, is one of the tournament's most promising engagements. The Santa Paula four has not been beaten on Long Island, although Old Aiken gave it a trouncing in the international series at Chicago earlier in the summer.

Andrade's Thumb Injured.

Manuel Andrada, the powerful back of the South American team, may not be able to play Saturday. Andrada suffered a sprained thumb several days ago and has had trouble handling his mallet. Regardless of whether Andrada gets into the game or not, the Santa Paula outfit is going to be hard to defeat, for Andres Gazzotti, the spare, has been riding furiously in the practice games. Both the Santa Paula players and their ponies have developed a great deal since the Chicago series.

Should Santa Paula come through Saturday and their South American rivals, the Hurlingham four, triumph over the Hurricanes next Tuesday, only the Greentree team, on which Tommy Hitchcock plays, would stand between the Argentines and the finals.

May Have International Series.

If either of the South American teams reach the final game there will be a grand stand filling crowd at Meadow Brook and an international series with the stars of both countries riding against one another will be arranged.

O'SHEA'S 74 WINS FORTY AND EIGHT GOLF TOURNEY

George E. O'Shea scored a 74 yesterday to win low gross in the Forty and Eight society's annual golf tournament at the Navajo Fields Country club. Other low gross winners were Gus Fetz, with a 76, and Herbert Klein, 83.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Hurling shutout ball for eight innings, although weakening temporarily in the ninth, Bill Hallahan scored his 16th victory of the season for the Cardinals here today as the National league champions turned back the Boston Braves, 7 to 3, in the first of a three game series.

The Cardinal southpaw allowed only one hit until the seventh, but, with a substantial lead compiled by his mates, let up in the final inning, three hits and an error in the ninth producing all the Boston runs. The Cardinals got 10 Socks Seibold in the early innings, Frankie Frisch, in the second, doubling with the bases filled to drive in three runs. Jim Bottomley hit a homer off Harold Haid in the eighth. Letter men included Jerry Adam, Lewis Brown, Gordon Eno, James Gilbert, Charles Justice, Corwin Hulbert, George Koster, Everett Kreizinger, Forrest McPherson, Bob Manley, Chris Mathis, Marvin Paul, and Hugh Rhea.

Veterans missing are Lawrence Ely, Burt Durkee, Roscoe Kroger, and Clarence Nelson. They are expected to report later in the week.

Cubs, Braves to Play Twice Sunday; No Game Monday

The Cubs are going in for double headers on Sunday. Two games instead of the one scheduled with the Braves will be played at Wrigley field next Sunday. This will permit both teams to rest on Monday. The same doubling up procedure and the idle Monday will occur the following week, when the Giants are here. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by President William Veeck.

MISSES BISHOP AND MARBLE IN TENNIS FINAL

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—For the first time since 1927 the national girls' tennis championship will go to California this year. Alice Marble of San Francisco and Ruby Bishop of Pasadena will meet Saturday for the title.

Miss Marble, top seeded in the annual tournament being held here, today won the right to enter the finals through a 6-0, 2-6, 6-2 victory over Helda Boehm of Malden, Mass., while Miss Bishop, seeded third, created a mild upset by eliminating Gracyn Wheeler of Santa Monica, 6-4, 6-0. Miss Wheeler, Pacific coast junior champion, had been ranked No. 2.

Both matches were played under a broiling sun. Miss Wheeler flashed brilliant placements in the first set, but faltered in the second, apparently handicapped by the heat.

The finals will be for the title left undefended this year by Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., ineligible because she had passed the age limit of 21 years. Miss Palfrey held the title for three years, having succeeded Marjorie Gladman of Santa Monica, now Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, 1927 titlist.

for Elliott didn't disturb the Chicagoans. Barton greeted the newcomer with a single to center. D. Taylor stood around patiently until rewarded with a pass, filling the bases. Grimm's infield out scored Hornsby. Hartnett's second hit of the inning was a single to left, Barton and D. Taylor scoring. Malone also singled, but English showed consideration for the struggling Watt by missing a third strike.

More Hits, More Runs.

A single by Friberg and a double by Watt promoted a run for the Phils in the sixth, and the Cubs came back with three in their half. Herman singled and Cuyler beat out a bunt. Both scored on a single by Barton. A triple off D. Taylor's bat sent Barton around to the plate. Grimm then walked, and a lot of unnecessary punishment for Watt was avoided when Hartnett bounced into a double play. The Cubs picked up another in the seventh on Herman's double and Cuyler's fourth single.

Fallenstein showed up in the eighth and the Cubs didn't want to show any partiality so they pounded him for three runs. D. Taylor walked and Grimm singled. Blair took Grimm's place and scored along with D. Taylor on Hartnett's double to left. Gabby went to third on Malone's out and scored when Fallenstein made a poor throw trying to get him at the plate on English's bounder. That concluded the day's run getting and there were no regrets.

HOPPE TO MEET WELKER COCHRAN IN MATCH HERE

Willie Hoppe will return to billiards next week after a rest of more than two months from competition. Last June Hoppe went to California on orders from his physicians to rest in an effort to regain his health. Hoppe will meet Welker Cochran, former 18-2 balk line champion, in a three cushion match which will open at Kleckhefer's Recreation on Tuesday.

Hoppe's last appearance in Chicago was in May, when he first defeated Augie Kleckhefer by 600 to 527, taking seven of the twelve blocks. He next was the winner of a three-cornered tournament, leading Kleckhefer and Cochran.

For a time last May there was a belief that it would be necessary for Hoppe to retire from the game for at least a season. Just one year ago it was necessary for Kleckhefer and Gus Copulos, two exponents of three-cushion, to rest, due to ill health. Hoppe, always a rugged athlete, was stricken with influenza last spring, but his recovery has been more rapid and complete than was expected.

Mrs. Cowell alleges the club was negligent in not furnishing her a safe place to sit and that the grandstand was not properly screened.

Berg Loses Title Bout to Canzoneri worth attending and also possibly because even the best people are no longer ashamed to demand at least a nickel's worth of action for a dollar's worth of ticket.

Jim Corbett Was There.

Then, too, the management, tired of waiting for the aristocracy to rally 'round, had reduced the ringside price to $5.74, which attracted to the closeup sections a large number of the sort of persons one can't afford to be seen among.

Among the distinguished customers was Mr. Flo Ziegfeld, the queen maker, possibly in search of a comedian to stimulate his current Follies. He could do worse than engage Mr. Joe Humphreys, the prize fight announcer, who could walk right on as is and outfunny any one in the cast delivering one of his sentimental banquet orations.

James J. Corbett also appeared in the company of Gene Tunney, Bernard Gimble, and the police commissioner, Ed Mulrooney. Corbett is a patient in a near-by hospital, but, between ball games and fights, his doctors have a hard time catching him. Benny Leonard, another pugilistic G. A. R., who sparred with a pair of respectful novices the other evening to prove that he is as good as he ever was, also watched the younger generation scuffle for the title he resigned when he thought his money was permanent.

Miller Stops McNamara.

Lew Fink, Tunney's old trainer, reappeared in the trade, toting a bucket and sponge up the steps to the ring on a championship card for the first time since Tunney slugged old Thomas Heeney on the chin by way of farewell. Mr. Fink was up behind Canzoneri as they say and as the bell called the boys out for their instructions he puckered up his face like a dried apple in a wink at Jimmy Bronson, who sat in the second row. The wink was attended by a thumb jerk toward Canzoneri which told Mr. Bronson to hustle out ere it was too late and buy himself a ticket on the champion. Mr. Bronson, as supervising second, assisted Mr. Fink in Tunney's corner in Chicago, so the evening was a sort of reunion for all of them.

Ray Miller, the lightweight who once stopped Jimmy McLarnin and then slowed down to a slow walk in his own career, knocked another young man as dead as the buggy whip business in the first round of one of the preliminaries. The other party's name was Jimmy McNamara. Miller tolerated him for half a round then chinned him with a left hook and walked away as McNamara tumbled over the ropes and hit his skull with a resounding "bong."

State Hunters Divided Over Duck Season

BY BOB BECKER.

While Illinois hunters await final word on when they may hunt waterfowl this fall, sportsmen in the northern part of the state have jumped into the fight over the question of open season dates.

Director of Conservation Ralph B. Bradford led the move against the Oct. 1 opening date, and won a victory, with the backing of many sportsmen, especially those down state, because the government has indicated it will fix a later season. It is rumored the opening will be between the middle of October and Nov. 1. Downstate hunters want the later date.

Some Want One, Some the Other.

Now northern Illinois is being heard from, and a good old fashioned family fight is brewing. Letters by the score from sportsmen along the upper Fox river region oppose November for the open season because they say it is too cold for the ducks in northern Illinois during this month and everything freezes up. Oct. 1 is the time they contend for, and they prefer to have the state stop agitating for a later opening date. October is a total loss to southern Illinois hunters and just right for northern Illinois, and there you have another argument in the duck matter.

It Will Be a Late Date.

The biological survey, already "in wrong" with thousands of hunters who believe talk about a duck scarcity is mostly hokum, is going to get in deeper here in Illinois by making a further change in the shooting dates. Although Uncle Sam hasn't said the final word, pending further study of the situation, it's a pretty fair guess that it may start in late October or on Nov. 1.

The ducks usually come down late in October and swarm into Illinois, to settle down for several months. It frequently is so warm in the southern part of the state during October that most hunters do not do much hunting until after Nov. 6. Around Cairo the goose hunters hardly think of opening up until well after the first of November, so it isn't surprising that southern Illinois is at odds with northern Illinois over the 30 day open season this year.

Sox Open Last Drive in East with Yankees

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The Chicago White Sox rolled into New York this evening on their final invasion of the year with a berth at the top of the second division as their objective. They will open their final series here tomorrow at Yankee Stadium, playing a double header to make up for today's scheduled game, which was postponed to permit them to meet the Cubs yesterday in their charity game at Chicago.

After Saturday's single game, the last of the season with the Yanks, the Sox move up to Boston to open a battle for seventh place. The Red Sox are now only a game and a half behind the Chicagoans, and with the weak western teams opposing them, while the Sox are battling the three league leaders, Philadelphia, Washington, and New York, the Bostonians stand better than an even chance of finishing ahead of Chicago.

On the other hand, St. Louis and Detroit, now leading the Sox by four and four and a half games respectively, also have to face the strong eastern teams and it is on this that the Sox are basing their hopes of completing their final trip in fifth place. While fighting for a place near the top of the second division they are also keeping their eye on the city series with the Cubs. Before leaving Chicago Manager Donie Bush learned that both Bill Cissell and Benny Tate will be able to play then, although Carl Reynolds may not be able to get into the series.

DOEG JOINS LAST FOUR IN NATIONAL TENNIS TOURNEY

Champion Sweeps Shields Aside in Four Sets.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—John Hope Doeg, defending tennis champion, defeated Frank Shields, 6-2, 11-9, 4-6, 3-6, to reach the semi-finals in the national singles tournament here this afternoon.

The champion, whose ground strokes usually are woefully weak, was stronger in that department than his opponent. His chop shots, which cleared the net by scant inches and bounded less than a foot off the ground, lured Shields into error after error. It was Doeg's set by the decisive margin of 6-2.

Shields Makes Stand.

Shields made his presence felt for the first time in the second set and waged a service duel with his cannonading adversary. Up to the tenth game neither player scored more than two points per game while in the receiving role.

The parting of the ways for George M. Lott Jr. and John Van Ryn, Davis cup doubles partners and fellow Philadelphians, occurred earlier in the quarter final rounds, when the former went on into the semi-finals and the latter into the discard. In the best played and most spectacular match of

POLISH CONSUL LEASES NORTH DEARBORN HOUSE

Consulate Will Occupy It After Oct. 1.

BY AL CHASE.

Leases were signed yesterday whereby the Polish consulate has secured new quarters in the eleven-room residence, former home of Stanley Rickcords, at the northwest corner of North Dearborn parkway and Burton place. The consulate will move from the American Fore building to its new headquarters some time after Oct. 1. The First National bank, trustee, was the lessor in yesterday's transaction. Walter F. Callahan was broker.

Emil J. Dirks, real estate operator, has conveyed title in the six-story building at the southeast corner of Diversey parkway and Lincoln avenue, lot 104x84x102, to the Diversey View Building corporation. The building contains forty apartments and three stores.

To Build on Broadway.

Sarah Block, wife of Max N. Block, attorney, has purchased the vacant 49x54, at 4228-40 Broadway, from Walter M. Cowell for an undisclosed consideration. Mr. Block states that although he has no definite building plans for the near future, he intends eventually to improve with a three-story building to contain stores on the first floor with small apartment units above which can be leased for hotel purposes. He has not yet engaged an architect.

The store and apartment building on the south side of 71st street, eighty-four feet west of Ridgeland avenue, lot 50x78, has been sold by Joseph Winogrand to Frances Taussig.

Some Leases.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company has leased two stores in the building at 6833-35 Stony Island avenue, and already has moved in. The details of the lease were disclosed yesterday by Mark Levy & Bro., who negotiated the transaction. The lessees have rented the space for five years at $36,000 for the term. The lessor was the F. & W. Grand 5-10-25 cent stores.

Peppy Frocks, Inc., have leased the store at 1618 West Chicago avenue, 17x60, from Gabriel and Joseph Baskind for a three-year term at a reported term rental of $8,100. S. E. Terman & Co. were brokers.

The Surf Hotel company has leased the Surf Apartment hotel building at the southwest corner of Surf street and Pine Grove avenue for two years from Sept. 1 at a total rental of $120,000. The incorporators of the hotel company include E. B. Woolf, Max Blatt and Lee J. Strauss.

UNFILLED STEEL ORDERS DECLINE 235,359 TONS

Backlog Is Lowest Since Sept. 27.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The monthly report on forward business of the United States Steel corporation, issued yesterday, inevitably reflected both the low level of operations in the steel industry and slackness in general business. A decline of 235,359 tons in unfilled orders in August brought the corporation backlog down to 4,169,457 tons, the lowest figure since September, 1927.

By contrast with nearby years, the decline in unfilled tonnage last month was moderate. In August last year the recession was 441,851 tons and in August, 1929, it was 429,966 tons. But a year ago U. S. Steel was operating at 61 per cent of capacity and two years ago it was close to capacity. Last month, however, operations averaged only about 34 per cent, but even at this low rate new business was at low ebb and insufficient to offset shipments.

The U. S. Steel backlog has declined steadily since January, except for a moderate increase in March. The peak for this year came at the end of January, when unfilled tonnage totaled 4,182,351 tons. In July forward orders declined 74,507 tons to a total of 3,464,816 tons. The total on August 31, 1930, was 3,580,204 tons.

Credit Conditions Unchanged.

Not much change in credit conditions has occurred in the last week, according to the weekly reports by the federal reserve board. The slump in the stock markets afforded no encouragement to speculators to borrow funds and autumn business has not developed to a point where any considerable expansion in credit is needed for commercial purposes.

The report on brokers' loans showed a decline of $41,000,000, bringing the total down to $1,325,000,000. This figure is less than half that of a year ago, when the total was $3,143,000,000. The decrease in the last year has been $1,818,000,000. In the last week the New York banks reduced their own loans by $34,000,000, while interior banks withdrew $5,000,000 and nonbanking lenders took down $2,000,000.

The federal reserve authorities appear to have ceased, temporarily, at least, their recent efforts to pump credit into the open money markets. The statement of the reserve system shows an increase of $2,947,000 in borrowings of the member banks, bringing the total to $260,332,000.

Deposits in Decline.

Deposits at the reserve banks declined $63,051,000 despite an increase of $39,279,000 in foreign bank deposits, which now total $207,415,000. This affords some indication of the flight of capital from other countries. Note circulation expanded $52,119,000. Gold reserves increased $5,086,000, but total reserves declined $4,155,000. The ratio of reserves to liabilities firmed to 79.5 per cent, compared with 79.4 per cent last week.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its 1½ per cent rediscount rate. Its report showed a decline of $3,789,000 in member bank borrowings, which now total $45,973,000. But the reserve bank bought an additional $1,872,000 of bankers' acceptances. Deposits fell $54,503,000. Reserves declined $32,271,000, but the reserve ratio firmed to 81.9 per cent, compared with 81.7 per cent a week ago.

The Chicago reserve bank reported little change in member bank borrowings, which now stands at $23,307,000. The reserve bank sold $1,040,000 of bankers' acceptances. Deposits rose $18,187,000. Reserves declined $5,152,000 and the reserve ratio eased to 88 per cent, compared with 86.1 per cent last week.

Rock Island Omits Dividend; Reduces Officers' Salaries

Directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, the third important railroad to take drastic dividend action this week, yesterday omitted the quarterly dividend on the common stock and followed the New York Central in reducing salaries of officers. In the last quarter a dividend of $1 was declared and previous to that $1.25.

Rock Island was one of the few railroads to make a better showing in net operating income for July compared with a year ago. Mainly as result of operating economies, July net increased to $3,167,981 against $2,804,248 in July, 1930. For the first seven months of this year net totaled $9,441,592 against $10,217,495 in the corresponding period last year and the July results raised hopes that the company would earn around $4 a share this year.

Cut 5 to 20 Per Cent.

Salaries of all officers earning more than $3,000 a year were cut 5 to 20 per cent. New York Central directors Wednesday ordered a reduction of 10 to 20 per cent in salaries of officers and employés earning more than $500 a month.

"The Rock Island directors deferred action on the common dividend, believing it to be the best interest of the shareholders to conserve the company in a good cash position," said a statement issued after the directors' meeting.

Prior to reduction of the dividend to $1.25 quarterly early in March, the stock has been on a $7 annual basis. From the reorganization of the road in 1917 no dividend was paid on the common until 1927, when it was placed on a $5 annual basis.

Last week the Lehigh Valley railroad omitted its dividend, and the New York Central and the New Haven dividend rates were reduced this week to $4 annually from $6.

Maine Central Omission.

Directors of the Maine Central railroad have omitted the dividends on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago the dividend was reduced to 75 cents from $1.25 quarterly.

Directors of Southern railway declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on the preferred stock. At the June meeting the board stated that no further dividends would be declared this year on the common stock and that the question of dividends for 1932 on the common would be considered at the December meeting.

Eighty-five per cent of Gulf, Mobile and Northern employés, other than those in train service organizations, have voluntarily agreed to a 10 per cent reduction in salaries as long as the railroad is unable to cover interest charges and taxes. This reduction amounts to approximately 32 per cent of the road's charges and taxes.

I. T. & T. Cuts Payments.

International Telephone and Telegraph company declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, against 50 cents a share previously paid quarterly. The dividend is payable Oct. 15 to stockholders of record Sept. 18.

Net income of International Telephone for the half year was $5,440,294, equal to 82 cents a share, against $6,826,830, or $1.04 a share, on a slightly smaller capitalization for the first six months of 1930. Net income for the June quarter was $2,607,992, equivalent to 39 cents a share, compared with $3,473,092, or 53 cents a share, in the same period of 1930.

Total earnings in the first half of 1931 were $47,963,223, against $52,212,594 a year ago. Operating costs were reduced to $37,588,533, compared with $39,790,389. The earned surplus as of June 30 last was $21,201,819, against $28,704,742 on the same date in 1930.

Tidewater Oil company, owned by Tidewater Associated Oil company, omitted the common dividend due at this time. The company paid dividends aggregating 35 cents a share during the first half. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the preferred was declared last month.

Singer Manufacturing company has declared an extra dividend of $1 and the regular quarterly dividend of $2.50, both payable Sept. 30 on stock of record Sept. 10. Previously, extra quarterly dividends of $2.50 had been paid since June, 1930.

Reduces Annual Rate.

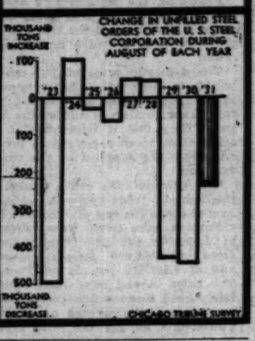
Ohio Electric Manufacturing company declared a quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share on the common, reducing the annual rate from 80 to 40 cents a share. Backstay Welt company omitted the quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share.

Addressograph-Multigraph corporation declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common, reducing the annual rate from $1.40 a share to $1.

The board of directors of Household Finance corporation yesterday declared a 4 per cent stock dividend on both class A and class B common stock, in addition to the quarterly dividend of 90 cents a share on each class of stock, all payable Oct. 15 to stock of record Sept. 30.

By this action the annual rate of cash dividend on the participating preference stock, under the provisions of the issue, is increased to an annual basis of $4.20 a share from the previous $4 basis.

DECLINE IN UNFILLED STEEL ORDERS IS LESS THAN IN 1929 OR 1930



BANKERS FORMING GROUP TO PROTECT BONDS IN DEFAULT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Announcement is to be made in New York, possibly tomorrow or Saturday, of the formation of a committee of bankers for the purpose of protecting the interests of holders of defaulted bonds throughout the country. The committee was organized at a meeting held in New York yesterday. It is understood that William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company, was chosen chairman of the committee.

The announcement will disclose the purpose of the secret dinner conference in the White House on the night of Aug. 26 between President Hoover, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury; Eugene Meyer Jr., governor of the federal reserve board, and four New York bankers: Mr. Potter, Charles S. McClain, president, and James T. Lee, vice president of the Chase National bank, and George W. Davison, president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust company.

It was not until the following day that news of the secret conference became known. All efforts to obtain information concerning its purpose were resisted by those concerned and there has been no revelation in regard to it.

It is now possible to say that the conference was called by President Hoover for the purpose of discussing the situation in which holders of defaulted bonds had been placed through the defaults. According to information gathered by the President, the aggregate of these bond defaults was in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000. It was represented that in many cases the interests of these holders were not being adequately protected.

Skelly Oil Sells Interest in Gas Pipe Line to Chicago

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—Following the example of the Phillips Petroleum company, the Skelly Oil company has sold its interest in the $75,000,000 natural gas pipe line recently built to supply natural gas from the Panhandle region of Texas to Chicago and environs just as the project is being consummated.

The sale was made for cash to the other participants in the project as a group. When the Phillips Petroleum company disposed of its interest it sold out to the Texas corporation, which already had owned an interest in the line.

The Skelly Oil company sold its interest for cash, but has not disclosed the price received for its holdings. The amount probably was in the neighborhood of $5,000,000, as the Skelly company owned a 6⅔ per cent interest in the line. The Skelly Oil company also has sold the natural gas lands it owned in the Panhandle district, consisting of 28,000 acres, to the other participants in the project. What it received for those lands is not known. In selling its natural gas rights the Skelly company also followed the example of the Phillips Petroleum company.

Sticks to Oil Business.

While no official statement on the transaction was made by the Skelly Oil company, interests familiar with the facts said today that the Skelly company was an oil company rather than a natural gas company, its gas interest being a side line. In view of the unsettled conditions prevailing in the oil industry it was deemed wise to withdraw from an industry not strictly in the company's province and restrict its operations to petroleum, particularly in view of the fact that the present pipe line project is only the beginning of operations which eventually are expected to experience great growth.

The natural gas line from Texas to Chicago is said to be the largest project of the kind in the world. The main line consists of 1,000 miles of 24 inch high pressure pipe. Additional mileage was built for gathering lines and connections of smaller size. The daily capacity of the main line is 175,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Ten compression stations have been built at intervals along the line, with a combined horse power of 71,000 initial capacity, which eventually will be increased as requirements of additional service necessitate.

The cost of construction of the main line was approximately $60,000,000, while the total cost of the project is said to have been $75,000,000.

The original participants in the project were the Cities Service company, the Insull Utilities group of Chicago, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Texas corporation, the Skelly Oil company, the Phillips Petroleum company, and the Columbia Carbon company. Both the Phillips Petroleum company and the Skelly Oil company have now withdrawn from the undertaking on the eve of completion of the project, leaving only five of the original participants still in it.

In addition a new interest in the line is represented by the Southwest Development company, owned by the Prairie Oil and Gas company, which bought one-half of the holdings of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. As the Prairie soon will be consolidated with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, the interest it owns in the pipe line eventually will pass into the control of the Sinclair concern.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 10.—The share market had to stand and deliver again today. Omission of the Rock Island dividend, a cut in the price of export copper, and a big drop in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation were three of a number of items that combined to give traders the blues and to make things easy for raiding professional forces.

Thanks to a promising little rally that got under way around midday, losses were kept to fractions in the main body, but declines of 2 or 3 points were to be found, and a few issues broke rather badly. Volume was lighter than on other recent days, the total falling off to around 1,500,000 shares.

Comes as Surprise.

The Rock Island dividend omission took the street by surprise and caused a flurry of selling in the railroad list which sank numerous issues to new lows. Stocks of roads in which dividend action is due in the next few weeks were particularly susceptible. Rock Island itself went tumbling some ten points to a new low since

SANTA FE WILL CONTINUE LOW RATES TO PACIFIC

That lower fares will stimulate railroad travel even in adverse times is evidenced by the announcement of W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fé railway, that the low $40 fare from Chicago to California, put in as an experiment last April under a three fare plan, will be continued to April 30, 1932. The tickets good in coaches will be supplemented by the $65 rate in tourist sleepers and the regular $79.64 in standard sleepers.

"The success of our experiment in these lower fares has caused us to continue their sale another six months," Mr. Black said. "The way the public took to the cuts convinces us they should be retained."

Banking Group Offers Boston Transit Issue

Halsey, Stuart & Co., are heading a banking group which has purchased and is offering today at a price to yield 2.10 per cent, $2,000,000 additional Metropolitan Transit District [Massachusetts] 3¾ per cent notes, due April 14, 1932. Associated with Halsey-Stuart are Kountze Brothers, Paine, Webber & Co., Ames, Emerich & Co., E. B. Smith & Co., Phelps, Fenn & Co., Dewey, Bacon & Co., Emanuel & Co., Blake Brothers & Co., and G. M. P. Murphy & Co.

Three Curb Memberships Sell Under Previous Price

Three New York curb exchange memberships have been sold at $61,500, $60,000 and $57,000, respectively. The last previous sale was at $65,000.

New South Wales Pays Its Overseas Interest

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 10.—(AP)—The state of New South Wales, which on several occasions earlier this year defaulted payment of interest on its overseas debts, has paid the overseas interest due for August, it is announced. The debt of the state to the commonwealth government, which shouldered the burden of payments during the previous defaults, has also been reduced by $1,405,000.

COLGATE & CO. OBSERVES 125TH ANNIVERSARY

One of the most successful of the merged organizations, the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, is celebrating the 125th anniversary of its oldest unit, Colgate & Co., this month. Colgate & Co. was founded by William Colgate in New York in 1806.

The record of the merged companies, that of Colgate & Co., the Palmolive company, and Peet Bros., has been one of increased earnings. An earning of 6½ per cent was recorded in the first six months of this year over 1930. This increase was also an even larger percentage over the first six months of 1929.

The anniversary celebration is taking the form of a city-wide merchandising plan which is being featured by druggists. The growth of Colgate & Co. and that of the retail drug trade of the country has been parallel and intimately connected.

Wrigley Co. August Sales 18% Ahead of Last Year

August sales of William Wrigley Jr. company were approximately 18 to 20 per cent ahead of the same month last year, according to William Wrigley Jr., chairman of the board. Mr. Wrigley added that while a satisfactory showing will undoubtedly be made both in the current and last quarter of this year, net profit for 1931 will probably not be so high as in 1930 in view of the fact that in third quarter of last year a nonrecurring profit of about $670,000 on the sale of the Brooklyn plant was included.

NEARBY WHEAT FUTURE UP 4⅛c AT MINNEAPOLIS

Big Sale of Spring Grain to East Reported.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The holding tendency on the part of the winter wheat farmer, plus the near crop failure in the spring wheat area in the northwest, has become the dominating influence in the market. Minneapolis September wheat furnished the incentive for an advance yesterday in all of the leading markets, the nearby future at Minneapolis advancing 4⅛c over Wednesday's finish to 66c, and showed more than 3c above the inside figure of last Friday.

According to the gossip of the trade, a leading northwestern cash interest recently sold a big line of spring wheat to eastern mills, estimates ranging up to 3,000,000 bu. The firm finding itself unable to replace the cash grain started to buy the September at Minneapolis, with expectations of getting the actual wheat on delivery on future contracts. This buying, coupled with that of mills and shorts, has caused congestion to develop. Messages from the northwestern market yesterday said the Farmers National Grain corporation had checked the bulge by selling futures, but the finish was at 64¼c, or 2¾c above the previous day. At one time prices in the northwest were 1½c over Chicago and 26c over Kansas City, an abnormal difference.

Cash Wheat at Premium.

Owing to the abnormally short spring crop this season cash wheat at Minneapolis is at a big premium over the futures, being quoted at 5@10c over the September yesterday, while at Duluth durum wheat is held at 3@20c over the futures, and the deliveries of 500,000 bu that have been made on futures so far this month have been taken by mills and cash interests. Ordinary No. 1 hard winter at Kansas City was quoted about 1⅜c over the nearby future, while in Chicago No. 1 hard was 2⅛@3c over, with all offerings readily taken. Feeders are reported as taking low grade wheat in the southwest as it is cheaper than corn.

There was fairly persistent buying at Chicago yesterday by a cash interest, which was regarded as against flour sales, and in some quarters the belief prevailed that the Farmers National had bought futures here to replace sales made in the northwest. There was spreading between here and other markets and also some buying of wheat against sales of corn to undo spreads. There was no pressure on the market at any time and the finish was ⅛@⅝c higher, with September closing at 47⅝@47¾c; December, 49⅜c, and May, 54@54¼c. Winnipeg was ⅛@⅜c higher, despite heavy deliveries of wheat at interior points, October closing at 52¼c. Liverpool was ⅝@¾d higher for the day, with October at 54c.

Black Sea Exports Freely.

Exports of 7,500,000 bu wheat from Black sea ports, including 6,300,000 bu from Russia, equal to about 50 per cent of the total clearances from all world's surplus countries, were a factor in limiting the upturn in Liverpool, and offset to a considerable extent the bullish construction placed on an official report confirming heavy damage to the crop in the latter country. There was 400,000 bu or more North American wheat taken in all positions by foreigners yesterday, with indications of a larger business.

Selling of December corn, which the trade attributed to a leading local professional, caused a decline of around 1c in the new crop months after a minor advance early, but the strength in wheat led to buying and a rally later, with the finish ⅛@¾c lower. September closed at 42¼@42¾c; December, 38@38¼c, and May, 42½c. Shipping demand for old grain was again active with sales of 195,000 bu, and charters were made for 300,000 bu to eastern ports.

Scattered Oats Sales.

Scattered selling of September oats at the start caused a dip of ½c to 1⅝c, but cash houses took the buying side of the nearby month and, in turn, sold December. The close was unchanged to ⅛c higher, with September, 20¼c; December, 22⅜c, and May, 25⅝@25¼c.

Profit taking checked an advance in rye after a bulge of 1@1¼c in the nearby delivery, and the finish was only ⅛@⅛c higher. September was 37¼c; December, 38c, and May, 41⅝c at the last. There was further export business put through at the seaboard, but the houses which made the sales refused to give out the quantities. After allowing for domestic requirements, it is figured that the United States and Canada have only 34,000,000 bu of surplus rye for export and for carryover at the end of the season, or 25,000,000 bu less than the previous year.

NOVEMBER BUTTER HIGHER

The loss sustained by November butter on Wednesday on the Chicago mercantile exchange was recovered yesterday, bullish storage news improving the support materially. Final trades were ½c higher. Eggs were slightly more active but held within a narrow range, closing ⅛c lower. Potatoes were unchanged to 5c lower. The main factor was the improved support of butter was the daily storage report which showed 600,000 lbs, more removed than a year ago in the four markets. This unusually heavy movement prompted new buying and the market moved steadily higher to the close. The egg news was slightly improved but trading was cautious. Futures were weaker due to favorable crop conditions, but there was an inclination to wait for the monthly report due later in the day. Sales: Butter, 2,280,800 lbs; eggs, 612,000 dozen; potatoes, 1,520,000 lbs. Prices follow:

REDUCTION IS MADE IN CORN CROP ESTIMATE

Spring Wheat Production Smallest in Years.

Drought and heat over the corn belt west of the Mississippi river, coming at the critical period of growth, resulted in the government estimate on the crop issued late yesterday showing a reduction of 60,000,000 bu from the figures of a month ago, and the indicated yield of 2,715,000,000 bu was 12,000,000 bu below the averages of the recent private returns. Last year's harvest aggregated 2,094,000,000 bu.

Had it not been for the increase of around 1½ bu per acre in the "par" used in figures the September report as compared with August the corn yield would have been much smaller.

Condition Is Lower.

The condition of 69.8 showed 7.8 points below a month ago, and indicated that the actual loss in the prospective yield during the last month was equal to around 200,000,000 bu, compared with what it would have been had the condition remained unchanged. Last year the condition was the lowest on record at 51.6.

Spring wheat crop of 111,000,000 bu, including durum and bread grain, is the smallest known in over forty-six years, the government starting to estimate the winter and spring varieties separately in 1885. As compared with a month ago the crop was lowered 7,000,000 bu, and was 140,000,000 bu under the final estimate for 1930. No new figures were made on winter wheat which remain unchanged at 775,000,000 bu, making the total of all wheat 886,000,000 bu, compared with 883,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Better Than Expected.

The oats crop has turned out somewhat better than expected, the latest estimate of 1,161,000,000 bu being only 9,000,000 bu under the returns of a month ago, and showed 24,000,000 bu in excess of the private reports, although the yield is off 197,000,000 bu from 1930, and is the smallest since 1914 with one exception. Estimates on the barley crop were lowered 9,000,000 bu as compared with a month ago and lessened 2,000,000 bu, while no change was shown in hay. Both barley and flax are heavily short of last year.

Feature of Returns.

A feature of the return on corn was the decline of 2 to 5 bu per acre the last month in Iowa, Michigan, Nebraska, and South Dakota. On the other hand, there were increases in prospective yields in Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, and Kansas of 2 to 1½ bu per acre. Yields of spring wheat were better than expected a month ago in most of the states east of the Mississippi river, but were offset by disappointing yields in some of the important spring wheat states. In the country as a whole crop yields were expected to average about 1 per cent below the estimate of a month ago, which was given as 9.3 per cent above the yields of last year.

SELLING AGAIN FORCES CHICAGO STOCKS LOWER

Jefferson Electric Co. Cuts Dividend to $1.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Another good sized dose of bearish news brought out no important liquidation on the Chicago exchange yesterday and the volume of trading ebbed to around 70,000 shares. Prices were easier in the main, but no important fluctuations were recorded.

La Salle street's chief concern now is whether stocks generally will break through the low prices reached in the June slump. Although some issues have already slipped through the June low level, support for a large number of the stocks which have been flirting with those prices has been in evidence in the last few days. It is felt by some observers that there will be some basis for the claim that the bear market is in its last stages if stocks establish a resistance point around the present level. On the other hand considerable pessimism is expressed over the prospect that another set of low quotations is in the making.

Hear Bendix Possibilities.

Optimistic reports are heard over the possibilities of Bendix, which was quoted slightly lower yesterday, selling ex-dividend. Activity in the issue was moderate, amounting to only 1,400 shares. Borg Warner was steady around its previous price.

Dividend news yesterday was of the same character that has been issuing from directors' rooms for the last several months. Jefferson Electric company announced a reduction in the annual rate to $1, as compared with $2 formerly. The $2 rate had been in force since last quarter last year, when the $3 basis was abandoned. The 25 cents quarterly payment authorized yesterday is payable Oct. 1 to holders of record Sept. 15. The stock broke 2½ points to 12¼ on news of the reduction.

Several new lows for the year or longer were set yesterday, particularly among the less active shares. Among the issues which made new bottoms were Middle West Utilities 6 per cent A preferred, Mississippi Valley Utility Investment preferred and American Commonwealth Power B.

Utilities Off Fractionally.

Commonwealth Edison, which was one of the last stocks to break through the 180 level, was off another 2¾ points to 185. Fractional losses were sustained by most of the other utility stocks.

E. L. Bruce company stock, which is now selling well above its low price for the year, was quiet yesterday. Officials announced that the company has been awarded the contract for approximately 2,000,000 square feet of hardwood flooring material to be used in the new Chicago postoffice. Officials state that the order is perhaps the largest hardwood floor installation on record. President R. G. Bruce announced the receipt of the government order.

Top yesterday, $7.65; average, $6.10.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 2,500; hogs, 12,000; sheep, 14,000.

Price gains in cattle and hogs were scored on shorter supplies yesterday, while lambs went into a slump when producers dumped 30,000 more on the market, the largest Thursday receipts of the year.

Eastern demand for lambs is broadest in almost eight months and country outlet for feeders is rapidly expanding, but the range sheep men apparently are a little too eager to unload and buyers saved another 15@25c after a slow opening. Almost 85 per cent of yesterday's sheep receipts were from range territory, some being forced out by the feed situation in the far west.

Yesterday's receipts compared with an average of 14,000 for Thursday during the last seven weeks.

Seek Feeder Lambs.

Sorted native lambs went to packers at $7.00@7.25, while city butchers took their selections around $7.50, buck lambs going at the usual $1.00 discount, while most culls sold at $4.50 and below. Range lambs changed hands slowly during the afternoon on a weak to 25c lower basis, most "tops" going at $6.50@7.50, with "seconds" at $5.75@6.25. Country buyers are eager for feeder lambs at $5.50@5.75 and are willing to pay a little more for some of the best selections.

Weakness appeared in the hog market after the bulk of good grades had sold at the early 10@20c advance and some hogs were being held off the market late when only 12,000 were estimated for today. The extreme top early advanced 15c at $6.65, while the general average gained 10c at $5.85, showing a spread of $1.00, against $1.45 three weeks ago.

The proportion of packing sows in receipts has been less than 30 last few days and now less than 20 per cent are packing sows, which partly accounts for the narrower price range. Local interests were more indifferent and another easing off of prices for fresh pork loins brought the latter down 2c per pound in two days. The return of warm weather has curtailed the consumer demand for meats.

Hog Futures Decline.

Prices on the hog futures declined 10@25c when offers to sell increased in numbers yesterday and buyers were able to get September contracts for heavy grades as low as $6.50 that cost $6.75 on Wednesday's trade. Five carloads of heavy for the last half of the present month sold at $6.65. September lights were sold for the first half at $6.75, the highest price on the list.

R. Meredith of Kane county, Ill., is filing September contracts for 1,200 hogs that he sold earlier in the year at $7.00@8.00. His system has been to sell hogs for future delivery, then buy his feeder pigs, getting the grain from his five Illinois farms. His feeder pigs cost $3.50@3.75 early in the year, or approximately $6.00@7.00 per head. His matured hogs on delivery brought approximately $16.00@17.00 per head.

Conditions in the cattle trade have reversed themselves again and light steers and yearlings fared best in yesterday's revision of quotations. Weighty beeves, which packers were paying top prices for a week ago, lost more ground and closed 25@50c lower than a week ago.

Weather Affects Demand.

Buyers report that demand for big carcasses has been slack for the last two days, which is attributable in part to the extremely hot weather, when demand for big cuts of meat usually drop off sharply. The approaching Jewish holidays undoubtedly has some effect. There are five Jewish holidays this month and two early next month, where there is no killing done by kosher butchers.

Yearling steers from Bureau county, Ill., topped yesterday's market at $10.15. They averaged 1,003 lbs. No weighty beeves were good enough to pass $9.75.

STILL GANDHI BACKS AT DOMINION STATUS IN INDIA

Wants Independence or Nothing

BY WILLIAM SHIRER

ON BOARD GANDHI'S SHIP FROM MARSEILLES TO INDIA, Sept. 11.—Puttering away at the spinning wheel as he watched the sun rise over the green fields of France, unlike the sunbaked plains of his native Hindustan, Mahatma Gandhi, Indian nationalist leader, sped northward today towards London, where next month the renewed session of the round table conference he will resume fighting the battle of his life for self government for one-fifth of the human beings.

He looked like an old wise man of the east as he stepped off the steamer Rajputana at Marseilles early this morning. He had only a cloth around his loins, to be sure, and a rough homespun shawl over his skinny shoulders.

Has Air of Confidence

But there was confidence and assurance in his manner as he chewed through his two teeth and parried interviewers' questions with quick, ready answers.

Even with the army of photographers shouting at him from all sides he seemed to enjoy thoroughly the fun, but after a few minutes the crowd got so rough that he slipped away to the second class cabin and announced that anybody wanted to see him would have to do it individually.

Outlines His Demands

What he said was the most important statement he has made since he consented to attend the London conference. It would seem practically to wreck all chance of any agreement being reached with the British government. His demands are thus set forth by himself outlined:

FIRST—Complete independence for India. Dominion status is sufficient.

SECOND—The status of India in the British empire to be on a co-equal basis.

Blow to British Hopes

This was the first time Gandhi has come out flatly against dominion status. It is known that the British authorities had believed he would accept much less.

"My idea of independence," he declared, "does not exclude any partnership with the British. It does exclude absolutely dominion status. Two years ago I probably would have accepted dominion status. Now I believe it is important for India."

"Why?" I asked.

"Because dominion status, as I understand it, implies a family of nations made up of the same blood." Gandhi replied. "Now, we are not of the same family as the British. Our race, culture and religion preclude that. We will take partnership with the British, but not dominion status."

He Expects a Rebuff

"But do you think you have a ghost of a chance of putting your demands across in London?"

"Frankly not," Gandhi said, looking at the external side of things, "there is not much chance for the British to be ready to grant what I am asking. But my position is clear and definite. "I am against dominion status, mind you. I am not going to London to ask for that. I hope to be able to explain my position to the British statesmen, if they are accessible. That is all. Then, if there is any agreement—I mean on independence—the details can be filled in."

"Are you optimistic?" I asked.

"I am always optimistic," he said, and grinned those two twinkling, fascinating eyes. "I admit that the land is in sight yet, but not as it was to Columbus, so reports go, until the last minute."

Denies Barnstorming Plan

"I don't even intend to make a speech at the round table conference," he said. "I will try to present my position to the workers of Lancashire. Hundreds of thousands of cotton mill workers are out of
